$49,341.95

As stated before Chestnut Hill, for the purpose of the Red Cross War Fund, was regarded as a part of Brookline and was not canvassed by the Newton Chapter but the subscriptions included above are from those in Chestnut Hill who wished to give through the Newton Chapter.

Thanks to the generosity and the interest of the people of Newton and the efficiency of its officers the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross is making a record of which to be proud.

The headquarters of the Newton Chapter are in the Newton Club House where two rooms on the ground floor have been fitted up for its use with desks, typewriters and telephones. There every week day morning may be found a company of young women busy at work on Red Cross matters. At their head is Mrs. Harry Priest, of Auburndale, the secretary of the Newton Chapter, or Mrs. Henry A. Thordike, of Auburndale, the assistant secretary. As assistants there are Miss Edith Fisher of Newton, Miss Ada Whitmore of West Newton, Miss Dorothy Hartell of West Newton, Miss Gertrude Hunter of Newtonville, Miss Dorothy Clark of Newton and Miss Dorothy Eaves of Newtonville. As a reserve to help out when there is more than the usual work there are Mrs. Clinton Willey of Newtonville, Miss Antoinette Clapp of Newton, Miss Catherine Judd of Auburndale, Miss Mildred Corson of Newtonville, and Miss Marion Stone.

At present the chief work of the Red Cross, like the chief work of the Army whose helper it is, is the work of perfecting the organization and making preparations to meet conditions to come. The young women are kept busy making out membership cards for those who send in their names and membership fees, seeing that the cards are properly mailed with Red Cross membership buttons attached, that a list of the new members, with their addresses, is sent to the Boston office and that the names are properly filed at the Newton headquarters. The Newton Chapter now has more than 3000 members, or better than one to each fifteen of the city's population, but there is room for every man, woman and child in the city and the hope of the Newton officials is that it will not be long before the city may be able to boast a chapter with 10,000 members. Most of the members of the Newton Chapter are what is known as Annual Members who pay yearly dues of $1 but there are five other classes of members and Newton has some in each class. Subscribing members pay $2 a year. Contributing members $5 a year. Sustaining members $10 a year. Life members make one payment of $25 and Patrons, who are also members for life, make one payment of $100. To every member who pays $2 or more a year there is sent the American Red Cross Magazine, which is the official monthly publication of the Society. The Newton Chapter members are from all sections of the city and of all ages. Only a little while ago four-year old Ethel Medbery of Newtonville called at the headquarters at the Newton Club and with one hundred one cent pieces, which she had saved for the purpose, bought for herself a membership card and a Red Cross membership button.

Membership matters are not the only ones that keep the young women busy. There are telephone inquiries and letters to answer, visitors to be received and suggestions for work to be made and considered. The Girls' Friendly Society for instance has made arrangements to work for the Chapter and the Play Ground officials report that many young girls would like to do knitting if only they had needles and wool with which to work so that if any Newton women feel inclined to send to Mrs. Priest at the Newton Club contributions of twenty-five cents or more with which to buy yarn or to send to her knitting needles the contributions and the needles will be received gladly and good use made of both.

Another thing the young women do is to sell yarn to those who wish to knit sweaters, helmets or wristers. These sales run up to about one hundred pounds a fortnight.

Still another, and very important matter, to which attention is being given is the stirring up of interest in the classes for instruction in Home Nursing and First Aid. The number of trained nurses who have gone, and who will go to the front, make it certain that there will be a shortage of nurses for home service and the more women there are who are able to care for ordinary cases and injuries the better able will be the nurses who stay at home to care for the more seriously ill and injured. Classes for instruction in home nursing or first aid must have at least fifteen members each. Books of instruction in both branches may be purchased at the Newton Red Cross rooms and further information in regard to them may be had by writing to Miss Emma Newhall, care of the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross, Newton Club, Newtonville, Mass.

The work of tabulating the returns of the canvass of Newton for contributions to the Red Cross War fund during the week of June 18 to 25, requiring both room and freedom from interruption was carried on at the home of Mr. George Royal Pulsifer, the treasurer of the Newton Chapter. There, too, was done the work of filling out the envelopes with the circulars which were distributed through the Newtons to tell the people of Red Cross needs and of "Stay-at-Home Thursday." The envelopes were given

REAL PATRIOTS

Roster of Company C. Which Will Soon be Called to Service

Company C of the Fifth Regiment will probably be called into active service within the next few days or weeks and the following names are published in order that our readers may know the men who will represent this city in the United States Army and probably take an active part in the trenches in Northern France.

In this connection it seems particularly appropriate to publish the following letter written by President Lincoln during the Civil War.

November 21, 1864.

To Mrs. Bigby,

Boston, Mass.

Dear Madam:

I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant General of Mass., that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any word of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost; and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

Yours very sincerely and respectfully,

A. LINCOLN.

WANTED

Contribution of Cherries and Currants for Preserving

During the summer, while fruit and vegetables are plentiful, an especial effort must be made to prevent food shortage by preserving the surplus from our gardens for winter use. The Social Service Committee of the Special Aid is conducting a campaign to conserve this surplus. From week to week as crops ripen, this committee will make an appeal to the townspeople of Newton to send them the surplus from their gardens. Please watch for our advertisements in the "Graphic." These contributions of food will be preserved in glass jars, or evaporated and dried, as may seem best, and held for charitable distribution, thru the established Newton agencies, as need arises. A portion of the canned product will be sold to the public at market prices, to help cover canning expenses.

The Committee is now making an appeal for cherries and currants. Will those who have or will have a surplus of either fruit to donate, kindly drop a card to Miss Martha Lathe, Vernon Court, Newton, stating about what time their fruit may be expected to ripen, and what amount they can give, in order that the committee may make their arrangements for preserving.

Please save all covered containers for this committee's work—tin and paper boxes with covers, stout paper bags, etc., which can be used for the evaporated fruit and vegetables.

The Social Service Committee take this opportunity to thank friends who sent them rhubarb. There was a liberal response to their appeal, and a large quantity was canned.

DEATH OF MRS. HOPKINS

Mrs. Louise Tullock Hopkins, wife of Dr. Edward Earl Hopkins, a prominent Back Bay dentist, passed away on Monday, July 2nd, after a long illness.

The deceased was born in Whitefield, Maine, but had been a resident of Newtonville for many years, where she had won the love and esteem of a large circle of friends who deeply mourn her loss. She is survived by her husband, one son, Mr. Stephen T. Hopkins of Newtonville, and one daughter, Mrs. William T. Glidden, Jr., of West Newton.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at her late residence on Newtonville avenue. Rev. A. J. Muste, pastor of Central Church, of which she was a member, conducted an impressive service at two o'clock. The Copley Quartet of Boston sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Just Beyond the Hill Tops," and other sacred selections.

The service was largely attended and there was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes.

Burial was in the family lot in Newton Cemetery.

MR. MESSER DEAD

Mr. Harry E. Messer, a resident of Newtonville for the past ten or twelve years, died last Friday at his home on Washington terrace at the age of 54 years. He was a locksmith by trade and a member of the Orr Hardware Co. Mr. Messer was a member of the Newtonville M. E. Church, the Masons and Odd Fellows. He is survived by a widow, three sons, Benjamin, Harry and Kenneth Messer and one married daughter. Funeral services were held from his late home on Monday, Rev. Peter Black officiating and the burial ritual of the Odd Fellows was given by officers of Waban Lodge. The interment was in the Newton Cemetery.

BATHING IN CRYSTAL LAKE

Aldermen Hear Strong Arguments on Both Sides at the Longest Session of the Year

The board of aldermen held its longest meeting of the year on Monday night, adjournment not being reached until 2:30 Tuesday morning.

President Early was in the chair and Aldermen Angier, Fitts and Tuttle were the only members absent.

Numerous hearings were held as usual, mostly routine and included Edison poles on Woodcliff road, on Lake avenue, Grafton street and underground conduits in Washington street, Telephone poles on Bennington street, the widening of Commonwealth avenue at Lexington street and on petition of T. W. Mullen to sell gasoline on Centre street, Newton Highlands, at none of which did anyone appear.

Mr. Green of the Telephone Co. and Mr. Gould of the Edison Co. spoke in favor of joint poles on Jenison street, and a letter of remonstrance was read from A. R. Hickox.

Strong opposition manifested itself on the petition of the Jenney Mfg. Co. to locate a gasoline station on Commonwealth avenue, near Rowe street. Mr. B. B. Mitchell speaking in favor and Messrs. J. H. Gordon, B. W. Riley, J. H. Kelley, P. R. Meisner, B. D. Childs, Dr. J. A. Furish and Miss Withington in opposition. Leave to withdraw was subsequently granted.

Mr. R. F. Fowler favored a sewer in Fenwick road and Mrs. Campbell wrote a note of opposition.

Mayor Childs sent in a petition of over 700 persons asking that swimming be resumed at Crystal Lake and his recommendation that $2000 be appropriated for a bathhouse at that place, and an informal hearing was granted to the large number of persons present.

Dr. E. A. Andrews said that bathing had been permitted in the Lake during the 15 years he had resided at Newton Centre and a bath house was built about 8 years ago. Last year bathing was supervised for the first time and the figures show how successful it was. Mr. Chas. S. Wing said he was well satisfied with the bathing as used by his boys and thought that no objection could be made under proper supervision. If bathing in Crystal Lake was discontinued because of noise or nuisance then all the playgrounds should be closed for the same reason. Mr. J. R. Doyle of Floral street thought that bathing was a menace without supervision and he saw 25 to 30 boys bathing there last Saturday. Unless bathing was absolutely prohibited he believed it should be properly supervised. Mr. Joseph Seaver also favored bathing in the lake. Father Haney spoke strongly in favor of supervised bathing, for the benefit of the children. He had never heard any swearing at the bathing pool and thought bathing ought not to be stopped because one or two boys were thoughtless in this respect. Mr. George N. Goddard said that swimming ought to be supervised and that it made for the welfare of the boys and girls. Mr. J. B. Kneeland thought it a good thing for the children to know how to swim. Mr. N. F. Pratt never heard any objectionable language there. Mr. John Barry learned to swim there 31 years ago and his children were now learning to swim at the same place. Mr. H. N. Jennings of West Newton said that his boys had gone there because there was no other place for them and he thought it a very popular place. Mr. J. T. O'Connor said his children bathed there and he saw nothing objectionable about it. Mrs. Kneeland said her children came home with an appetite and zest that was good to see and thought that persons who staid at home in summer ought to be helped a little.

Mr. E. H. Ruby led the opposition, saying that persons seemed to think that Crystal Lake was the only place in the city to bathe in. He had also learned to swim 31 years ago, but without supervision and he had to walk 2 or 3 miles to do it. It would be no hardship to ask these people to go to the Upper Falls, where a proper place could be had on the Charles River. Upper Falls was as near for most of the outside bathers as Newton Highlands. He suggested that if Newton Centre people wanted swimming in the Lake that it be done at the Newton Centre end and he noticed that those persons who wanted the swimming didn't live near the swimming place. This part of the city was a residential section and it ought not to be made a miniature Revere Beach. Newton Highlands voted last year 149 to 3 against this project and the abutments on the lake ought to be considered rather than the mere convenience of the boys and girls. President Howard Whitmore of the N. H. Improvement Association spoke in protest and said that the board had established a precedent last year in refusing a roller coaster permit to Norumbega Park, on the objection of Auburndale, and it should be followed in the present case on the protest of Newton Highlands. Mr. William M. Flanders as a resident on the lake front said the bathing situation was a fearful nuisance and suggested that a swimming pool might be built on the Playground and that he knew of contributions which could be obtained for that purpose. Mr. J. O. Reay said he lived just across the street from the pool and that he had seen naked men running up and down the railroad track, talking and cursing. The pool was used from 5:30 in the morning until 8 or 9 at night. There was valuable property in that neighborhood which would be depreciated if the nuisance continued. He said the water was stagnant, that there was a scum two inches thick on top of the water and children of the neighborhood who bathed there had to take another bath on reaching home. Mr. J. B. Studley said that the bathing was a public nuisance and thought the place would be better if made a public park. Col. M. E. Cobb said that every word spoken at the bathing place could be heard in his house and it was a great nuisance at all times. He thought the playground the best place for a swimming pool and suggested that the dear boys

EDITORIAL

The matter of public bathing at Crystal Lake is a bone of contention between the villages of Newton Centre on the one hand and of Newton Highlands on the other, and until the city establishes a public bath house, similar to that of Brookline, will always be a debatable question. The Newton Highlands advocates certainly had the better of the argument at the hearing on Monday night, as the action of the aldermen clearly proved. The appointment of a committee to investigate all the facts and conditions is a wise move on the part of the city government, as it is not fair for any body of citizens to spring such an important matter as this, at the last meeting of the board before the summer vacation, as has been the case this year and last. A careful investigation should be made, and the subject considered in time for deliberate and appropriate action in the budget of next year.

The board of aldermen evidently does not intend to have any more gasoline stations located on Commonwealth avenue.

No one will question but what the Fourth of July was celebrated this year in a sane and sensible manner.

FATAL ACCIDENT

John H. Taffe, who lost both legs beneath the wheels of a street car in West Newton Friday night, died Saturday morning at the Newton Hospital. He was 41 years old, single, and lived at 166 River street. The accident happened near his home. He stumbled and fell while crossing the tracks and was run over by a Middlesex & Boston car bound from Waverley to Newton.

should be taught to respect property before any money was expended for their benefit. He knew that the public had a legal right to use the lake for bathing or skating, but said that things were being done there which would not be tolerated anywhere else. Mr. H. S. Dennis said that he felt sure his daughter had caught a skin disease by bathing in the lake. Representative J. Weston Allen said he had learned to swim in the lake 31 years ago, but Newton Highlands was strongly against public bathing there. He thought Bulloughs pond more central for outsiders and there was less valuable property to be affected than at Newton Highlands. The conditions this year were unobjectionable. Mr. E. J. Smith, Mr. B. A. Hurd, and Mr. Provan said there was no objection this year. Mr. Reay said that if only 731 bathers used the place last year it made rather expensive bathing for the city to depreciate real estate values. He knew of several $50 subscriptions which could be obtained for a swimming pool at a suitable location. Mr. Allen thought it unfair to spring this matter without giving public notice.

Mr. Andrews said that boys from other parts of the city had come to the lake last year on invitation of the playground officials and that 60 per cent of the bathers were from Newton Centre. Mr. Hurd said that the shore line of the bathing pool was only 50 feet and that a proper bathing pool would require considerable dredging. Mr. Ruby was most emphatic in saying that the playground statistics were a lie if they didn't show that most of the bathers were outside the district. The hearing closed at 9.10 and most of the persons at the hearing were given an impromptu bath as a heavy thunder storm burst a few minutes later.

Alderman Harriman then introduced an order for a committee to go into the matter of bathing and report at a later date. Alderman Goodwin had the order changed so as to cover bathing in all sections of the city. Alderman Murphy thought this action was not a proper answer to the large petition just presented, as it would do away with any supervision the present year. When the President ruled that the matter was not in order at that time, Mr. Murphy entered a charter objection to its passage that evening. Later Mr. Murphy withdrew his objections and the order for a committee was adopted. Subsequently the committee on City Buildings by a majority vote reported that it was inexpedient to appropriate $2000 for the bath house and this report was sustained by the full board with Aldermen Hollis, McCarthy and Murphy voting in opposition.

Mayor Childs sent in recommendations for $1800 for resurfacing Commonwealth avenue at Weston bridge, for water mains in Bond and Howland roads, for $7000 for completion of covered reservoir on Waban Hill.

$81 for traffic signs; $195 for purchase of atlas of Newton; $1500 additional for Sidewalk Maintenance; $8800 additional for street sprinkling; $950 for an auto truck scale at Crafts street yard; $4000 additional for Fire Hazard work; $2850 for widening of Centre Street at Paul street; $300 for spraying gardens at private expense; $1000 for purchase of organ and pews of old Congregational church; $600 to complete bathhouse at Allison park; for reinforced floors at Truck House; Engine House 3, for improvements at Engine House 2, for plans for proposed new fire station at Auburndale and $400 for plans for new storage building for Forestry and Street Depts.; for $2572 for new heating at the Peirce school; $259 for Tools account Forestry Dept. and $54 for vacation fee garage attendant.

Petitions were received for sewer in Beacon street, Waban, Avalon road, for street sprinkling on Orchard street and Moreland avenue, of John W. Murphy for auctioneer license, of the Gas Light Co. to open certain streets, of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Fairmont avenue, South street, and relocation on Cabot street. On recommendation of committees $17,566.94 was appropriated for repairs of public buildings, various locations and attachments granted the Telephone and Edison Cos., John Lynch was granted a wagon license, John W. Murphy an auctioneer license, M. E. P. Sloan a transfer of intelligence office license, and leave to withdraw grant on gasoline tank on Watertown street and on Commonwealth avenue, $19,000 was authorized for construction of Moffatt road, Brewster road, Calver road ext. and Hale street, under the betterment act and sewers were authorized in Moffatt road, Neholden road, Fenwick road, and Boylston street. Commonwealth avenue was widened at Lexington street and $2850 authorized for widening Centre street and Paul street. Curbing was ordered laid on West street at cost of $2200 and $5000 voted for completion of covered reservoir. A select committee was appointed to consider the matter of better supervision over electric wires on public streets. The pay of election officers was established, polling places assigned and the State Primary called for Sept. 25.

The mayor's appointment of Chas. H. Hathaway as a measurer of wood was confirmed.

Nearly two hours were consumed in consideration of the numerous technical amendments to the Building Code suggested by the Buildings Commissioner and the Board of Appeal. Alderman Whidden explained the various amendments in detail and nearly all of them were adopted.

A recess of an hour and a half was taken for luncheon and committee meetings about midnight.

A committee of Aldermen Kendrick, Whidden and Clark was appointed to attend the hearings of the Constitutional Convention on the matter of billboards. A committee of Aldermen Goodwin, Early and Murphy was appointed on the matter of supervision of wires. A hearing was assigned on July 30 on concrete sidewalk on Broadway. The report of Inexpedient of the Finance committee on $950 for an auto truck scale was accepted by a vote of 11 to 6.

Alderman Hagood presented the following report on the matter of a City Manager.

Your committee has made a careful study of the commission plan, the City Manager plan and the combined Commission Manager form of government, as at present in operation in the various cities and towns of the United States.

We found that on November 1, 1916, there were ninety-two (92) cities and towns, with a total population of 1,408,069, under the City Manager plan of government. The claims made by the advocates of this system of government in favor of this plan may be summarized under the four following heads:

1. The Annual Budget.
(a) The City Manager being free from political ambitions and political influence in making his estimates is likely to be not only unbiased, but business-like in preparing the budget.
(b) Serving a long term under appointment, the City Manager is able to secure a more comprehensive grasp of the problem than a Mayor elected for a relatively short time, and, therefore.

(c) The City Manager is in a position to plan and carry out a comprehensive program covering an extended period of time.

2. Purchasing Department.
By standardizing supplies and purchasing in large quantities, it has been the experience of most of the cities and towns operating under this plan that large sums of money have been saved through the agency of the Purchasing Department. In Dayton, Ohio, $3,000 was saved during the first year, and more than that during the second year. In 1916, anticipating rising prices, the purchasing agent bought steel for three new bridges ahead of time, and saved $20,000 on that single item.

3. Accounting Department.
The City Manager has invariably introduced a vastly improved system of accounting into the Municipal government. In most of the ninety-two cities and towns which have adopted this plan, the system of accounting previously followed was not only cumbersome and difficult to analyze, but liable to grave inaccuracies. Modern methods of accounting have not only made it possible for the average citizen to understand municipal finance, but give full information in regard to expenditures by the several departments.

4. Control and Harmonizing of Appropriations and Expenditures.
Being the single responsible head of the City government, and having complete control, the City Manager is in a position not only to fix the appropriations, but to control the expenditures of the several departments and to see that no department exceeds its appropriation.

After considering the advantages of the City Manager Plan under the four heads enumerated, your committee was unanimous in the conclusion that the work of the Mayor, the Finance Committee, and the Board of Aldermen, in preparing the annual budget had been so satisfactorily performed, during recent years at least, that the opportunity for improvement under the City Manager plan was not sufficient to justify a recommendation in its favor.

The report of the expert who investigated the City departments in 1916, coupled with the experience of those members of the committee and of the Board who have given the matter personal attention, indicate that a purchasing department for the City of Newton would effect no material saving over present methods.

So far as the Accounting Department is concerned, it is felt by the committee that the system installed by the controller of accounts leaves little to be desired in that direction.

Under the fourth heading, control and harmonizing of appropriations and expenditures, the City Manager plan seemed to your committee to offer the greatest opportunity for improvement over the present system. Even here, however, the defects noted in our city government did not appear to be sufficiently serious to justify the reorganization of our government. In practically all of the ninety-two cities and towns where the City Manager plan has been adopted, the Committee found that conditions of government prior to the change were most unsatisfactory. In some instances, conditions were so bad that current expenses were paid by bond issues. In others, no annual budget worthy of the name was even attempted. In nearly all, the Purchasing and Accounting Departments were either non-existent or poorly organized and administered, and apparently no attempt was made to restrict expenditures to appropriations.

It is evident, therefore, that in most cases the City Manager plan has been adopted in order to reform grave abuses in municipal government. Since your committee finds that the government of Newton under the present charter reveals none of the serious defects that have been mentioned, and since our form of government seems to be peculiarly adapted to a city of the size and geographical distribution of population of Newton, and since the responsible executive heads of the City government have been almost uniformly of high character and of great ability, your committee finds no sufficient ground for disturbing Newton's present form of City government. Furthermore, it seems unwise during the present unsettled conditions of city, state and national government and the distraction of public interest due to the war, to consider seriously so revolutionary a change in municipal affairs as the adoption of the City Manager plan of government would involve.

For all these reasons, therefore, your committee is unanimous in its recommendation that no further action be taken at the present time in the direction of adopting a City Manager plan of government for Newton.

The board adjourned at 2.22 A. M.

4 Times the saving

The first-hand, cash, saving in buying one Diamond Tire is evident.

Add to that the longer and better service for the money.

Naturally, four Diamonds multiply that saving and service for you by four.

Enormous production—great manufacturing economies—studious bettering of product—low selling cost—these combine to your benefit.

You may need but one tire now. Get a Diamond Squeegee Tread. Keep on until you are driving on four Diamonds—and saving on each.

Every Diamond Tire must deliver full value in service. If ever a Diamond Tire fails, a cheerful, willing adjustment will be promptly made.

NEWTON OPERA HOUSE

Robert Lee Weigert's work of fiction, "The Reward of His Government," has been translated to the screen and under the title of "Treasure" will be reflected in Bluebird photoplays at the Opera House on next Wednesday and Thursday. "Treasure" tells a story of war time in the principality of Statira, Petrus Baarlot, a Government telegraph operator, has been wounded. Mentioned for bravery in army orders, he is sent to the hospital and finally released on furlough. Going home to thoroughly recuperate, he is humiliated by his superior in pursuance of a personal grudge. Chafing under his degradation Petrus proves a prey to the spy system which the enemies of his country have established, and ultimately surrenders valuable military secrets. Once he has performed the act of treason, his conscience smites him, and by heroic effort Petrus manages to overcome the spy and regain the information he has imparted. Thrilling scenes and exciting episodes will lend a multiplicity of thrills to the unfolding of a gripping screen story.

LIQUOR RAID

A shanty off Blake street, Newtonville, occupied by Dominic Chiara, was raided by a squad of police Saturday night. They seized 16 gallons of ale, 1 gallon of wine, 2 1/2 gallons of whiskey and many empty bottles.

Chiara surrendered himself on Tuesday morning and was in court yesterday. He was fined $50 on the charge of illegally selling liquor.

Rain

Old Jupiter Pluvius takes fiendish delight in ruining poorly protected buildings. At every little crack or bare spot in the paint, the rain soaks in and spreads rot through the wood.

Therefore, your buildings must be as waterproof as a staunch boat. They will be, if well coated with paint made of Dutch Boy White-Lead thinned with pure linseed oil. Such paint gives a smooth, weatherproof surface that will not crack or scale. It gives beauty, also.

Before the next rain, call on us about painting and painting materials. We expect you. If you can't call, phone or write.

CREESY-TOLMAN

A charming home wedding was solemnized on the evening of July Fourth at Newtonville, when Miss Irene Tolman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Young, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Sumner Creesy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Creesy of Salem and Beverly.

The bride's residence on Walnut street was transformed into a bower of beauty with artistic floral decorations of white and pink Killarney roses, palms, ferns and southern smilax.

A corner of the drawing-room which was devoted to the ceremony was adorned with white roses and orange blossoms and festoons of smilax fell gracefully from the rose-colored draperies, and the mantles and fireplaces were banked with June roses and greenery.

As the wedding party assembled, Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by the bride's aunt, Mrs. G. M. Krey of New York. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. E. M. Lawrence Gould, assistant pastor of the Church of the New Jerusalem, the double ring form being used.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was very lovely in an exquisite wedding gown of ivory white satin, silk tulle, and court train; her bridal veil of tulle was fastened, with a shape, with a spray of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was a magnificent full shower of Bride roses and white sweet peas. She wore a necklace of pearls, the gift of her mother, and a platinum bar pin set with diamonds, the gift of the bridegroom.

Her only attendant was Miss Myrtle Cannon of Brooklyn, N. Y., Erasmus Hall, '16, who was attractively gowned in blue satin and cream lace, and carried pink Killarney roses.

The bride groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Bertram Creesy of Salem, as groomsmen.

It was expected that several classmates and friends of the young people, would serve as ushers, but Mr. Lawrence Wheeler of Salem was the only one that was able to be present as the others had been called to military duty.

The bride is a graduate of the Mt. Ida School, Class of 1915, and member of the Henry Jewett School of Acting and a popular member of Society and being an accomplished public reader, has assisted in many charitable affairs in Newton and Boston.

Mr. Creesy is a graduate of Worcester Academy, Andover, and Dartmouth class of '16, and a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

A large and brilliant reception was held immediately after the ceremony and in the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. Young and Mr. and Mrs. Creesy. Mrs. Young was beautifully gowned in pink chiffon and panne velvet and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas, and Mrs. Creesy wore a very handsome gown of old blue georgette crepe, beaded and trimmed with silver lace.

In the dining room, where an elaborate wedding supper was served by Paxton, the decorations were pink and white, and a large mound of pink and white sweet peas arranged effectively with maiden hair fern, centered the table.

There were many beautiful wedding gifts, among them being more than a thousand dollars in gold.

There was a large company of guests representing society from San Francisco, Seattle, Iowa, Pennsylvania, New Haven, New York, Boston, and the Newtons.

Mr. and Mrs. Creesy left on a wedding trip by automobile thru the White Mountain regions of New Hampshire, and on their return will reside at 1345 Chapel street, New Haven, where they will be at home after October 1st.

MATERIALS NEEDED ON THE PLAYGROUNDS

Odds and ends and left overs from the dressmaker, worsted, yarn, pieces of cotton and woolen, bits of silk, ribbon, lace and dress braid, denim for bean bags, silken, odds of embroidery silk, knitting cotton, railroad canvas, scrim, raffia and reed, scissors, empty spools, pencils, crayons, tips of old kid gloves for penwipers and purses, cambric or linen for scrap-books, dolls, games, tennis rackets and balls. Colored beads are very much used by the younger children, and pins and needles are most necessary. Children's colored magazines, juvenile books and colored pictures are also much desired.

The gifts of such articles will be much appreciated by the Playground Commission, and may be sent to the Superintendent of Playgrounds, City Hall, West Newton.

The Playground Commission will again stimulate considerable occupation work, and this year will co-operate with the local Red Cross in making useful articles for the soldiers. Knitting needles will be especially welcomed. They have engaged Miss Palmer, a noted expert in manual training and occupation work, and she will show the children how to make useful articles from left over materials, and also train them in the construction of reed and raffia baskets, etc.

GARDEN CITY FAIR

"The Garden City Fair" will be held under the auspices of the Abundant Woman's Club with the co-operation of the Newton Federated Clubs and the Public Safety Committee, on Saturday, September 29th, in Norumbega Park.

Proceeds for a War Food Fund, and general preparedness work.

Ribbon awards will be given in the following classes:

- 1—Poultry and Pet Stock.
- 2—Prepared foods.
- 3—Fruit.
- 4—Roots and vegetables.
- 5—Canned products.
- 6—Flowers.
- 7—Arts and Crafts.

These classes will be subdivided so there will be contests for children and adults. Contests are open to all.

Judges will be non-residents of Newton.

A poster contest, open to the pupils of the Newton High and Grammar schools (including class of 1917), is being planned by the Art Committee of the Woman's Club. The most suitable poster submitted will be used to advertise the Garden City Fair.

Rules for the contest will be printed in an early issue of the Graphic.

STRAWBERRY WEEK

Native strawberries are now at their height, and this week and next should see every household in Massachusetts canning at least a dozen jars and putting up at least a half-dozen jars of jam. Strawberries may be easily preserved by the cold-pack method, and eight to ten minutes boiling in the hot water bath outfit is sufficient to sterilize them thoroughly. The fruit is apt to deteriorate and float to the top of the jar, but this will not hurt the flavor if the sterilizing is complete. A medium syrup should be used. Three quarts of water and four pounds of sugar will make four quarts of medium syrup. If the fruit is packed tight in the jars one-half pint of syrup will be enough for each pint jar.

The Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture has just issued an illustrated circular on "Fruit as a Food" which every housekeeper should have during canning season. This circular contains a valuable table showing the best season for canning all native fruits. Copies may be secured by writing Wilfred Wheeler, Secretary, 136 State House, Boston.

MELCHER-EDWARDS

In St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Cohasset, Saturday afternoon, Miss Charlotte Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Edwards of Newton, and George Melcher, son of Capt. and Mrs. Charles C. Melcher of Hingham, were married by Rev. Howard Key Bartow. William W. Melcher, a brother of the groom, was the best man and Miss Florence Dustin of Cambridge maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Baker, Newark, N. J.; Miss Julia Mikell, Hingham; Miss Julia W. Bates, Cohasset. Mrs. R. B. Dodge of Wrentham was matron of honor. Miss Margaret Clary, Brookline, and Miss Agnes C. Trowbridge, Hingham, were the flower girls. The ushers were J. Winthrop Spooner, Robert D. Brewer of Hingham, Paul Mansfield, Brookline; Sheldon N. Ripley, Cohasset; Winthrop N. Trowbridge, Hingham.

LAWN PARTY

All who are interested in the moral welfare of Our Soldier Boys at Camp Ayer are asked to assist the West Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union at its Lawn Party at Mrs. Sweet's, 1497 Washington street, West Newton, near the Catholic Church. It will be held from 3 to 9 o'clock, Wednesday, July 11 or the first pleasant day thereafter. Attractive music will be furnished and the Women of Mystery and Madame Ceylon, the Fortune Teller, will be present. Ice cream, cake, candy, lemonade will be on sale. The importance of looking after the moral and religious welfare of Our Boys at camp cannot be overestimated and the Massachusetts Woman's Temperance Union has been requested by the Council of National Defense to give it special attention. Money will be much needed to carry on the work, as it should be done and it is hoped that there will be a generous response.

CHURCH NOTICE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton. Players' Hall, Washington Street, West Newton. Sunday service 10:45 A. M. Subject of lesson-sermon: "Sacrament." Sunday School 10:45 A. M. Testimonial meeting Wednesday 8 P. M. The public is cordially invited to attend the services and to use the Reading Room at 297 Walnut Street, Newtonville, which is open daily from 2 to 6 in the afternoon, and on Tuesday and Saturday evenings from 7:30 until 9.

THE TWOMBLY HOUSE DISPENSARY

Few people in Newton are aware of the important work being done by The Twombly House thru its Dispensary of which Dr. Henry T. Hutchins has had entire charge since it was opened in March, 1915.

We believe that to be the first institution of the kind in Newton with the exception of the Orthopedic Clinic in connection with the Newton Hospital.

The Twombly House Dispensary is open every Monday evening except during August and September, and serves those residents of Newton Upper Falls who are unable to pay a private physician.

With no equipment or conveniences of any kind the results of the first year's work were very gratifying and more than justified the experiment. The generosity of the Dudley Road neighborhood made it possible the second year, to give Dr. Hutchins the assistance of a trained nurse at the clinic and to establish a system of "follow up" work to see that the Dr. directions are properly carried out. This was a very valuable addition to the service. More than 651 consultations and treatments were made during the second year, being nearly double the number made in the previous year.

Thru the interest and generosity of the man who made The Twombly House possible the clinic began its third year in its present comfortable quarters at 350 Elliot street. This is a small house in the immediate neighborhood of The Twombly House which has been given to it for the exclusive use of the Dispensary. It has been put in thorough repair and provided with such conveniences and equipment as the limited funds at the disposal of the Directors allowed. It is worth while to note that different groups of The Twombly House family have claimed the privilege of doing their "bit" toward making the rooms comfortable and attractive.

The added space and conveniences make possible more thorough examinations and minor surgery in cases that previously had to be sent to various hospitals, often with an expense to the patient that was not easily borne. It is hoped another year will see installed in connection with the Dispensary a Baby Feeding Station.

The burden of the great war is upon us all but—we must not be so absorbed in providing for those who go to the front that we forget our obligations to those who remain behind and whose needs are greater now than ever before.

Contributions for The Twombly House Dispensary may be sent to Dr. Henry T. Hutchins, 130 Dudley Road, Newton Centre, or to Teresa G. Marshall, Treasurer, 14 Hartford St., Newton Highlands.

PUFFER-THAYER

The wedding of Miss Margaret Treat Thayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Thayer, to Mr. Lewis Richardson Puffer of Hartford, Conn., son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Puffer of West Newton, was solemnized on Saturday, June 23rd, at "Fruit Acres," the home of the bride's parents at Harvard, Mass.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. G. Barrett of Melrose, uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. H. B. Mason, pastor of the Congregational Church in Harvard.

The bridal couple stood under a large elm tree which shaded the lawn, and the bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Harriet Thayer, as maid of honor.

Mr. Ellery E. Royal, the maid of honor's fiancée, was the groomsmen. As the bridal party assembled, Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played by Miss Isabella W. Puffer, the bridegroom's sister.

Relatives and intimate friends numbering about seventy-five were present from Harvard, Brookline, Boston and the Newtons.

An informal reception was held immediately after the ceremony and Mr. Puffer and his bride left on a honeymoon trip to the Puffer summer home on Bear Island, Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Puffer will reside in Hartford, Conn.

WHAT THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS ARE OFFERING

Courses in Agriculture.

Summer School in Agriculture for boys over fourteen.

Registration to be made with the head of the department, Mr. Thomas McGarr, on Wednesday, July 11th, at the Technical High School building, Newtonville.

The work will consist of practical demonstration and instruction in the care of gardens. The school grounds will be used for practical demonstration. The number of hours to be given to the work will depend upon the number who register. No one group can be given more than five hour days per week.

Mr. McGarr will also meet on Saturday afternoon adults who may wish instruction and help with their gardens. He will also be on call Sundays, if the demand warrants it.

The Vocational School is working in close co-operation with the Newton Public Safety Committee, and the Director of School Gardens, Mr. MacDonald.

SPECIAL AID MEETINGS FOR THE SUMMER

All units of the Newtonville branch of the Special Aid are now meeting in the Technical High School, Tuesdays from nine until four. On July second a good number assembled with Mrs. Corson, Mrs. Rice, and Miss MacDonald in charge. A large attendance as possible is desired at all these meetings.

At a meeting of the advisory board, Mrs. George Auryansen was appointed chairman of a committee to entertain the Naval Reserve boys on Commonwealth Pier, on Saturday, June thirtieth. Mrs. Auryansen entertained ten boys at her house. After a delicious supper, an automobile trip was taken to Concord and Lexington. The boys were entertained for the night at various homes. It is hoped that this is only a beginning of many such affairs; in fact several are already planned.

RESCUED FROM RIVER

A canoe containing three women and a man tipped over 20 feet from the shore between Elliott street and the Silk Mill Dam, at Newton Upper Falls, late Sunday afternoon.

Cries for help were heard by officer John B. Sullivan of the Park Police, who found the four clinging to the bottom of the canoe. The officer waded in the water and brought back two of the women and the man to the shore and then started back after the remaining woman. Before he reached her, however, she had slipped off the upturned craft and was floundering around in the water. The officer finally brought her to shore unconscious. The woman was carried to a nearby house, where first aid treatment was applied, and in an hour she was able to go to her home, none the worse for her experience.

POLICE NOTES

Emden Van Amburg of Dudley road, Oak Hill, was in court last Friday morning, charged with disturbance and assault. He was fined $10 on the first charge, while the other was placed on file. The trouble grew out of the spraying of trees near his property by men from the Forestry Department. A few years ago cattle owned by John A. Janse, father-in-law of Van Amburg, died from eating grass on which the spraying had lodged. Janse sued, but lost the case. Van Amburg alleged the men were not careful and is said to have used violent language and to have attacked George Rogers, the foreman.

RED CROSS WAR FUND

to the chapter by the Carter Rice Corporation, the filling of them was done by a company of earnest working volunteers and the distributing was taken care of by the Boy Scouts who are always ready to do what they can in a good cause. The canvassing for contributions was done by committees in each village and the effectiveness with which they did their work, and the generosity of the people of Newton, is testified to by the fact that Newton which was looked to for $20,000 will give, almost certainly, something over $50,000. In the work of going over the contributions and making out and mailing receipt cards Mr. Pulsifer was assisted by Mrs. Ellis Gammons, Mrs. Skelton, Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. Dudley, Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. Willey, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. Arnold Heath, Mrs. Warren Heath, Miss Johnson, Miss Sherman, Miss Hilda Jones, Miss Catherine Jones, Miss Lamson, Miss Clark, Miss Hartell and Mr. Harry Priest.

The Newton Chapter has made a splendid start but it realizes that it is only just at the beginning of its work. Its ambition is to make a record that will be at least as good as that of any other chapter in the country. Just at present what it wishes to do more than anything else is to build up a strong membership. If you are interested in its work sit down right now and send a check for $1. or more, (or a $1 bill), for a membership card and a Red Cross membership button, to Mr. George Royal Pulsifer, Treasurer Newton Chapter of the Red Cross, Newton Club, Newtonville, Mass.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

Newton Man to Head United Shoe Machinery Co.

At the recent meeting of the directors of the United Shoe Machinery Co., Mr. Edwin Perkins Brown of this city was elected president, succeeding the late Sidney W. Winslow.

Mr. Brown was born at St. Albans, Vt., June 25, 1868, and was educated in the public schools of Boston. He was connected with the A. & P. Railroad Co. in New Mexico from 1889 to 1893 and from then until 1899 was with the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co. In 1899 he went to Joplin, Mo., with the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co. and thru this concern became interested in the United Shoe Machinery Co. of which he was a director in 1899. He is also a director in the International Trust Co. of Boston and the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co. He belongs to the Boston Boot & Shoe Club, New England Shoe and Leather Association, the Commercial Club, Beacon Society, Algonquin Club, Brookline Country and Hunnewell Clubs. He is married and with his family of wife and two children resides on Hunnewell Hill, Newton.

READ FUND PICNIC

The annual Read Fund picnic for the children of Newton Centre, provided in the will of the late Charles A. Read, took place on Tuesday. Ten big special open cars of the M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. were filled with nearly a thousand children in Nonantum square about nine o'clock and carried to Norumbega Park, where the various attractions filled the time until lunch hour. On account of the limit of cost, the usual luncheon was omitted and only ice cream and cake was served by Caterer Osgood. The children enjoyed the play given in the afternoon at the theatre and returned to Nonantum square about five o'clock. One boy, Henry Brooks, of 161 Chapel street, was taken ill and taken to his home by the police.

A NOTED ARCHITECT

Henry Vaughan, known nationally for his skill as an architect, died Saturday at the home of Robert Casson, 43 Gray Cliff road, Newton Centre. He was born in England, 72 years ago, and was a bachelor. He had been ill several months.

Mr. Vaughan made Gothic architecture the study of his life and led in its revival in America. When it was decided to build the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Paul and St. Peter in Washington in pure Gothic style, 11 years ago, Mr. Vaughan and George F. Bodley, R. A. of England were chosen to prepare the design.

His beautiful churches stand in other American cities and towns, and among those best known in this section are the Church of the Redeemer at Chestnut Hill, and the chapels at St. Paul's School and Groton school.

Funeral services of a simple nature were held in Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre, Tuesday afternoon. The regular Episcopal service was conducted by the rector, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, and the choir sang "Abide With Me," "For All the Saints" and "Nearer, My God, to Thee." There were no pallbearers. The body was placed in a tomb in Forest Hills Cemetery.

BAND CONCERT

What was doubtless one of the best band concerts heard in Newton in recent years, was given on the West Newton Common Wednesday afternoon by the Newton Constabulary Band. This band was organized primarily as a "street" band for duty with the Constabulary regiment of our city, but its rendering of the program chosen shows that it has a brilliant future as a concert organization as well, and it is a source of congratulation to our constabulary and the public that the band has already been engaged to play a concert in three different sections of our city in the near future.

The band consists of thirty pieces, under the direction of Wm. G. Hambleton.

OPEN ALL SUMMER

The workroom of the Newton Branch of the Surgical Dressings Committee, Associates Block, 429 Centre street will be open throughout the summer every morning except Saturday, from 9 until 12.30 o'clock. ## War Orders Rushed

THE magnitude of the great war in which we are now engaged, has necessitated unusual preparation. Mighty forces are marshalling, great stores of food and munitions are being gathered, and the energies of the nation are focused on problems incident to the war.

At the very beginning of the war, the whole Bell System was placed at the disposal of the Government. No nation has entered the war with such a comprehensive and efficient telephone service.

As our military establishment grows, the demands of the Government upon the Bell System are bound to increase and always they must take precedence over all others.

Increased activity in commerce and industry as the result of larger demands for food and munitions from our allies and for our own use, means more need of telephone service by private business.

But private business must always be subordinated to the Government service.

Each individual American will co-operate in this patriotic service, and submit cheerfully to inconvenience or delay in his telephone service, when he understands how vital it is that Government service shall take precedence over all else.

—Mr. L. Holman and family of Beacon street are at Scituate for a 2 months' stay.
—Rev. Charles H. Cutler and family are at Southwest Harbor, Maine, for the summer.
—Mrs. Herbert W. Kimball and daughter of Pilgrim road are at Juni-per Point, Maine, for a 2 months' out-ing.
—Mr. Louis W. Arnold and family, Mr. James R. Chandler and family, Mr. Herbert Lane and family, and Mr. Joseph L. Bartlett and family have all joined the Waban colony at Plymouth.
—Mr. George S. Smith, ex-president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, will make the address on "Character in Patriotism," on Sunday evening next at 7 o'clock, at the Patriotic Ser-vice at the Church of the Good Shep-herd.
—The Boston cornetists were much appreciated by the people of Waban in their playing of national airs out-side of the Church of the Good Shep-herd on Sunday evening. They will repeat the program before the service on Sunday evening next.
—Mr. Alex. Stephen of Chestnut street picked over 300 roses from his garden the Fourth of July; these were sold by young ladies on the play-ground during the day. Mr. Stephen giving the roses for the benefit of the Boys' Club of the Good Shepherd. Mr. Louis Tilton was also generous with his roses on the Fourth.
—The sports for boys and girls as run off on the playground the morn-ing of the Fourth of July were just as well contested and as interesting as in past years. Mr. R. W. Moore, Jr., made an excellent manager for the events and kept things moving in good shape. There were four classes for boys and three classes for girls with cups for the one winning the most points in each class. There were nine events for the Class A, B and C boys and nine events for the Class D boys. The girls contested in six events. The following won cups:—Class A, boys, Ainsworth Rane; Class B, boys, Edmund Codman; Class C, boys, William Blaney; Class D, boys, Robert Kellaway; Class A, girls, Sylvia Wilson; Class B, girls, Edith Stahleker; Class C, girls, Gladys Kel-laway.
—The Waban Company of the Newton Constabulary, under Lieutenant Hayes; the Waban Troop of Boy Scouts, with their drum corps, under Patrol Leader Homer Ambrose, and the Girl Scouts, in charge of Mrs. John White and Mrs. Charles Stevens, participated in a flag raising on the playground the afternoon of the 4th, following the flag raising the Waban Company gave an exhibition drill and the scouts and girl scouts marched around the field in excellent order and with a good deal of military snap. A good display of day fireworks was then given, followed by the ball game tournament, eight teams starting in this and Don Hill's team pulling out a winner, as it has done for three years. Frank Murphy was hit by a baseball bat during one of the games and suffered a broken nose and had a cut requiring seven stitches. The Boy Scouts did some good work in taking care of this case until he was removed to the hospital. Band concert and fire works were omitted this year.

MAN SHOT

A fatal shooting, which the author-ities are satisfied was accidental, oc-curred at 2 Williams court, Newton Upper Falls, Wednesday morning. The victim was Mishen Kasterian, 27, of 56 Carnation street, Pawtucket, who was visiting in Newton for the day.

Kuder Kudoorian, 25, who lives at 17 Abbott street, Newton Upper Falls, was arrested on charge of manslaughter and bailed at $2000. Both men are Armenians.

It is said that the fatality was due to unfamiliarity with the handling of an automatic pistol, which was being passed about for examination in a group of men. All the cartridges with the exception of one in the chamber had been removed, and as Kudoorian was handling the weapon it was dis-charged, the bullet entering Kasteri-an's right side. He died a few min-utes later.

Medical Examiner George L. West of Newton Centre, who viewed the body, said he was satisfied the shoot-ing was accidental and the police are of the same opinion.

SAVED FROM DROWNING

While two summer visitors were enjoying a sail on Sunday in a small sail boat about a mile off Winthrop Beach the craft was hit broadside by a sudden gust of wind, throwing the two occupants into the water before thousands of bathers.

John Doherty of Winthrop and Joseph Hughes of Newton who were among the bathers hearing the cries from the capsized boat hastened to the shore and secured a rowboat. They started for the couple and had gone but a short distance when the craft began to leak, so Doherty jumped into the water and started back for the shore while Hughes try-ing to plug the hole kept on rowing until he reached the couple, none to soon as they were nearly exhausted and about to sink.

He succeeded in getting one into the boat and grabbing a hold of the other one started to row toward shore with one hand, but was met by a canoe with more help and all were brought safely to the shore.

Hughes will be remembered as a football star on the N. H. S. team of 1915 and is now a member of the class of 1919 M. I. T.

RED CROSS CALLS FOR HELPERS

Work of Making Surgical Dressings to be Begun Next Week

The Newton Chapter of the Red Cross invites the women of Newton to help it in the making of surgical dressings. The work is to be done at the headquarters of the Chapter at the Newton Club House, on Walnut street, Newtonville, and will be under the direction of a trained nurse. The work will go on every day from ten until one and the hope of the Chapter is that a large number of women will engage in it.

Later the Chapter will begin the work of making hospital clothes and for this work, too, will call for volunteers. A present need of the Chapter is money with which to buy yarn for those who are willing to work, and to give their time, but who can not afford to purchase wool. A fund of at least $200 for this purpose is needed now. Women who have knitting needles which they do not use will help along the work if they will kindly send the needles to the Red Cross. Those who are not acquainted with the work being done would be surprised to know the number of women who are both buying the yarn and giving their time to knitting it. Many of these women, in proportion to their means, are giving far more than many whose contributions are featured in the news.

This is the vacation season but one must remember that war takes no vacation and that the men who are fighting, though they have their furloughs and leaves of absence, must take their rest when it is given them and not when they want it. In the war now going on there are not even armistices for the burying of the dead, and the Red Cross men and women at the front, like the fighting men, are under fire while carrying on a great part of their work of relief and mercy. To do this work materials and money are necessary and it does not seem like asking too much to ask those who are going on vacation to give a thought to those who are at the front and to make a vacation thanks—giving offer to the Red Cross. When away at the mountains, or the country or the sea, remember the devastated parts of France, ruthlessly and deliberately laid waste by the Germans, the mountains that have been converted into piles of shells and dead, and the sea towns where little children and women have been the victims of air raids. Nothing but the men at the front saves our own land from being filled with such scenes and with the men who are doing the fighting, saving America from despoilment by the Huns, go always the Red Cross units.

Every Newtonian, who is not going to the front, ought to be a member of the Red Cross and in that way do a bit towards winning the war by helping to assure comfort and succor to those who are doing the real fighting. Our own boys soon will be training for their part at the front and when they do go the Red Cross ought to be able to go along too completely supplied and equipped.

To become a worker for the Red Cross call at the Chapter headquarters at the Newton Clubhouse, or tell what you can do in a letter to Mrs. Harry Priest, Secretary, Newton Chapter of the Red Cross, Newton Club, Newtonville.

To become a member of the Red Cross send one dollar or more to Mr. George Royal Pulsifer, Treasurer, Newton Chapter of the Red Cross, Newton Club, Newtonville. When you have secured your membership card and button go out and get some one else to join.

To shorten this war every one must do his or her part.

Do yours.

WAR PROHIBITION

Letter to Senator Lodge from Rev. Paul Revere Frothingham

My dear Senator Lodge:

You were kind enough to write me a "personal" letter a short time ago, in the course of which you explained your position in regard to the subject of War Prohibition. In the course of that letter, from which I have your permission to quote, you announced yourself as in favor of partial prohibition only. That is to say it seems, in your opinion, desirable and wise to put a stop during war time to the manufacture of distilled liquors "where the saving of grain would be considerable and of value," but not to interfere with the manufacture of beer. Your words on the subject were as follows: "There seem to me many serious objections to prohibiting the manufacture of beer, which is a comparatively harmless drink, containing about 3 1-2 per cent of alcohol, and this percentage may be materially reduced. Barley is the principal grain used in the industry, and barley is not used in this country to any extent as an article of food. Corn is also used to the amount of about 14,000,000 bushels, out of a total crop of about 2,000,000,000 bushels, so the saving there would be quite immaterial. "It would," you say, "in my opinion, by no means compensate for the loss of about one hundred thirty millions in revenue to the Government and the wiping out of an industry in which over a billion dollars is invested and 100,000 people employed, and this loss of revenue would be a most serious thing at a time when it is necessary to raise by increased taxes the enormous amount of money which we must have for the prosecution of the war. In the case of distilled liquors," you add, "there would be very little loss to the Government in the immediate future, for, of course, these liquors do not pay the tax until they come out for consumption, and there are at present nearly a quarter of a billion gallons in bonded warehouses throughout the United States."

Now, my dear Mr. Senator, I am not disposed to question your figures. I have no doubt that they are accurate. Neither is there need for me to call attention to the significance of the closing statement in your letter, namely, that "there are at present nearly a quarter of a billion gallons of distilled liquors on hand in our country in bonded warehouses." In other words we have enough whiskey and similar drinks in reserve to last us for several years. To prevent, therefore, the manufacture of whiskey during war time, as a measure for conserving food stuffs, would not necessarily cause any diminution in the use of whiskey. From the point of view of out-and-out Prohibitionists that is a significant admission. But I pass it by, for I am not advocating Prohibition on ordinary grounds, but on patriotic grounds and as a war measure.

I cannot pass over quite so lightly, however, your statement that "beer is a comparatively harmless drink." That may be so, but none the less it does grave harm. It is responsible for a great deal of drunkenness, and consequently for many of the social evils that go hand in hand with drunkenness. For example, conditions on the Border, as everybody knows, were very bad last summer. It is generally acknowledged that vice in various forms flourished almost without control, and much of it in close proximity to our army camps. Saloons were numerous, and hardly less numerous were open houses of prostitution. Some sections were worse than others; but all were bad. Now it is stated, and on what I believe to be good authority, that the worst centers of vice on the whole Border were owned, organized and operated by a brewing company. This brewing company brought women from various parts of the country, quartered them in disreputable houses which adjoined the company's saloons and then established a line of free motor-buses which ran from the camp to the brothels. Beer and women went together, and the second grew out of the first. That seems to me a graphic representation of what goes on in society, and of what may always be expected to go on, through the agency of what you describe as "a comparatively harmless drink."

But we will let that also pass; for what we are thinking of is Prohibition as a war measure for conserving food stuffs.

The President of the United States in a message addressed to the men, women and children of the country called attention a few weeks since to the serious shortage of food products in the world. He called upon all of us to do what we could to overcome this serious world condition. The people of the South were urged in glowing terms as a patriotic measure, to grow more corn and less cotton, even at a financial sacrifice to themselves. Moreover, people of all classes, East and West and North as well as South, were exhorted to plow and plant more extensively than ever in the past, while also putting an end to every form of waste in the use of food stuffs.

That was several weeks ago, and now Mr. Hoover appeals to the women of the country to enlist in a nation-wide home economy army. The watchword of that army is to be "service by saving." Women are urged to register, and are to pledge themselves to cut out waste. Sunday, July 1, is to be food-saving Sunday. Clergymen of all denominations are asked to assist in the great campaign, the object of which is to educate the people to produce as much, and to waste as little food as possible. And how magnificently already the people are responding to these appeals of patriotism! Corner lots are being cultivated to grow corn, and crumbs are being considered in our kitchens. Men and women and children are going out into the fields where they make themselves "Soldiers of the plow-share," and seem intent to prove that the hoe is no less mighty than the sword. While they all are doing this, however, adding a little here to the food supply of the world, and saving a little there, what is happening so far as the brewers are concerned, who manufacture "a comparatively harmless drink?" The facts are pretty generally known. In the year ending June 30, 1916, 3,418,485,181 pounds of cereals went into this country to any extent as an article of food." And that is true. Barley is not widely used by Americans as a food stuff, not nearly as widely as it might be. In some countries bread is made exclusively of barley, and its use in cookery prevails nearly everywhere.

THRILLING WAR SERVICE

Newton Boy Writes of His Work as Ambulance Driver

To the Editor,
Newton Graphic,
Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir:

In a letter recently received from Newton, my attention was drawn to a statement therein, suggesting that I forward an open letter to the people of my home town, who would undoubtedly be glad to learn some of the experiences encountered in the American Ambulance Service and a few words concerning the nature of the work done by same.

I shall endeavor to answer the latter first.

The American Ambulance has undertaken to aid the French army in the work of transportation of wounded and sick from the trenches and artillery posts to the so-called evacuation hospitals situated a few miles behind the lines. One section of the ambulance is attached to a division of the French army, the section comprising of twenty-two men, twenty cars and a small corps of French attaches. A small number of men are on duty every twenty-four hours, and are responsible for the safe conduct of such "blesses" and "maladies" as may need hospital attention during that time. On the average we are on service one day in four. During attacks of course all cars are in action and remain so until hostilities cease and the wounded are all cared for.

Having been stationed on a rather quiet section,—in the vicinity of Verdun,—my personal record for continuous work has only reached 42 hours. In many instances, however, as in the Champagne country at present, our sections are under a terrific strain working continuously on the least possible amount of rest.

The Ambulance Service, since its inauguration in 1915, has steadily grown and at this writing consists of twenty-three complete sections with reserves in Paris.

Regarding the nature of risks encountered in the course of our work, I can best offer a concrete example of a personal experience of mine about a month ago.

The Germans opened up a tremendous artillery fire on a Sunday afternoon, after having brought down all the French observation balloons in our section by aeroplane in the morning. About 5 P. M. amid the din of the combined firing of all the guns on both sides of the lines, we stood in readiness to go to the post immediately behind the trenches, as we knew that an infantry attack was to be expected of the Germans as a result of their advance tactics. After drawing lots for the first trip, I was among the few fortunate, and four of us started ensemble for our first experience among bursting shells. That was just at supper time. En route to our post it was necessary to pass over a plateau densely wooded, where in the French batteries were situated, all going full tilt. It was these batteries the Germans were endeavoring to silence. The road we must traverse was, under the circumstances, being continually torn to pieces by the arriving German shells, thus making progress the more difficult for the machines. Six of our cars were disabled by dawn, falling into shell-holes, striking munition wagons, etc., during the night, as it was forbidden to use any lights whatever, and in the woods it was particularly dark. Reserve troops were also continually moving up to reinforce the trenches and one of our boys saw ten of a company killed in the road a few yards ahead of him by an arriving shell. At daylight I myself saw the men and it was a gruesome enough sight.

The French made a counter-attack at daylight Monday morning, so all in all, we were kept going about thirty hours steady. During Sunday night also, one of our cars was struck by a piece of exploding shell, but fortunately the driver escaped.

These exciting hours do not come very often on our section, so there is quite a little time left for recuperation and reflection.

It is not understood now just what part the American Ambulance service will play with the American troops who are expected to come over, but it is possible the service may be permitted to remain intact.

I might offer as a personal suggestion that the people of Newton subscribe an ambulance to the service. I am sure there are plenty of young men in Newton who would jump at the chance to join this service, and believe the citizens of Newton would themselves be proud of being represented in this noble work.

Particulars may be obtained from Mr. A. D. Sleeper, of Lee Higginson & Co., Boston.

Please pardon mistakes as we don't do much reading in English over here, and our English deteriorates gradually.

Very sincerely,
CLARENCE H. FAITH.

EDITORIAL

To the question, "How is the Constitutional Convention getting along?" a delegate replied, "We're having fine weather for it." He might have added that another distinguishing feature is the apparent lack of public interest as shown by the slim attendance at committee hearings. It is too early to forecast results, but only an optimist will contend that the State is going to get full value for the $1,000,000 which the convention is sure to cost. Newton's interests are in good hands as far as the local representation is concerned. Indeed, the entire convention is made up for the most part of earnest and thoughtful citizens who may be relied upon to act according to a high conception of civic duty. The convention has been in session more than a month and has not yet passed upon a resolution of proposed amendment. There can be no criticism because of this fact, however, as it is part of the program that all committee reports shall be submitted before the convention begins to consider resolutions. Under the rules all reports must be in by Monday, Tuesday the actual work is to be begun. In all 301 resolutions have been presented. Many of these have been duplicates of bills introduced year after year into the Legislature. These latter are legislative matters entirely and have no place in the constitution of Massachusetts. One thing, however, has been demonstrated by the proceedings thus far and that is that it is possible to conduct hearings at the State House with dispatch and general satisfaction. The joint committees of the Legislature are prone to let people "talk their heads off." The convention committees for the most part have insisted that the speakers confine themselves to the limitations of the resolutions under consideration. It is refreshing to observe the difference, but the lesson will be lost on members of the General Court. The latter are thinking about their chances of reelection; the convention delegates don't have to.

With no thought of discouraging the building of dwellings of moderate cost in Newton certain people have very properly raised the question, "Is architectural ugliness an essential of economy?" When one sees a tract of vacant land suddenly covered by many two-family houses built closely together and almost of the same pattern the reason for the query is readily understood. Of course there is no disputing the right of an investor, builder or the individual who is constructing his own house to build as he sees fit, providing he observe all laws of State and city. But why the architectural value of property should be so completely ignored is a puzzle. It is possible to enact statutes and city ordinances compelling certain form of construction, the observance of regulated distances between dwellings, fireproofing and the like, but if the builder, and the word is used in the broader sense, cannot see the need of making his property attractive, then the case is almost hopeless. So many two-family houses are built from a single plan, with here and there a variation in the color of the paint or the substitution of cement for shingles, that there is created an eternal

"sameness" which pains the eye and offends the aesthetic sense. Newton has been in a measure freer than other residential communities from these "architectural blots," but it cannot hope to escape entirely. Indeed the tendency is already manifest to inflict some of the prettiest sections of the city with such houses. If the owner cannot see the wisdom of employing an architect and thereby giving his place character and beauty that is sure to increase its value, then it is up to public opinion to demand that he be made to see the light.

HUDSON—WHEELER

The marriage of Miss Laura W. Wheeler, to Dr. Carl B. Hudson, took place on Saturday afternoon, July 7th at the home of the bride's parents on Pulsifer street, Newtonville.

The bride was charming in a simple but effective gown of white Georgette crepe trimmed with orange blossoms and wore a wreath of the same in her hair. Her bridal bouquet was a shower of pink and white sweet peas. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert W. Haskins, a life long friend of the family. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with roses, sweet peas and palms, the prevailing color effect being pink and white.

The bride is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College and prominent in the younger set of Newtonville, and Dr. Hudson is a former resident of Missouri, and a graduate of the Harvard Medical School.

There were many beautiful and useful wedding gifts. After refreshments and merry-making the young couple left on a short honeymoon trip to a shore resort and on their return will reside for the present in Newtonville.

HOLD POSTER COMPETITION

A competition is arranged by the Art Committee of the Auburndale Woman's Club for original designs for posters which shall advertise the Garden City Fair to be held at Norumbega Park in the fall. This competition will be open to pupils of all Newton grammar, high and preparatory schools including the class of 1917. The terms are as follows: The committee reserves the right to retain any designs submitted until October 15th, and exhibit the same at the Fair; the size of the poster is to be 18x24,—one third of the space to be left blank for informational printing, as time, place, etc. Each contestant must send with his design a sealed envelope containing his name, address, school and class. The designs will be numbered when received, and judged by number. The designs will be judged: (a) For popular appeal; (b) For suitability in advertising the Fair, and minimum of expense to reproduce; (c) A War Relief story told in a few broad lines, the design to be printed in not more than two colors. The number of sketches submitted by one person is not limited. Competition to close August 15th. Address all communications, and send designs to Mrs. J. R. Draper, 71 Woodland road, Auburndale, Telephone Newton West 669-W.

LODGES

Members of T. P. H. Rogers W. R. C. No. 25 of Waltham, were royally entertained by their president Mrs. Florence Corey at her beautiful home, 67 Brookside avenue, Newtonville, Tuesday afternoon. Many of those present were members of the George Bruce Club, who furnished vocal and instrumental music, while others passed the time playing whist.

A beautiful luncheon was served the tables being prettily decorated in pink and white. The evening was spent in a social way. All retired at a late hour with many good wishes for the hostess and her husband, who did much to make the time enjoyable.

TRUCK DRIVING AT THE FRONT

Richard Blodgett Writes of His Exciting Experiences

The Newton Chapter of the Red Cross gives out a letter recently received from Richard Blodgett which tells something of the work being done by the Newton boys who are with the United States forces at the front. Mr. Blodgett is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Blodgett of Temple street, West Newton. As a junior at Williams College he went to Europe in the spring with the Williams College ambulance unit but since then he has been transferred to the transport service and is now busy as a truck driver getting ammunition and supplies to the front.

In his letter young Blodgett writes: "The camion (truck) service of the United States first fighting force, while not trench warfare, is not an easy job. It is typical of war times, or as the French say 'C'est la guerre.' The driving comes mainly at night time because of the proximity of the front. The trains are in sight of the Germans and are naturally a greatly desired objective, because of the wagons of ammunition. If you want an idea of the service take, if you will, the average country road of America and put a trench on each side of it, instead of a gutter. Imagine on that road, passing each other, a mounted machine gun, drawn by ten horses strung out in two's, and a loaded 5-ton truck, of which the actual weight is approximately ten tons. Picture dust so thick that in a blazing sun another truck, thirty-five yards in front cannot be seen. Then imagine the absolute darkness of the hours from ten to three at night when our work is done. The convoys are often under heavy artillery fire. The roads and bridges are sometimes the objectives of the German artillery and its fire is deadly accurate. Last night in the dark, I drove my truck into a French dug-out or rather into its entrance. The front wheel went down the stairs. It was impossible to move it without a tractor. A driver must never leave his truck so it was a case of wait. I went below into the dug-out, carrying my gas mask, and met three Frenchmen who called out 'Kammerades!' They had never heard English spoken and when they heard our language they were very excited. I assured them in French of my good intentions and they gave me a bed of straw. There were rats in the dug-out and lice in the straw. The dug-out had formerly been part of a German trench and had been captured in a French drive. The road on which my accident happened was under shell fire so I went up to watch it. I had a very advantageous position behind a little hill. The shells were bursting on either side of me about fifty yards away. Some went directly overhead and burst about half a mile beyond. The shells when they burst were red hot and I could see them gleaming in the road like punk. The convoy in which I had been barely escaped a shelling by switching off on a new road.

The town of Vailly is within range of the German guns and has been absolutely destroyed. Every single house in it has been so wrecked that only the first floors are left. Roofs have been shot off and whole sides of houses blown off so that one can look right into them as in to doll houses. Factories are nothing but masses of twisted steel. The bridges are constantly under fire and huge shells, holes, less than thirty yards to either side gave proof of German accuracy. Pontoon bridges lie waiting in reserve. Moulins St. Pierre is another ruined place. The main street is lined with houses which were destroyed so long ago that flowers and weeds have grown over the insides of the walls and on the floors. Fruit trees have been circled and are half dead, bearing no fruit at all.

Cultivation in Northern France is practically at a standstill. Eggs are seventy cents a dozen. There is no butter. It is only by chance that milk can be bought at any price. Good meat cannot be had.

The camion headquarters are placed several kilometers from the front, but they are in range of the German big guns and airplanes. June 16 there was a German air raid in which several bombs were dropped on a town called Bazoches. The town was about three miles from our camp, and as the big searchlights followed the Zeppelins, with shrapnel bursting all around them, they seemed directly at us. It was a beautiful night, with stars and a moon, and it was really very picturesque.

"If we wish to force one of our cereals to serve in the ranks as a common vegetable, we could do no better than to make barley, our selection. It resembles rice in composition, but contains more protein, fat and mineral matter. Since it is cheaper than rice, the housewife will get more for her money in these days of excessive food cost if she calls barley to her assistance. Boiled barley is a most satisfactory food and possesses a flavor which appeals to many persons rather more than does the flavor of rice. Moreover, Doctor Hawk states that barley has about the same food value as wheat, but to make good bread barley flour must be mixed with an equal weight of wheat flour.

But there is another staple used in the manufacture of beer, and that is hops. In the year ending June, 1916, the brewer used nearly 38,000,000 pounds of hops. Now beer hops are not an article of food, but on the basis of the last census the land used for hops, if planted to potatoes would produce some 4,000,000 bushels of potatoes. Still another staple used in the brewing of beer, that "comparatively harmless drink," is corn; and corn, Mr. Senator, according to your own testimony, "to the amount of 14,000,000 bushels a year goes into the manufacture of beer." That you add, is "out of a total crop of about 2,000,000,000 of bushels, so the saving there would be quite immaterial." For myself, however, a disciple of Mr. Hoover, I question whether 14,000,000 bushels of a food stuff can rightly be called "quite immaterial." It is surely not immaterial to the starving children of Belgium, not to the fathers and mothers of Poland, Syria and Armenia, nor even to the armies of Great Britain and France! Neither is it immaterial to the planters of the South whom President Wilson has urged to grow corn, instead of so much cotton, for they may the planters of the South fittingly enough say to the government at Washington which urges them to grow corn at a distinct financial sacrifice to themselves, and then permits 14,000,000 bushels of that same corn to be wasted in the manufacture of the drink of which the host that can be said is that it is "comparatively harmless." What are the women of Mr. Hoover's army going to say about it, whose watchword is to be "service by saving?" It seems to me that I can hear their voices already being raised in protest and indignant outcry, and when women wake up to a social wrong, let men beware!

There is, however, Mr. Senator, a final point on which you lay considerable stress. You refer to revenue. The saving in food stuffs would, you say, "by no means compensate for the loss of about one hundred thirty millions in revenue, at a time when it is necessary to raise by increased taxes the enormous amount of money which we must have for the prosecution of the war." That with many people is the sticking point. It is a matter of money. Manhood is to be sacrificed if money can be saved. Righteousness gives way to revenue. Dollars are the real account than duty. But in this respect Democratic America may well look back at Autocratic Russia, and take example of her. When the war broke out Russia under the leadership of the Czar gave up the manufacture of vodka, which was a government monopoly, at a cost not mere millions in revenue, but of billions. She gave it up, and with what result? With this result, among many others, that the seeming financial loss was an actual financial gain! Not only did a stronger and more sober Russia instantly result, but a more saving Russia came to pass as well. It has been stated, and I see no reason to dispute the figures, that in the last year of vodka, the savings bank deposits in Russia were $40,000,000. In one year these savings without vodka had come to be $855,000,000! There is reason to believe that what happened in Russia would happen in the United States! We should lose to gain, and to gain in countless unconsidered ways.

For these reasons, therefore, amongst many others, this movement prohibition during war time appeals to people. It is gaining new adherents and supporters day by day. You, Mr. Senator, are with us in part, and we are glad for that. You express yourself as ready to vote for measures to save the grain that goes into the manufacture of distilled liquors, but not to forbid the waste which takes place in the manufacture of beer. We call on you to go the whole way with us, and to vote for absolute prohibition during the period of the war. The people of Massachusetts,—I believe a large majority of them,—call on you to take this stand. Business men in State street call upon you, and have sent a messenger to Washington to urge the importance of this cause on your attention. Mothers and fathers in the Commonwealth, whose boys have gone into training camps, call on you to protect their sons from the contaminating evils, which beset all soldier life.

Your influence, sir, is great. Your championship would count for much. We call on you therefore to support whole heartedly, and firmly, and to the full extent, this cause of War Prohibition! And we call with confidence and cheer for the fight already has been almost won.

Paul Revere Frothingham.

West Newton

—Mrs. Carl E. Pickhardt of Highland avenue has returned from a week's visit at Powder Point, Duxbury.

—Mrs. Andrew S. Woods and the Misses Woods of Fountain street are spending the month of July at Powder Point, Duxbury.

—Miss Mary E. Kenna of River street, West Newton, was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening when her friends tendered her a novelty shower at the home of Mrs. Mary G. Sullivan of Auburndale, in connection with her coming wedding to Mr. John L. O'Neill of Dorchester. Guests were present from the Newtons, Waterdowns, Walthams, Dorchesters, Cambridge and Roxburys.

—Rev. J. Edgar Park will preach the first in a series of sermons on "Trifles Worth Millions," next Sunday at the Second Congregational church. "Friendly Words" will be the topic and the service will begin at 10.45.

—Mr. Bates the organist will play each Sunday before the service from half past ten. A special program of music will be given which will include Chauvet's "Marche Religieuse," d'Every's "Berceuse," choir music from "Elijah," and Page's "Postlude in B flat."

NEW SUNDAY CAR SERVICE

Beginning Sunday, July 15 and continuing each Sunday until further notice, the Boston Elevated will operate a 15 minute line between Lake Street and Dudley Street via Washington Street and Brookline Village, between 1 and 7 P. M. This service will provide direct connection between the Commonwealth Avenue section of Newton, Brookline, and all sections tributary to Dudley Street and the Elevated lines.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

Miss Marie J. Byrne, the story teller, will visit the playgrounds during July and August regularly according to the following program:—Monday, 2 P. M. Farlow Park; 3.30 Stearns; Tuesday, 2 P. M. Eden Avenue; 3.30 Claffin School; Wednesday, 2 P. M. Newton Highlands; 3.30 Upper Falls; Thursday, 2 P. M. Burr School; 3.30 Lower Falls; Friday, 2 P. M. Newton Centre; 3.30 Thompsonville.

REAL ESTATE

The estate 15 Rowe street has been transferred to Frank H. Jones, who will soon occupy. The grantor is E. Louise Barber. The property comprises a seven room modern cottage and garage and about 7000 feet of land. The sale price was in excess of the assessed value of $4200. E. Burnard Squire represented the buyer and John Beal the seller.

Bird Alley.

Has anyone in Columbus heard of Bird Alley? Yes, this street is in Columbus and is inhabited only by birds, choice canary birds. Bird Alley is in the penitentiary, in the hospital department, where seventy-five canary birds, neatly housed in artistic cages, lend their warblings and song to cheer the inmates of the walled city. These birds are housed on the second floor of the hospital building and occupy a row about twenty feet long. All breeds and colors are here represented, and can be heard whistling and warbling over this section of the prison.—Columbus Dispatch.

Wind

With every howl, the wind tries to loosen the paint from your home. It drives its way into the cracks and crevices. First it dries the exposed wood and then swirls in the torrents of rain. Decay follows the soaking and spreads under the painted parts.

Paint which will prevent this destruction is made of Dutch Boy White-Lead mixed with pure linseed oil. Either pure white or tinted any desired color, it offers a smooth, unbroken surface which neither wind nor rain nor sun can crack or scale.

Examine your buildings closely and let us know if there is need of paint. We can help you.

COPLEY THEATRE—A sixth big week of thrills and laughter is assured at the Copley Theatre, where the Henry Jewett Players are continuing in the great war play, "The Man Who Stayed at Home." Full to the brim with tense situations and sympathetic appeal, it retains the refreshing lightness of comedy, carefully balancing its rapid-fire thrills with volleys of mirth. The play deals with the highly systematized program of espionage prevalent in England at the outbreak of the war and signs of which are continually cropping up in our own country. Leon Gordon is at his best in the difficult role of Brent, the secret service agent of the Allies and is gaining for himself daily many new friends in Boston. Phyllis Relp as Brent's assistant, Dorie Sawyer as his sweetheart and Cameron Matthews as the German spy, give exceptionally able versions of their parts. Fred W. Permain, Beatrice Miller and Jessamine Newcombe are particularly excellent in difficult character parts.

ISSUE BULLETIN ON HOME CANNING

Canning fruits and vegetables in the home by the one-period cold-pack method is a relatively simple process and can be done with ordinary kitchen equipment and with comparatively little labor. Much of the surplus of the home garden can be saved for winter use by this canning method which is fully described in a special bulletin just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, Farmer's Bulletin 839, "Home Canning by the One-Period Cold-Pack Method." This bulletin is of special interest and value to all housewives, canning clubs, societies or persons interested in conserving the food supply of the Nation. It may be had on application to Congressman W. H. Carter, Room 334, House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C. The bulletin contains very explicit directions for canning practically all of the common garden vegetables including tomatoes, peppers, sweet peppers, pumpkin, squash, sweet corn, field corn, beans, peas, and root vegetables. Also various combinations of vegetables. It also includes canning directions for soft fruits and berries, hard fruits as apples, pears, quinces. Directions for the canning of camp rations, meats and soups are given in detail.

SUFFRAGE NOTES

Forty-seven mayors of New York attended a Conference at Buffalo, June 12, 1917, do hereby recommend that this government profit by the experience of other governments now at war, and, by granting equal suffrage itself of the service of its women as well as of its men in the full efficiency of citizenship.

Accompanying the Resolution was the statement, "We have carefully considered the matter of woman suffrage because of its far-reaching effect, and beg to report that of forty-seven voting, forty-one favor woman suffrage. Forty-one to six is some majority. Evidently New York mayors are not in the anti ranks."

Here is part of a significant editorial from the Boston Journal: "The sudden rise of women in industry and trade only advertised the fact that women are people, and the advertising has sunk deep into the English mind. But before the United States has gone far in its war it will begin to learn England's lesson about women. It will find them sharing the industrial burden, the war-loss burden, the taxation burden, are people and entitled to a people's part in their government."

"The National American Woman Suffrage Association has offered to the Government the services of its 2,000,000 members, and although its program is entirely concerned with the increase of food supply and the elimination of waste, it stands ready to provide women workers, when needed, to fill positions of men who are called to military service. Thru its many branches it will do its utmost to teach women the proper standards of health and living, which the present crisis makes most imperative for the woman worker."

Not unexpected is the conversion to woman suffrage of many prominent anti. One of the recent ones is Mr. Herbert Samuel, member of Parliament. He announces his convictions in favor of the vote for English women and explains that the full participation of women in the varied work and thought of the world by reason of the war, had greatly changed his former opposition. He voted in favor of the enfranchisement of women when the bill proposed by the Conference on Electoral Reform was submitted to the House. The importance of this measure is apparent as it added about 6,000,000 women to England's electorate.

Announcement has been made that a number of civic bodies throughout the country have within the past few days responded to an appeal of the National American Woman Suffrage Association to support the policy of equal pay for equal work by women who take the places of men called to military duty.

In the last four months woman suffrage has gained 81 electoral votes, as compared with 91 gained in the previous 48 years.

FRENCH LESSONS FOR SOLDIERS

Those of Uncle Sam's Massachusetts soldiers who may later be ordered to France will be able intelligently to converse with their French comrades-in-arms, the "poilu", and to go about without need of an interpreter. At least, the Bay State soldiers now have every opportunity to obtain a "working knowledge" of the language. Announcement has been made at the Department of University Extension of the State Board of Education that the Department is offering class work in French conversation for the soldiers in the armories and encampments in Massachusetts. The opportunity is open equally to the non-residents who will arrive later at the great encampment in Ayer as well as to national guardsmen in their armories or camps and regular army soldiers in their forts.

Army officers who have heard of the plans are enthusiastic and have informed the authorities that it is another case of the State pointing the way. Brig. Gen. E. Leroy Sweetser, acting the adjutant general, has heartily approved.

James A. Moyer, director of the Department, said that posters have been sent to each armory in the State announcing the courses for enlisted men. The classes will consist of twenty or more men. Men who are transferred to some post in the United States outside of Massachusetts before completing their courses, may continue by correspondence.

Military terms and French of everyday life will be taught, with particular attention paid to pronunciation. Outlines for the course are being prepared by members of the Harvard faculty with the assistance and advice of the French military officers stationed at Harvard. Translation of French military terms will be approved by these officers and the war department. The courses will include instruction in money, measures, weights, French military map signs, and formation of French army units. German equivalents will be taught in some cases, and instruction in sentences such as the "samme" will need to converse with prisoners of the taken prisoner.

Letters have been sent to the colleges of Massachusetts for lists of men equipped to teach conversational French. The colleges have been quick to respond, and in several cases the French professors have volunteered their services, as a patriotic duty.

The "L'Opinion Publique", the French newspaper of Worcester, has offered instructors from members of its editorial staff to teach in Worcester. At present the classes will be held in the armories and encampments throughout the State.

NORUMBEGA PARK

A substantial dramatic success was recorded by the Liberty Players who are presenting "Kick In" at Norumbega Park Theatre this week. This play from the pen of Willard Mack is filled with laughter and thrills; a good blend of each makes "Kick In" capital entertainment.

For the coming week "A Pair of Sixes" is announced. This is a well known comedy which in the hands of the present Norumbega Park organization should prove good entertainment.

THE ANGEL AZRAEL

There was silence throughout heaven:
Hushed were the golden strings;
And cherubim and seraphim Bowed low with folded wings.
The Eternal One had spoken;
Like diapason's swell,
Yet in accents deep and tender
Rose the summons, "Azrael!"

Lo! one stood forth whose brightness
Outshone the myriad throng;
His wings of dazzling whiteness,
His mien, majestic, strong,
A glittering spear he carried,
As reverently he moved,
Fairest of all God's angels—
Of all, God's most beloved.

"Azrael!" Lowly bending,
He knelt before the throne;
Humility still lending
New charms unto his own.
"Azrael! From my children
On earth some cries of woe,
I hear, and faint would help them,
Thither, my angel, go!"

"In pain and grief some languish, Sighing to be set free;
And some in mortal anguish Struggle for liberty.
Go, Azrael, release them
From their prison-house of clay,
And bring my children home to me
In Paradise, this day."

Down through the boundless ether
The swift-winged angel flew,
Past upper world and nether,
Till unto earth he drew;
Entered the chamber's portal,
And the weary sufferer lay,
Released their souls immortal,
And bore them hence away.

On earth were sounds of weeping,
And funeral bells were tolled;
But there was rapturous greeting
In the city paved with gold.
Hosannas filled all heaven
Unto Him upon the throne,
As the angel who was hidden Brought back to God his own.

"Well done, my faithful angel!"
Thus the Almighty One;
"And welcome, earth-born children,
Your life work, too, well done!
But thou art sad, O Azrael.
And sorrow dims thine eye;
Thy radiant wings are drooping;
Tell me, my angel, why?"

"O Thou, whose matchless glory Fills earth and sky and sea,
Who art from everlasting,
And to the end shall be—
But thou art sad, O Azrael.
And hastened to fulfill Glad to be counted worthy To do my Maker's will."

"I thought I should be welcome
Since I came to set men free
From their chains of earthly thralldom,
But they looked with fear on me.
And everywhere they saw me,
Men spoke with bated breath;
They turned away and shuddered,
And, whispering, called me—
'Death!'"

"They know not that it's life, sweet life,
The angel Azrael brings;
And thus it is my spirit grieves,
And therefore droop my wings.
And now, O loving Father, Bend low thy gracious ear,
And in thy tender mercy,
Grant Azrael this, his prayer:

"Lift but for one brief moment,
The shadowy, mystic veil
That hides Earth's children from the loved
And lost ones they bewail,
And nevermore, kind Father,
Shall they look on me with fear,
Or bow their heads in anguish,
When Azrael draws near."

"Rise, Azrael, beloved,
I may not grant thy plea;
These earthly children of my care
These earthly children of my care
Must learn to trust in me,
I have told them of my heaven,
And the many mansions fair,
My Son, the Crucified, I've given,
That they may enter there."

But if a moment only
It were permitted them
To gaze with earthly vision
On the New Jerusalem,
Her princely towers and turrets,
Her glories all untold,
The rapture of the shining ones
Who walk the streets of gold,—

Think you they would be fitted
For the victory they must win,
Ere they can hear the welcome,
"Good and faithful, enter in?"
Their efforts would be palsied
With longing to be there;
Nay, Azrael, it were not kind
To hearken to thy prayer.

But this I grant thee, Angel,
From henceforth it shall be,
When thou dost go to earth to set
A struggling spirit free,
Unto the hearts left desolate
This message thou shalt tell;
"Mourn not thy loved ones, for with them
It is and shall be well."

And so whenever the shadow
Of the angel's drooping wing Falls on our hearthstone, and we sit Speechless in suffering, Rising o'er all our anguish,
Deeper than Hope's deep knell,
We hear the angel whisper,
"With thy loved one, it is well!"

Oh, sweet and blest assurance!
It soothes our nameless dread;
And though Rachel still be weeping,
Her heart is comforted.
Beloved, let us fear not Knowing it shall be well
When comes for us God's angel,
The white-winged Azrael.

BE CANNY

Get the canning impulse. Make your hoe this summer keep your can opener busy next winter. Get ready for canning season now. Regrets are the only things ever canned in the jars you forgot to order. Can nothing that can be kept without canning. Dry such vegetables as corn, string beans, navy beans, mature Lima beans, okra, etc. You can brag about your garden all winter if you have your canned evidence on the dinner table. Concentrate products, especially soup mixtures, so that each container will hold as much canned food and as little water as possible. Really there is nothing to canning fruit and vegetables except care, cleanliness, fresh products, jars, and heat.

KNIT

By Ralph Bergengren.
One soldier isn't an army and one pair of stockings cover only one pair of feet. But an army has to be made by adding one soldier to another, and every woman who knits one pair of stockings, one scarf, one sweater, or one pair of wristers is making one soldier more comfortable and efficient. Such things wear out fast and the American army now in making can't have too many of them. Pretty soon Uncle Sam will say, "These boys need woolen things." When that time comes there will be an important difference between the women who say, "We will knit them," and the women who say, "Here they are, Uncle, and we are knitting some more."

Just now a good many women are not knitting because they don't see how what they knit will get where it is needed. In most towns there is a Committee of Public Safety. That committee has a subcommittee for the coordination of aid societies. The subcommittee supplies wool and instructions necessary to standardize the soldier's woolen things like the rest of his equipment, takes back the finished product and sees that it goes to the right place.

Some women are not knitting because they think they would have to join an aid society first. But they don't. All they have to do is to apply for the material and instructions and knit.

Some women say, "Oh, I can't knit." The answer to that is—Learn to knit. Your country needs the knitting.

DEATH OF MR. STEERE

Mr. Mark L. Steere passed away Sunday, July 8th, at the Homeopathic Hospital in Boston, after a serious surgical operation.

The deceased was sixty-two years of age and is survived by one brother, Mr. William Steere of Methuen, Mass.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at his late residence, 424 Walnut street, Newtonville. Rev. Richard T. Loring, rector of St. John's Church, conducted an impressive service at three o'clock. The sacred selections, "The Lord My Pasture Shall Prepare," and "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest," were sung by the Copley Quartet of Boston.

There were many beautiful floral tributes and the burial was in the family lot in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Middlesex, ss., June 30, A.D. 1917.

Taken on execution and will be sold at public auction on Monday the sixth day of August, A. D. 1917, at nine o'clock, a. m., at my residence, 293 West Emerson street in Melrose in said county of Middlesex, all the right, title and interest that Annie Meynell of Newton in said county of Middlesex, had (not exempt by law from attachment or levy on execution) on the second day of August, A. D. 1916, at twelve o'clock and thirty minutes, p.m., being the time when the same was attached on mesne process, in and to the following described real estate, to wit:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situated in Newton in said county of Middlesex and shown as lot marked "B" on plan entitled "Plan of Land in Newton, Mass.," made by Henry F. Bryant, civil engineer, dated July 25th, 1913, and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds. Said parcel is more particularly bounded and described as follows: Easterly by Waban Hill road by two curved lines measuring forty-five and 99-100 (45.99) feet and fifty-three and 65-100 (65.65) feet respectively; southerly by land now or formerly of said Annie Meynell ninety-nine and 36-100 (99.36) feet; westerly by land now or formerly of said Annie Meynell eighty-eight and 62-100 (88.62) feet; and northerly by land now or formerly of Chestnut Hill Realty Trust ninety-five and 98-100 (95.98) feet. Containing 9374 square feet and being a portion of the same premises conveyed to said Annie Meynell by deed of Sidney L. Brackett by deed dated December 5th, 1907 and recorded in Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 2352, page 518. Said premises are subject to and with the benefit of the restrictions and conditions contained in said deed from Sidney L. Brackett. Said premises are also subject to the restrictions imposed by Dana Estes by an instrument dated October 7th, 1893, and recorded with said Middlesex Deeds, Book 2244, page 140, in so far as the same are now in force and applicable.

DEATH OF LIEUTENANT SOULE

Lieutenant William E. P. Soule of Newtonville passed away on Saturday, July 7th at the Boston Psychopathic Hospital. He had been ailing for many months with acute Bright's disease, diabetes and valvular heart trouble but his condition became serious about two weeks ago.

The deceased was born April 20, 1850 at Freeport, Maine, of good old New England stock and was the son of George Nelson Soule and Sarah Brewer, both of Freeport, Maine. He was a direct descendant of George Soule, one of the passengers on the Mayflower arriving in 1620 and forming the first Puritan colony, also a descendant of Captain Benjamin Soule of the Revolutionary War, and of a long line of sea captains and shipbuilders. Lieut. Soule was one of a family of eleven children, seven sons and four daughters, nine of whom grew to maturity and of whom seven are living today.

His early life was that of the average farm lad with all the attendant hard work. As a young man he became interested like his father and grandfather in shipbuilding. After following this line for several years, he took up the business of a general contractor and builder and after a series of losses he relinquished this in 1888 to become a member of the Newton Police Department. In June, 1905, after 17 years of patrol duty he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant, by Alonzo R. Weed, who was then mayor of Newton, in which capacity he served until his retirement last April. For two years he was president of the Newton Police Benefit Association.

He was married in 1873 to Elizabeth Simpson of Bridgton, Maine, and had two sons, William Ellsworth Soule, associate financial editor of the Boston Globe, and Lawrence Clement Soule, a heating and ventilating engineer, who is at present engaged with the Research Department of the American Radiator Company of Buffalo, N. Y. His two sons, and his second wife, formerly Ella Augusta Pinkham of Portland, Me., who has been a most loving and devoted wife for over thirty years, survive him. Lieut. Soule was very much attached to his family and was one of the most conspicuous figures at the South family re-union at Yarmouth, Me., last summer. He was a great lover of outdoor life, of his garden and flowers, and was popular with all with whom he came in contact; big-hearted, wholesome, kind and generous, and fond of children, and even as a policeman he was loved by the children who knew him. A genial, kindly, sweet spirited public servant, loved and respected in the market-place, the street, the neighborhood, the church, the home, the lodge-room and the city. A genuine specimen of our good old fashioned New England Yankee stock.

Never again shall he patrol this way, Where woodbine twines in grand array.

In meadow green, where hills are seen;
Where roses bloom and fade, and die;
No more to meet, but say good-bye.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the Newtonville Methodist Church and there was a very large attendance.

Rev. Peter Black the pastor, conducted an impressive service at two o'clock, and sacred selections were sung by the Copley Quartet of Boston.

There was also a Masonic service, conducted by the Dalhousie Lodge of which the deceased was a member, under the direction of Worshipful Master Edwin S. Ripley of Dalhousie Lodge.

Delegations were in attendance from the Newton Royal Arch Chapter, Knights Templar, Gethsemane Commandery No. 35 and a contingent from the police force, including thirty police officers, headed by Lieutenant Bernard Burke of the Newton Department. His Honor Edwin O. Childs, mayor of Newton and Mr. Frederick M. Mitchell, chief of the Newton Police, were also among the mourners. There was a wealth of beautiful floral tributes and the remains were taken to Yarmouth, Maine, for burial in the family lot in Riverside Cemetery.

MOTHERS' MEETING

The Mothers' Meeting held at the Armory in West Newton last Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Newton Branch of the Special Aid was very successfully carried out.

Edwin O. Childs presided. Chaplain Lyman H. Dolins, the first speaker, stated that the object of the meeting was to form a Woman's Auxiliary to the 5th Regiment for the purpose of not only caring for the needs of Co. C, but of arousing and sustaining interest in the other companies of the regiment.

Some companies have no social backing, having no home town. Women with no sons in whom to be interested can work in this auxiliary.

Miss Esta Mae Barr of Marblehead, Secretary of the Auxiliary to the 5th Regiment, emphasized the value of such an auxiliary in keeping in touch with the boys in the various companies in order to help when inside.

Captain H. D. Cormerais was present, and spoke in praise of the men of Co. C.

Before the meeting adjourned, it was voted to form such an auxiliary, and another meeting will soon be called to perfect its organization.

At light close, light refreshments were served. The meeting was much enjoyed by all present.

You put a lid on waste every time you seal a preserving jar.

IMMEDIATE NEEDS OF ALLIES

350,000 Bath Robes; or Convalescent Gowns.
100,000 pairs Bed Socks.
700,000 Handkerchiefs.
650,000 Hospital Bed Sheets.
450,000 suits Pajamas.
300,000 Shoulder Wraps.
800,000 pairs Socks.
250,000 pairs Ward Slippers.

These hospital garments are greatly needed now and should be made according to specifications. The production of bandages and surgical dressings, however, should not be allowed to fall off on account of this special appeal, as cable messages from Paris and Rome ask for a constant supply of these in view of the recent heavy fighting and the difficulty of getting the raw materials abroad.

The above memorandum has just been received at the workrooms of the Special Aid and Red Cross Societies. At first glance the needs and the numbers are paralyzing in their magnitude, yet if every woman in New England alone were to make but a single article each week the whole might be accomplished within a month. If each woman would promise herself to make but 10 or 15 gauze compresses each evening how many hundreds would be added to these absolutely necessary supplies. If each woman in our community would give at least one half day's work each week at one of the various centers of relief work the increased output would tell mightily in meeting these needs.

This is a part of the war work put into the hands of women, can there be a greater or more worthy task—to help to clothe the sick and wounded and destitute, to provide for the needs of our own soldier boys and of their comrades in arms, or brave Allies.

SPECIAL AID NOTES

At the last meeting of the Advisory Board of the Newtonville Branch of the Special Aid Society reports were heard from the eighteen (18) units comprising the organization, and a general summing up of work accomplished since the Branch was formed, on March 25th, was given; this included six hundred and fifty garments, consisting of flannel and cotton pajamas, surgical shirts, and convalescent robes, seven hundred and thirty four knitted articles, sweaters, helmets, scarfs and wristers, also several dozen smaller articles in the way of face clothes, bonnets, pillowcases, bandages. Four hundred and eighty garments have been donated to the Red Cross. Many of the knitted articles have been given to Commandant Rush at the Navy Yard, and various emergency appeals filled. Twenty-five sweaters and twenty-five pairs of socks were given to Co. C. of Newton. Sixty dollars has been donated toward the Y. M. C. A. Hut Fund, and a generous sum contributed toward the equipment of a Drum Corp for the 5th Regiment. Plans were made for a general meeting place for the summer at the Newton Technical High School, where the sewing rooms will be open from 9 until 4 every Tuesday. The Newtonville Branch now has a membership of 470, and the Board issues an earnest appeal to every woman in Newtonville to join the organization and help in this much needed work.

The Middlesex County Convention of the Special Aid members of Massachusetts will be held at the Cambridge Latin School, Broadway, Cambridge, Wednesday, July 18th, from 11 A. M. until 4 P. M. Prominent speakers have been secured, and models of the work for the American Fund for French Wounded, Red Cross, Navy League, and Surgical Dressings will be on exhibition. A Canteen lunch will be served at a nominal charge.

Every member of the Special Aid is requested to bring one guest who is not a member.

FIGHTING POTATO BLIGHT

"Sprinkling potato vines with an ordinary watering can or with a whisk broom dipped in the spray material may be all right enough for bugs," says County Agent Abbott of the Middlesex County Farm Bureau, "but it is almost certain to prove disappointing as a means of controlling the late blight. A fine mist-like spray that deposits a film of Bordeaux Mixture over practically the entire surface of the leaf is absolutely essential in controlling late blight. This will be perfectly clear to every one who stops for a moment to consider the nature of blight and means of infection."

"Late blight of potatoes is due to the growth of a specific fungus within the tissues of the plant. Infection is by means of spores which are deposited on the leaves by wind or otherwise and there germinate and immediately pierce the leaf and start to grow on the inside. The only time that a spray can reach this fungus is at the time the spores start to germinate on the surface of the leaves. The spores, of course, may be deposited on the leaves at any time or in any place. Therefore in order to furnish complete protection to the crop it is obvious that the leaves must be completely covered with a film of the protective spray at all times."

"This result can be secured by spraying with Bordeaux Mixture, either home made or commercially prepared, every 10 to 14 days (or a little oftener in excessively rainy weather) after the plants reach a height of 8 to 12 inches. The sultry weather of late July and August is the period of greatest danger."

"Lead arsenate may be mixed with the earlier sprays at the rate of 5 pounds of paste to 50 gallons of spray to control bugs but later it may be omitted as it is of no value in controlling blight."

Let empty cans and jars wait for fruit. Don't try to make fruit wait long for containers.

COAL ENOUGH

Not only food but fuel is a vital need of this country and of our allies—coal to run the ships and railroads, to feed the iron furnaces and furnish steam for all the manufacturing plants, coal in greater quantities than have ever before been mined in the United States or in any part of the world—and this need is being met in truly American fashion by the operators and owners of the mines and by the diggers of coal. With these words, Secretary Franklin K. Lane began his statement regarding the coal situation as reported to him by the statisticians of his Department.

The production of coal in the United States last year, he continued, was the greatest in the history of the country. A new record, however, was set for the first six months of this year, fully 270,000,000 tons of bituminous coal being produced since January 1st, thus exceeding the output of the first six months of last year by about 20,000,000 tons. Even better news is that the limit has not yet been reached, for as the railroads are able to work out to better advantage the problem of car supply and give to the mines greater facilities for transporting their product to market, the supply of coal that reaches the consumer will be in steadily increasing quantities. In the early months of 1917, because of the congestion of the railroads and the difficulties of transportation the production of bituminous coal fell behind the high mark set in January and February, a year ago. As a result of the patriotic and earnest endeavor of the railroad officials and the coal operators and representatives of mine workers who have volunteered their services to the Federal Government in this emergency, production has been speeded up within the last few months and the output of soft coal which in May exceeded all previous records, was surpassed in June.

Despite the extra demand in this country and the urgent needs of our allies, no one with the facts before him can doubt that the coal industry, under the careful guidance of those now directing its welfare, will be able to supply all needs.

The difficulty of distribution now so great will be intensified, however, in coming winter months. Just as consumers of food stuffs are being urged to eliminate all waste and to practise sensible economy, so the consumers of coal must do their share in working out the coal problem by unloading every coal car as fast as it is received, and in improving their plants so as to utilize to the fullest the heat which the whole family felt from old-fashioned coal stoves and fireplaces. In stopping the coal waste and in expediting a condition of fuel sufficiency, every consumer can do his bit.

GARDEN CITY FAIR

At the "Garden City Fair" to be held under the auspices of the Auburndale Woman's Club with the co-operation of Newton Federated Clubs and Public Safety Committee, Sept. 29th, at Norumbega Park, the Home Economics Committee will hold a food sale and will sell anything in the food line for you.

Bring it in the raw state, canned, cooked, baked or boiled.
All food must be marked at a fair selling price, also with owner's name. 20 per cent commission will be charged.

Watch Newton papers for further particulars.

A cook book is to be on sale at the Fair, made up of recipes sent in to the Home Economics committee.

Anyone having economical and practical recipes, will favor the committee by sending same to one of the following Auburndale ladies, Mrs. H. W. Godfrey, 14 Hancock street; Mrs. Marshall Smith, 9 Ware road; Mrs. H. A. Wiley, 29 Grove street.

Another way to do our share

Our loyalty to show

Is to help the Garden City Fair

A crop immense to grow.

PRESERVE THE SURPLUS AND HELP SAVE THE WASTE

A generous contribution of cherries, currants and any other fruit or vegetables of which you may have a surplus is earnestly desired by the Social Service Committee of the Special Aid.

Please send to the Channing Church on Tuesday next, July 17th, before 10 A. M. if possible.

Miss Margaret Howard, Head of the Domestic Science Dept., School of Practical Arts of Boston, has kindly consented to take charge of the canning on that day.

The Committee would be glad to know of any fruit to be had for the picking and will call for any contribution that can not conveniently be sent.

Kindly notify Miss Martha L. Lathé, Vernon Court, Newton.

DO YOU?

Winifred Virginia Jordan

Do you think you are beaten? Well, why?

Do you start every day with a sigh?

Do you groan with a bad-luck refrain?

Do you claim Trouble's link is your chain?

Do you think you are beaten? Why not?

If you whine at your miserable lot?

Do you think you are winning? Well, why?

Do you smile at the blue in the sky?

Do you sing as you start for your work?

Do you think "bad-luck" spells naught but "shirk"?

Do you think you are winning? Why not?

If you think so—your battle's half fought?

Do you think you are beaten? Well, how?

Do you snarl and with joy pick a row?

Do you tell all your troubles and feel that your boots are run down at the heel?

Do you think you are beaten? You are!

As you think—gets you mud or a star!

Do you think you are winning? That's good!

Do you go for a tramp in the wood?

Do you cut out the cards and the booze?

Do you over wife's dinner enthuse?

Do you think you are winning? You will.

If you keep thinking so up the hill!

AN OBITUARY

"She is a nice, interesting woman," so a seven-year-old boy remarked after Mrs. Martin had spent a day with his grandmother. He expressed what the whole family felt from old to youngest. She was a wonderful woman, wonderful in her literary attainments, in her memory, in her friendships, her broadmindedness, and high mindedness. She was an inspiration to others to live for the higher things in life. In conversation she never spoke unkindly of anyone.

She bore reverses with fortitude, going uncomplainingly on her way. With all her attainments she took pleasure in domestic duties, "working willingly with her hands," caring for and entertaining little children who will carry through life the memory of their remarkable grandmother. She never outlived her usefulness, but when her work was done fell asleep. "Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch

About him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

PHILOSOPHY OF A SOLDIER

We are in receipt of the following "philosophy of a soldier," which is said to have been written by a French journalist at the front and which has been widely distributed in the trenches.

"You face one of two conditions—either you are mobilized or you are not. If not, you have nothing to worry about. If you are mobilized, you face one of two conditions—you are in camp or at the front. If you are in camp, you have nothing to worry about; if you are at the front, you face one of two conditions—either you are in reserve or on the fighting line. If you are in reserve, you have nothing to worry about; if you are on the fighting line, you face one of two conditions—either you fight or you don't. If you don't, you have nothing to worry about; if you do, you face one of two conditions—either you get hurt or you don't. If you don't, you have nothing to worry about; if you get hurt, you face one of two conditions—either you get slightly hurt or you get badly hurt. If slightly, you have nothing to worry about; if badly, you face one of two conditions—either you recover or you don't. If you recover, you have nothing to worry about; and if you don't, you can't worry if you want to, so what's the use?"

DEATH OF MRS. MARTIN

Mrs. Mary R. Martin died at her home on Prescott street, Newtonville, on July 8, after a short illness, at the age of eighty-three. In her death the city of Newton loses a woman who has rendered large and varied service to the community. For twenty-three years she was the efficient secretary of the Associated Charities of Newton, resigning this position about three years ago. She served on the School Committee for nine years, where her keenness of mind and kindness of heart made her a much respected member of the committee and enabled her to accomplish many improvements in the schools, one of which may be named the securing of the new Clafin school building for her district.

She was a charter member of the Newtonville Woman's Guild established in 1884, serving as its secretary for twenty-five years. She was also a valued member of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, the New England Woman's Club, the West Newton Educational Club and the Every Saturday Club of Newtonville. Whatever she undertook was well done. Her ready wit, her rare mind, her breadth of view and her wise counsel will be sadly missed by her friends and the organizations to which she belonged.

It may be interesting to know that Mary Roxana Goodrich (Martin) was born in Westminster, Vt., June 26, 1834, lived for some years with her grandparents there, and began teaching at the age of eighteen in Concord, Mass., at the time when Emerson was becoming widely known as a lecturer and philosopher. From Concord she went to Plymouth, Mass., where she taught first in a district school and then in a school for many years. In 1873 she was married to Capt. John Martin and has lived in Newtonville since that time. Capt. Martin died some time ago and there are still living of the family, her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Wakefield of Newtonville, and a stepson, John Paul Martin of Chicago.

Hers was a long, happy, useful life, wonderfully far-reaching in its influence for good, and her memory will long be cherished by those who had the good fortune to know her.

A large number of friends and relatives assembled at Central Congregational Church on Tuesday afternoon where funeral services were conducted most impressively at 4 o'clock by Rev. A. J. Muste, the pastor.

There was a wealth of beautiful floral tributes and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

Transportation

The problem of the day is that of transportation. Railroad passenger traffic has been reduced to a minimum that the freight service may have its maximum efficiency. Ships are being built in this country in greater numbers, probably, than ever before, that munitions and food supplies may be hastened to their destinations.

The following books in the Newton Library treat of railroad transportation problems:

Dunn, S. O. American transportation question. HJR-D92

Haines, H. S. Restrictive railway legislation. HJR-H12r

The Elbe and the Rhine are said to furnish us models in river transportation. Two books by Edwin J. Clapp, The navigable Rhine (HJW-C83) and The port of Hamburg (HJW-C83p) tell of transportation facilities on these rivers, and suggest methods to revive our waning river traffic.

Pulitzer Prizes in Journalism and Literature

The Columbia University Trustees announced at the Commencement exercises the awards of the Pulitzer Prizes in Journalism and Literature. The prize of $2000 for the best book of the year on the history of the United States was awarded to J. J. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, for "With Americans of Past and Present Days." The prize of $1000 for the best example of a reporter's work during the year was awarded to Herbert Bayard Swope, of the New York "World," for his articles recently collected and published under the title "Inside the German Empire." The prize of $1000 for the best American biography teaching patriotic and unselfish service was awarded to Laura E. Richards and Maude Howe Elliot, daughters of Julia Ward Howe, for the biography of their mother, "Julia Ward Howe."

PATERSON-GIBB

An unusually charming home wedding was celebrated on Wednesday, July 4th, when Miss Margaret Christina Gibb, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Gibb of Clafin Mansion, Elm road, Newtonville, was united in marriage with Mr. Lester Andrew Paterson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander A. Paterson of Highland street, Newtonville.

The large drawing room of Clafin Mansion was beautifully decorated with flowers. The Stars and Stripes and flag of Scotland were draped with fine effect and the knot was tied beneath a huge arch composed of oak leaves, peonies, roses and carnations, extending from the floor to ceiling. In addition to nearby friends, many guests from Natick, Quincy, Stoneham, Waltham and other places, were present. The two-ring ceremony was impressively conducted by Rev. A. J. Muste, pastor of the Central Congregational Church.

Promptly at 1.30 P. M. the opening bars of the Wedding March from Lohengrin signalled the approach of the wedding party, Miss Gertrude Stevens of Natick, presiding at the piano. The sky, which had been overcast, cleared at the moment and the room was flooded with sunshine as the bride entered on the arm of her father, Miss Gibb presented a truly charming picture in her bridal dress of accented plaited white net and veil carrying a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. Miss Mabel Munroe of Newtonville, a close friend and former school-mate, was maid of honor and Miss Katherine Kennedy, another chum, was bridesmaid. Mr. Irving Paterson, brother of the groom, was his best man and his youngest brother, Master Ralph Paterson served as ring bearer. The ushers for the reception which immediately followed the ceremony, were Maxwell and Stewart, brothers of Mr. Paterson, Mr. Ernest Perry, Mr. Wm. Collier and Mr. Alexander Skene.

Careful collection and distribution of wedding cake followed the reception and later the bride, attired in a neat traveling suit and her husband, ran the gauntlet of rice and confetti to their waiting automobile which they found had been decorated in honor of the occasion. The honeymoon trip includes a tour of the seashore resorts along the Maine coast. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Paterson will reside at the corner of Lowell avenue and Highland street, Newtonville. The happy couple were recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts in silver, cut glass and linen. The Clan MacGillivray, of which Mr. Gibb is Past Chief, presented a handsome chair with smoking stand to the groom while the Ladies Auxiliary sent a large cut glass vase to the bride.

Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Lister, Mr. and Mrs. James Lister and Mr. and Mrs. James Munroe of Stoneham; Miss Hepburn of Milford, N. H.; Mr. Robert Farquhar of Quincy, Miss Kennedy of Waltham; Mr. Ramsey of Boston; Mr. A. Riddell, Miss Margaret Riddell, Miss Alma Riddell and Miss Gertrude Stevens of Natick; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Duly of Newton and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Anderson, Mr. James Benzie, Mrs. Brison and Miss Pearl Brison, Mrs. I. J. Graham, Mrs. A. L. Shepard, Miss Lucy Gates, Miss Mary Badger, Mr. Alfred G. Cole. Many remained to accept the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Gibb after the departure of the bridal couple. Music and dancing by the young people and, in the evening, a display of fireworks on the lawn completed the festivities of this happy occasion.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report a large transaction in the transfer of the six-story brick apartment house containing 28 suites with elevators and situated at 238 Hemenway street, Boston, opposite Museum Square. The property is assessed for $75,000 and is purchased by William H. Allen of Newton for investment. With the building there are 4500 square feet of land. Leon Rubenstein and J. W. Gerrity were the grantors. As purchasers of the above transaction, Mr. W. H. Allen transfers to Leon Rubenstein and Joe Gerrity about 50,000 square feet of land on Mason Terrace off Beacon street, Brookline. The above land is assessed for about 75 cents per square foot but price paid was double this amount.

Mrs. Grace Close has sold through John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., her Colonial residence at 1611 Lowell avenue, Newtonville to Mrs. F. E. Daniels who will occupy. With the 10 room house there are 7500 square feet of land all valued at $8000.

Mr. J. O'Malley has purchased from Lewis W. Miner a parcel of land containing 10,000 square feet and situated on Beacon street, near Reservoir, Chestnut Hill. The lot is valued at $4000. John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., were brokers in the above transactions.

MOBILIZING THE RAGBAG

By Ralph Bergengren

Don't throw it away if it is an old, soft rag and can be washed. All up and down the country women are mobilizing the ragbags. Feathers are scarce. A clean, soft rag cut into many little pieces with scissors is almost as good as that many feathers for stuffing a pillow. Across the sea the hospitals need pillows for our wounded allies. They need pillows so badly that whoever snips up an old, soft, clean rag for pillow stuffing can feel sure that a wounded soldier will be made more comfortable.

A wounded soldier who needs a pillow needs it terribly. To tell people how to make such pillows, collect them and send them to the hospitals is one of the things that a committee of public safety is organized to take care of. Any citizen can easily get instructions in pillow making and be sure that a wounded soldier will get the pillow. A little snipping a few minutes at a time makes the pillow grow.

"Doing your bit" is a dangerous phrase. Too many of us who are shirking save our consciences with it. We call half an hour in the garden a "bit," "our bit." But this is not enough. The nation requires the giving of every available working hour; not "doing our bit" but "doing our utmost."

DEATH OF MRS. BILLINGS

Mrs. Mary Murdock Billings, widow of Charles E. Billings, died Wednesday at her residence on Franklin street, where she had made her home for fifty years. Mrs. Billings was born in Brighton, September 13, 1838, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Murdock. She had lived in Newton practically all her life, however, and possessed the keenest interest in the welfare of the city and its people.

As a life-long member of Eliot Church she was closely identified with its many splendid philanthropies. For 11 years she was president of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. She was a prominent member of the Social Science Club for many years.

Mrs. Billings was the mother of four children, one of whom, Charles O. Billings, survives her, as do four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 P. M. Interment will be in the Newton Cemetery.

ENJOY INTENSIVE TRAINING

Auburndale and Newtonville Constabulary Units Have Two Busy Days in Camp

Already much praise has been bestowed by prominent state officials and others on Newton's Constabulary because of its personnel, general efficiency and earnestness. Added laurels have come this week as a result of the work in camp last Saturday and Sunday of the Newtonville and Auburndale units. The Auburndale Company, under command of Capt. McNutt, proceeded in automobiles to the Wakefield range. There were in all about seventy members. Complete equipment, including a blanket roll, was carried by each man. Shooting at the range, with some very creditable scores, was the principal feature of the afternoon. The company also heard a lecture on bomb throwing by one of the French officers. An inspection of the trenches under construction was also enjoyed.

The company was further honored by the commander of the range, who assigned them to guard the officers' quarters all night. More manoeuvres were executed Sunday and in the afternoon the return trip home was made. The commander strongly commended the Auburndale men on their appearance, behavior and general excellence.

About 75 men of the 1st Company of the Newtonville Constabulary, Capt. W. N. Dudley commanding, H. Belden Slye, 1st Lieutenant, and J. A. Bryant, 2nd Lieutenant, held its field day manoeuvres Saturday. The 1st Company moved at 5.45 from the gymnasium in the rear of the Newton High School, and proceeded in regular formation to their encampment at Lake Boone.

After breakfast, prepared under regular army conditions, they proceeded to formal guard mount, posted their guards, and instituted regular army regulations for field work, consisting of open order work, close order work and manual of arms. Food was served in a regular army way, details formed for mess at each meal, guards posted and relieved in the regular way, all thru the day and night, each man serving his regular tour of duty, the manoeuvres of the day closing with evening parade and taps sounded at 9.30.

These daily programs were carried thru without any intermission, the different officers of the day appointed and served their regular duty, as is the custom at all field manoeuvres.

The men lived under canvas and the conditions were identical with those of the regular service.

The Company broke camp at two o'clock and in thirty minutes their equipment was loaded and they were ready to move—a remarkable record for efficiency.

The Company then attended evening parade of the 9th Regiment at Framingham, where they were dismissed.

NEWTON TO EQUIP DRAFTED MEN

Under the direction of Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, Chairman of Co-ordination of Aid Societies of the Newton Committee on Public Safety the ladies of Newton have made and have ready to deliver at the proper time for the men called to the colors by the first draft from Newton, 350 sweaters, 350 pairs of socks, and 350 comfort kits.

The Newton Committee are also making preparations to care for the drafted men and it is probable that a Mass Meeting in their honor will soon be held at the Armory.

The Coast Artillery has 16 Newton boys in it for whom the Newton Women have made 32 pairs socks, 16 sweaters, 16 comfort kits, and 16 pairs wristers in very quick order.

SEAMEN ENTERTAINED

Fifty young seamen from the Charlestown Navy Yard were entertained at Channing Church Wednesday evening by the Newton Branch of the Special Aid society.

A large number of members and guests were present, and a pleasing program had been provided.

Several selections were rendered by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, and a charming little play "Chums," was well performed by Miss Emma Wilder, Miss Edna Banks, Frederick Burrows, Howard Hayward, and Raymond Ford.

Following this, Willard Gorton, an entertainer from Boston amused the audience with his clever performances. Ice cream and cake were served.

Much credit is due to Miss Henry, Mrs. George Owen, and Mrs. H. H. Powers for the successful way in which the entertainment was managed.

EXEMPTION BOARD

Headquarters Established at West Newton Police Court

The headquarters of the draft enrollment Exemption Board of the Newton district have been established at the offices of the Police Court at West Newton. Judge John C. Kennedy is chairman.

Information concerning the so-called "red ink" numbers may be obtained as soon as the numbers are received by the board.

Francis W. Sprague, 2nd, clerk of the Police Court will be in charge of the lists for the Exemption Board and will answer questions and give other assistance between the hours of 8 A. M. and 12 noon and 1 and 3 P. M.

All red ink numbers for military registration heretofore given out, have been canceled. The registrants should again apply to the City Clerk or the Clerk of the Court for corrected draft number.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

The First Grade or Clerical examination announced by the United States Civil Service Commission, to be held on August 4, 1917, at the following places in this State: Boston, Brockton, Fall River, Fitchburg, Gloucester, Greenfield, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Nantucket, New Bedford, Newburyport, North Adams, Oak Bluffs, Pittsfield, Plymouth, Provincetown, Salem, Springfield, Worcester.

From the register to be established from this examination it is expected that at least 1000 first grade clerks in the Internal Revenue Service throughout the United States will be required on or before September 1, 1917.

For application blank, address the secretary of the United States Civil Service Board at any post office or custom house at any of the places named above, or the district secretary in Boston.

LOUIS F. MORINIÈRE ENLISTS

Newton is doing its share in sending good men to the front, and it has one man who has a record for serving his country of which the city may well be proud.

Ensign Louis F. Morinière of Lowell avenue, Newtonville, has enlisted in his third war; he was serving on board the United States warship "Maine," when she was blown up in Havana harbor, February 15th, 1898, and served in the Philippines 1898-1901, and now he has volunteered his services for the war with Germany, the greatest war in the history of the world, and is a commissioned officer in the U. S. N. R. At the close of the Spanish war, he received honorable discharge, but Mr. Morinière is no "slacker" in a time when men who have seen service are so valuable to the U. S. Navy, and he gladly risks his life once more for this great and noble cause.

Ensign Morinière is a good example for the young men of Newton, for men with such undaunted courage and loyalty to the country, will be strong factors in helping to win this great battle for Democracy which is being fought on land and sea.

DEATH OF MRS. PETERSON

Mrs. Adaline A. Peterson of Oakleigh road, widow of Martin Peterson, died Tuesday, after a long illness in her 90th year.

The deceased had been a resident of Newton for twenty-five years, where she had won the love and esteem of a large circle of friends. She was a member of the Newton Methodist Episcopal Church. The funeral was held on Thursday at the family summer home at Duxbury, and the burial was in the family lot in the Duxbury Cemetery.

PERILS OF FIELD SERVICE

Newtonville Young Man Gives Vivid Picture of Duties of Ambulance Driver

The following account of the perils of the American Field Ambulance Service is from a letter written to his mother by Richard L. Cooley, Dartmouth, '18, of Newtonville:

Extract from letter dated June 23, 1917:

At the Cantonment Well, if there is a Hell on Earth, I have been through it. The night of the twenty-first was awful. I thought that I was to have some rest as I had been up all the night before, but no such luck. I had just got to bed when the call came in for six more ambulances, quick, and to be sure to take gas masks as the Bosche was using gas. Well, I was on first call so I was the first to go. C—H—went as my orderly. We went out to the first post where we waited about two hours, then about twelve o'clock, the call came in from one of the front posts, for two cars. It was my turn, so I started out with Ed Hasbrook in his car as the other. I let him go ahead as he had been to the post the night before, and knew the way and I did not. The Bosche sent up five searchlight bombs right over us and they could see us easily from their lines. When we got to the place where we cut through the fields to get to the post, we found George Allison with his car in a shell hole. Duke Sharpe was waiting for him to get out, and to make matters worse, Ed stalled his motor. I was behind him so you see that made four cars all clustered together. The Bosche sent up a bomb of liquid fire which landed about fifty yards from us, and made the whole countryside brighter than any searchlight could have done. They probably thought that we were an ammunition train, so they opened fire on us and the shells began dropping all around us. We got George started and Duke on the way, and went through the fields to the post. There I got four Axis (seated wounded) and Ed three Couches (lying wounded). The Broncardiers put my men in my car and went down in the trench to get the Couches. We waited half an hour for them, but they did not return. Meanwhile, the Bosche were chopping shells every minute about us. We were lying on the ground under our cars, but when the Broncardiers did not come back, my Blesses jumped out of my car and went back in the trench crying "Trop dangereux." We went down after them and tried to get the Broncardiers to bring their Couches, but they wouldn't do it, saying it was too dangerous. Finally we made them, and got my four Blesses back in the car and started for the road. Then Hell rained. The Bosche would drop their shells at an average of ten a minute. I never expected to get out alive. I wondered if I would ever see my home again, but never did I regret coming to France. C—H—was my orderly so he walked ahead to pick out shell holes for me. Two shells landed so close to my car that their explosion knocked him down and simply buried me with dirt and stones. Thank the Lord they were not using sharpnel. I kept thinking of that verse from the ninety-first Psalm, "A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee." This and the people at home were all that I thought of.

We finally got out on the road and disregarding my Blesses, I went like the devil, for safety. I guess, however, that they were just as glad that I did. How we ever got out of there I do not know, but we did, and it was only by Divine Providence that we did. I never was much for religion and didn't believe much in praying or in God, but after that night, I shall never be a doubter again. It was only through the grace of some Greater Power than ourselves that we escaped unharmed. Two other cars, I found out later, went up there while we were at the post waiting for the Blesses; two of the fellows were wounded, one slightly and the other very badly. He is in a very dangerous condition, having been shot through the back, the lung and the leg. He is Paul Osborne. He was under his car, too. If he had been in the driver's seat he would have been killed immediately. This was while we were about a hundred yards away, and yet knew nothing of it. Both he and Milne, the fellow who was wounded slightly, have received the Croix de Guerre. That is pretty good for a section that had only been out two days,—to receive the Croix de Guerre the second night out.

Osborne's car is a wreck. It is back here at the post, and I have a picture of it. I also have some of the shell which hit him. I found it in a big pool of blood where he lay. It was awful! I can't begin to describe it to you, but don't worry any because after that night, they have arranged it so that we do not have to go to that post any more. The Broncardiers bring up the wounded through a communication trench to the road, and we receive them there, this is perfectly safe. We were told by our French Lieutenant that we had the hardest sector of any of the ambulance sections at the front. Also that he was proud of us, and that the Head of things here had complimented him upon us, and for our work that night.

I had to go to that post again in the early morning, but the Bosche had stopped shelling then, and it was all right. There was a deserted ambulance there, so rather than leave it to be a target for the Bosche, another fellow and I sent our cars along with our orderlies, and pulled the thing out of a shell hole and brought it back to the Cantonment.

I expected to be relieved then, but I was sent out again at once, and worked until half past four in the afternoon, then I came back and got an hour's sleep, when they made me get up to supper. It was the first sleep I had had for fifty-nine hours. I was going out again at night, but Doc Noyes who has charge of things for a few days since Wallace is in Paris, wouldn't let me. He told me that I had done more work than any fellow in the post, and he made me go to bed. I had cold chills and could not get to sleep, but finally I got eight blankets and a cup of whiskey and managed to get warm.

Today all I have been doing is loafing about the Cantonment, fooling around some of the cars and getting rested. I wanted to go back to the front tonight, but the Doc wouldn't let me. He says I've got to wait until tomorrow. It is so darn quiet here that it about drives me mad. You can hear the distant booming of the artillery and know that there is work to be done, and yet they won't let you do it. This morning they brought down a Bosche aeroplane about half a mile

EDITORIAL

Newton has yet to settle the question of providing adequate facilities for public baths. There is no need of haste and yet like all perplexities the sooner the air is cleared the better. It is evident that if a bathhouse were constructed on the shores of Crystal Lake the project would not meet the approval of all citizens and without such endorsement no municipal enterprise can hope to be a success. Furthermore, a bathhouse such as that recently proposed for Crystal Lake would serve only a few months of the year.

Although it might prove all that its advocates claim for it its patronage could not expect to be extended much beyond a section of the South Side. And yet those who ask for a public bathhouse for Newton Centre have a just claim and one that cannot be ignored. Public baths have a place in every community provided its establishment is according to the old rule of "the greatest good to the greatest number." A citizen of wide personal interests, who has found opportunity to serve his city, not in an elective office but in other equally useful ways, has made a pertinent suggestion as the result of study. "Let Newton have a municipal bath for all the year round," he says. He proceeds to outline the possibility of locating a structure in Newtonville, preferably near the High School from which the greatest number of patrons would likely come, and which would be accessible from all parts of Newton.

In this gentleman's opinion and is available there at a reasonable figure—an important consideration to say the least. The way to put through such a plan is first to have it freely discussed by the taxpayers. Let it be determined how much citizens will raise by subscriptions and how much the city can afford to spend. It is worth while to think it over to hear in mind that Brookline's public baths have been successful and to remember that the question is bound to come up year after year. Men well qualified to recommend such action believe in it, which is proof that it is no idle dream.

Many people appear to believe firmly in the enjoyment of a vacation during the serious situation at present confronting our country. They have the weight of the argument, providing the vacationing is not overdone. It is well that everybody should do their "bit" and from excellent sources we may learn what acts or services of ours, performed unselfishly, of course, will contribute to the general welfare of the Nation. To crowd many extra duties upon a tired brain and body cannot, however, bring profit to the individual or the community. It does not pay, for in the end nature will demand her toll and will recognize no excuse. It is possible, though, that a restful vacation may at the same time be made to bring forth good, particularly when one appreciates that a mere change of employment, from indoors to outdoors for example, will benefit the individual. Or let the vacationer become a student of some subject that will increase his fund of general knowledge or his ability to serve his fellow men. Judgment and care should be used in the matter of vacations as in every other act of life.

Massachusetts has now a Bureau of Immigration, created by an act of this year's Legislature. Doubtless there is much that it can do "to bring into sympathetic and mutually helpful relations the commonwealth and its residents of foreign origin," as the provisions of the act prescribe.

from here. The noise of the shooting woke me up. Honest, this work is great. It is wonderful! I can't begin to tell you how I like it. The other night was Hell, but now that it is over, we can laugh at the funny incidents that occurred. One was when we all were under the cars, scared as the devil, R—S—made the comment that he wondered why the Bosche didn't try gas. Well, you can imagine how we felt then, but afterwards it seemed funny. Then C—H—told me afterwards that I was swearing away and cussing a blue streak and was talking fast, but as soon as I stopped, and started to say something else, I began to stutter, and it took me almost ten minutes to tell them I wasn't scared. It is funny now, but it sure was Hell then. I think that Billy Sunday was right when he said "That if you would Hell upside down you would find 'Made in Germany' on the Bottom."

"This is a wonderful life, and I love it, but I shall be glad to get home."

"The Chevrolet has not only been successful in Boston, but throughout the whole of New England," says D. C. Briggs, Manager, of the Boston Retail Store.

"And it is interesting to analyze that success. It does not represent luck nor chance. It did not come about haphazardly, but rather through honest, merchandising methods, in being absolutely square with the public."

"It is an axiom of business that a transaction is based on confidence. The buyer's decision is based on belief in the honesty of the representation made."

"The Chevrolet Motor Company has built and is building a product based on that foundation. Honest representation is a creed with us and honest merchandising needs only that kind of an introduction."

"The Chevrolet growth in Boston is due to the fair policy. Satisfactory service means satisfied owners."

YELLOWSTONE'S CODY ENTRANCE

The eastern gateway to the Yellowstone National Park is called the Cody entrance, because at Cody, Wyo., the traveler leaves the train for a ride of sixty-three miles by automobile to the park boundary.

Cody was founded many years ago by the famous scout, the late Col. Wm. F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," and is a typical western plains town. It is situated on a bench or shelf above the Shoshone River and below the tableland that stretches away toward the east. It is therefore invisible to the traveler on the roads from Thermopolis, Basin, Powell, and other Wyoming towns to the eastward until he comes very near the limits of the town.

Leaving Cody for the trip to Yellowstone Park, the road leads into the Shoshone Gorge, across the Shoshone River, and thence to the Burlington station on the plain opposite the town. From here the road turns southwestward through the plains and runs for several miles through a arid, treeless waste. The sulphur mill on the east side of the river stands out prominently a short distance from Cody.

The wonders of the trip to the park begin with the entrance to the Shoshone Canyon, the stupendous gorge through which the Shoshone River takes its course. On the right lies Rattlesnake Mountain and on the left Cedar Mountain. The two constituted a single mountain until the river cut a deep, narrow gash through its center of solid rock. The walls of the canyon are nearly perpendicular, and yet along the face of Rattlesnake Mountain the Reclamation Service of the Department of the Interior blasted from the solid rock a splendid road eight miles long.

Great Engineering Feat
In many places the road passes through tunnels in the granite walls. This is the road that is traveled through the gorge and out to the park. The Government found it necessary to construct this road through the apparently impassable canyon in order to provide the means of transporting materials to construct the great dam of the Shoshone reclamation project. At the upper end of the canyon the Shoshone Dam itself is reached. This dam is the second highest in the world, 328 feet from the lowest foundation to the top of the parapet, being 48 feet higher than the Flatiron Building in New York. At its base it is 108 feet thick up and down stream and only 80 feet long. On top it is 180 feet long and 10 feet thick.

The cost of its construction was $1,356,585, but the value of the crops raised by the use of the stored water in 1916 was $600,000, and only about one-sixth of the irrigable area was cropped last year. The irrigation system is being rapidly extended and several thousand acres will be thrown open to homesteaders during the autumn.

Leaving the dam, the road follows the shore of the beautiful Shoshone Lake which was formed by closing, with the great wedge of concrete, the narrow gash in the rock walls of the canyon. Scientists state that this lake occupies the basin of an ancient body of water which existed thousands of years ago. Where this lake overflowed the water gradually wore a passageway through the solid granite mountain, and in the course of numberless centuries formed the Shoshone Gorge.

Wonders of the Gorge
At the upper end of the lake the road turns into the valley of the North Fork of the Shoshone River and large ranches, many of which are favorite resorts of the big game hunter. As the road continues westward beyond the ranch lands, a very mountainous region appears. The Shoshone National Forest is entered at a point where the valley narrows to a deep canyon. High mountains on each side of the river stand like huge sentinels at the gates of the forest.

Proceeding into the canyon, many wonderful natural features appear on every side. The mountains are composed principally of red sandstone and have been carved into a million fantastic shapes by wind and water erosion.

Signs attract the attention of visitors to the peculiarly shaped formations, the most interesting of which are Holy City, Chimney Rock, Clock Tower, Hole in the Wall, Dead Indian, Elephant's Head, Duck, Maimed Hand, and Pinnacle Point. As the park boundary is approached the mountains become more rugged and timber growth becomes heavier. The principal species of trees are Douglas fir and Englemann spruce.

Just after crossing the Middle Fork of the Shoshone River and leaving it to the right, as the road proceeds up Middle Creek, Pahaska Tepee is reached. This is an old hunting lodge built and owned for many years by Buffalo Bill, and is very beautifully situated in the forest. Supplies of various kinds may be obtained at this point.

Two and four-tenths miles farther up Middle Creek the park boundary at the Eastern Gateway is reached.

RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

Work Room Moved to Masonic Building in Newtonville. Volunteer Workers and Wool Fund Contributions Called for

At the top of the incline that leads down to the Boston & Albany tracks at Newtonville is a modest and simple poster, the work of Miss Marjorie Chellis, which announces that from now on the Red Cross will be busy at Temple Hall every day, except Saturdays and Sundays, from ten until one in making surgical dressings and that it invites helpers to aid in the work. The Red Cross work room of the Newton Chapter has been moved from the Newton Club to the Masonic Building in order to get more space. Now that the Chapter has more room it hopes there will be workers enough to fill it and that Red Cross work may become a means of making the women of the many sections of Newton better acquainted with one another. This work of making surgical dressings is of the utmost importance, if our boys are to be properly cared for when they enter into active service at the front, and the Newton Chapter hopes there will be so many volunteers for the work that even the room it has may prove insufficient.

High School girls who are in Newton will be particularly welcome and it would be a fine thing if some of the groups of girls who go together during the school time season would make working for the Red Cross an opportunity to get together once or twice a week during vacation time.

The headquarters of the Newton Chapter are still at the Newton Club and mail and contributions should still be addressed there. The Wool Fund is not growing as it ought to do. The $200 asked for is needed and needed immediately, every day that the fund drags is a day lost in the making of comforts for our soldiers and if the time comes when they are needed and they are not ready no amount of money nor regrets will keep the boys warm. And that the Newton boys who are going to the front do expect the Newton Chapter to look out for them is shown by the fact that every once in a while some of them call at the Chapter headquarters to find out just what is being done. The first contribution to the fund came from two young men, Leslie MacNeil and Clifford Rummey, who arranged for a ball game between the Newton Cubs and Newton Nationals on Cabot Park and turned over the proceeds from the sale of tickets, $14.05, to the Wool Fund.

The Chapter is soon to put in a machine that will turn out one pair of stockings every hour and it is hoped that the machine will not have to remain idle because of money with which to buy yarn for it. Checks for the Wool Fund may be sent to the Treasurer, Mr. George Royal Pulsifer, or to the Secretary, Mrs. Harry D. Priest. At a recent meeting of the directors of the Chapter Mrs. William A. Young was added to the board as a representative of the Navy League and Mr. Charles D. Kepner was added as representative of the Y. M. C. A. At the same meeting Miss Dorothy Clark, of Newton, was elected assistant treasurer, and Mrs. Henry A. Thorndike of Auburndale was elected assistant secretary.

HOCKRIDGE—CRAIG

The wedding of Miss Ethel May Craig of 15 Peabody street, Newton, and Mr. William H. Hockridge, Jr., of Newton Centre, took place last Wednesday evening at the home of the Rev. A. J. Muste at 8.30 o'clock.

Miss Marion R. T. Craig, the sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Mr. Clarence M. Hockridge, brother of the groom, was the best man. After a trip to the mountains Mr. and Mrs. Hockridge will make their home at 24 Bowen street, Newton Centre, Mass.

"FOUR MINUTE MEN"

The topic on which the "Four Minute" speakers will talk in the Newton moving picture theatres July 16th-28th will be "Food Conservation."

This campaign, which is under the direct supervision of the Government, has as its object the education of the people on subjects of national importance. The talks, which are strictly limited to four minutes in length, are given during the intermission between the pictures.

The motion picture interests in the country, realizing the great value of this form of publicity, have volunteered to give the use of the theatres for this worthy cause. Because of the many requests made to the theatre managers for the use of the screen or platform in presenting appeals to the public, it has been necessary to restrict the granting of these requests, limiting them only to the "Four Minute Men"—the only Bureau recognized officially by the Government and the motion picture managers.

Talks are being given this week at each performance at the Newton Opera House and at Norumbega Park by the following:

In the afternoons:
Mrs. Irving O. Palmer
Miss Margaret E. Rich

In the evenings:
Mr. John Cutler
Mr. Bertram Tupper
Mr. Henry Whitmore

These and other speakers will continue the campaign against waste and extravagance in food matters during next week.

Mr. Donald D. McKay, of Newton Highlands, has charge of this work under the direction of the Chairman of the Newton Committee on Public Safety.

HOUSEWIVES OF NEWTON

Your attention is called to the following letter sent out by the Woman's Committee of the Council for National Defense. It explains the reasons why you will be asked to join in Mr. Hoover's Food Campaign. The pledge cards will be circulated in Newton immediately after Dean Arnold's address at the Newton Technical High School on Wednesday afternoon, July the 25th.

The object of the President and of Mr. Hoover in organizing the women of the community into this food administration group is to obtain by purely voluntary action the saving of food and elimination of waste which would be obtained in an autocracy by arbitrary methods, and which will have to be obtained in this country by arbitrary methods unless the people of this free democracy rise to the occasion and do what is necessary because they wish to win the war, and not because they are compelled.

The primary aim of the organization, as stated by Mr. Hoover, will be to see that the people of this country eat a sufficient quantity of food, but not an excess, and that they stop waste; also, to reduce the consumption of staples which must be exported to the Allies to keep them effective, so that a larger amount of these staples may be shipped abroad. In particular, the free use of vegetables and perishable foods where they are produced, the preservation of perishable and semi-perishable vegetables and other foods; the substitution of other cereals to a large extent for wheat; and a material reduction of the consumption of meat will be among the first things taken up.

The country must do these things voluntarily, the women of the country must be relied upon to accomplish the major part of this necessary work. The following suggestions may be found of value:

1. We are fighting in this war for the liberty of the world, and for our own existence as a free people.
2. The food supply will be one of the most important things in the winning of the war.
3. Mr. Hoover understands how to use wisely and to economize intelligently our food supply.
4. What Mr. Hoover can accomplish will depend on the support which is given him.
5. Every woman who by signing the card says that she will help Mr. Hoover will be doing her part to win the war.

Because—

6. She will be helping to prevent speculation on foods.
7. She will be helping therefore to make the prices of food lower for the whole country and for herself, wherever this is possible.
8. She will be helping to make food more plentiful for the whole country and for herself.
9. She will be helping to make a surplus of food, that we may send more to our Allies.
10. She will be helping to make it easier for people to live on the money they earn, and thus to be able to meet whatever financial burdens the war may bring to us.
11. She will in short be helping the country greatly, and will at the same time be working for the happiness of her own family.
12. She will be helping in our fight for freedom, just as much as will our soldiers in the trenches.
13. And if this effort is not made seriously by all of us, there may not be enough food for us all at any price. So this is a matter that is of real importance to every member of every household; the father, the boy, the girl and the servant, as well as the housekeeper or the mother.

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, Chairman.

CORRESPONDENCE

Newton, July 15, 1917.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

It is hoped that the owners of property will take more interest in keeping the grass borders on the street in trim condition. It not only adds greatly to the appearance of any nice garden or lawn but in many cases a full border saves the tar or concrete sidewalk from breaking away at the edges. It gives any garden or lawn a slovenly and untidy look with a disreputable skinned street border. Newton the Garden City should get back to her old standard in this respect.

"OVER THERE"

tory was launched by the Germans, and, although the French on the left and the British on the right fell back, the Canadians stayed where they were put.

Right here I can mention something which will give you an idea why descriptions of this war don't describe it. During the first gas attack the Canadians, choking to death and falling over each other, a fight against a new and unheard of terror in warfare, found a way—the Lord only knows who first discovered it and how he happened to do it—to stay through a gas cloud and come out alive. It isn't pretty to think of, and it's like many other things in this war which you can't even tell of in print, because the simple description would violate the nice ethics about reading matter for the public eye which have grown up in long years of peace and traditional decency. But this thing which you can't describe meant just the difference between life and death to many of the Canadians that first day of the gas.

As Dawn Broke We Made Out a Big Painted Sign Above the German Front Trench.

Official orders now tell every soldier what he is to do with his handkerchief or a piece of his shirt if he is caught in a gas attack without his mask.

The nearest I can come in print to telling you what the soldier is ordered to do in this emergency is to remind you that ammonia fumes oppose chlorine gas as a neutralizing agent and that certain emanations of the body throw off ammonia fumes.

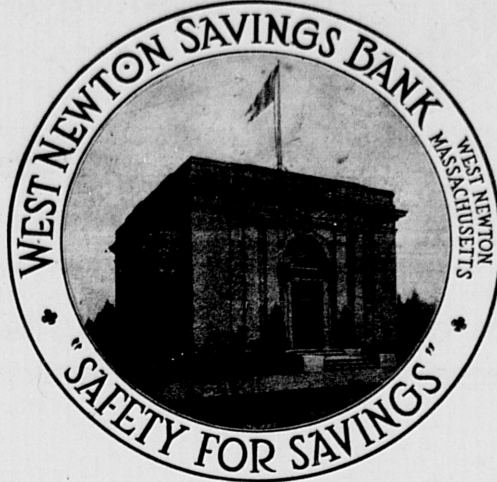

Now that I've told you how we got from the Kulkicker bar and other places to a situation which was just 150 yards from the entrenched front of the German army in Belgium I might as well add a couple of details about things which straightway put fear of God in our hearts. At day-break one of our Fourteenth platoon men, standing on the firing step, pushed back his trench helmet and remarked that he thought it was about time for coffee. He didn't get any. A German sharpshooter, firing the first time that day, got him under the rim of his helmet, and his career with the Canadian forces was over right there. And then, as the dawn broke, we made out a big painted sign raised above the German front trench. It read:

WELCOME,
EIGHTY-SEVENTH CANADIANS

We were a new battalion. We had been less than seventy-two hours on the continent of Europe, and the Germans were not supposed to know anything that was going on behind our lines!

We learned afterward that concealed telephones in the houses of the Belgian burgomasters of the villages of Dinkelsch and Remunghelst, near our position, gave communication with the German headquarters opposite us. One of the duties of a detail of our men soon after that was to stand these two burgomasters up against a wall and shoot them.

In concluding this first article I want to say frankly that any man who claims he is not afraid when for the first time he goes into that hell of fire on the western front is a liar, and I'll tell him so to his face. Later we became impervious, but that first day I prayed, and I would have bent down and prayed only my knees shook so.

Time

Merciless Father Time mows down scantily painted buildings. His scythe cuts deep into unprotected boards. He slashes constantly, day and night, all year round. He wins. The buildings lose.

Paint which will blunt the edge of Time's scythe, and be an armor protection for the buildings, is Dutch Boy White-Lead thinned with linseed oil and tinted any color desired.

This paint is all-weatherproof—proof against blistering sun, chilling rain, piercing wind, snow and sleet. It will add long life and beauty to your buildings, and neither crack nor scale.

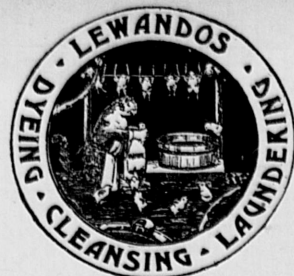

Come to us for paint materials of the lasting kind and for good advice on selection, for jobs big or little.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTIONS

Up to date the war gardens have proved to be a success. In order that they may continue to do so, R. M. Upton, Garden Specialist of the Middlesex County Farm Bureau, offers the following:
String Beans, Cabbage, Cauliflower, Kohl Rabi, Celery, Beets, and Lettuce can all be planted at least as late as the last week in July, turnips up to August 20th, and Spinach and Radishes as late as September.
To have success avoid hilling over 8-10 inches when hoeing any vegetables; thin plants properly; keep garden cultivated and free of weeds; water only after long dry spells and then soak to a depth of six inches;
more frequent watering is unnecessary
when garden is properly cultivated.
Put late cabbage in among vegetables which will be fully matured by the first part of August. Distance 2 and 3 feet, for example, early beet rows and heading lettuce plants, cutting out beets or lettuce where necessary for cabbage to go. Plant lettuce between rows of late celery or cabbage twelve inches apart.
Tomatoes on posts or lattice work can be pruned to one, two or three stems by pinching off branches not desired. These come at the points where leaves and main stem joins.
Pinch off top when plants are four to five feet high.
Potatoes should not be hilled further after blossoms have matured for then the tubers begin to set.
If any vegetables, as potatoes, tomatoes, squash, beans, corn, etc., are not growing well, mulch with manure slightly covered with earth, or water near plants with liquid manure or nitrate or soda.

CHURCH NOTICE

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton, Player's Hall, Washington Street, West Newton. Sunday service 10.45 A. M. Subject of lesson-sermon:
"Life". Sunday School 10.45 A. M.
Testimonial meeting Wednesday 8 P. M. The public is cordially invited to attend the services and to use the Reading Room at 297 Walnut Street, Newtonville, which is open daily from 2 to 6 in the afternoon, and on Tuesday and Saturday evenings from 7.30 until 9.

COPLEY THEATRE—Undiminished interest and crowded houses continue to be the rule at the Copley Theatre, where the Henry Jewett Players are scoring one of the greatest successes of the season, in the stirring war play
"The Man Who Stayed at Home." Disclosing, as it does, problems of intense importance in the present crisis, those dealing with enlistments and espionage, the play thrills one with its tense dramatic touches and deft humorous incidents. The play centers around the activities of a band of German spies in England in their endeavors to prevent the British troops from crossing the channel and the contra efforts of Christopher Brent, "The Man Who Stayed at Home," who is in reality a secret-service agent of England, to frustrate them in their endeavors.

NORUMBEGA PARK

"Friday 1376" may seem unlucky to many, but the Newton Lodge of Elks, who invited over two hundred convention visitors to Norumbega Park, christened the baby elk recently born in the zoological garden "Friday 1376," the number being that of Newton Lodge of Elks. Prominent among the visitors was Mayor Childs of Newton. Maxine Brown, a member of the Liberty Players, was called in to break a bottle of claret and grape juice, which Mayor Childs declared was a stimulant of sufficient strength for so young an elk.

NEWTON VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

Summer Classes in Canning

Registration is complete for canning classes which are to be offered during the month of July. From August 6th until September 1st, additional instruction will be offered in the cold pack method of canning, and some work will be done with the drying of fruits and vegetables. Women who are interested in the August classes may register in person on Wednesday mornings from 9.30 to 11.00 in room 201 of the Vocational School, or by mail.

Housewives and others anxious and eager to do their bit in the national food conservation campaign and to live according to the Hoover "gospel of the clean plate" have the question of how to do it answered for them in a bulletin on food thrift issued yesterday by the Department of University Extension of the Massachusetts Board of Education.

The bulletin presents in concise, readable form practical suggestions, economical and tested menus and recipes with substitutes for expensive dishes which would be of aid to any home. Particular attention is paid to suggestions for "balanced meals" which represent saving and satisfaction.
One may learn what to serve for every meal in a day, hearty meals and dainty meals. The recipes cover fami-lar dishes as well as Norwegian prune pudding and tomato jelly salad. The bulletin offers clear opportunity to differentiate between luxury and necessity and enables the reader to see why President Wilson said that every housewife who practices strict economy enrolls herself in the ranks of those who serve the nation and why J. Ogden Armour recently declared that the welfare of the nation depends upon the women and the success of food conservation.

The bulletin was written by Mrs. Elbert A. Harvey in consultation and with the advice of Dean Sarah Louise Arnold and Dr. Alice Blood of Simmons College. While it was prepared principally for the student of the Department anyone may obtain a copy by sending a postcard requesting it.
Send the postcard to the Department of University Extension at the State House and ask for a copy of "Food Thrift."

Dry vegetables and fruits for winter use if in cans and glass jars for canning are scarce and expensive.

This is the advice of specialists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who recently have studied the possibilities of conserving food to meet war needs in spite of any difficulties that may be experienced in obtaining canning containers. Drying was a well-recognized and successful way of preserving foods before canning came into general use, the specialists point out, and modern methods make it still more practicable than formerly, either in the home or by community groups.
An interesting bulletin on this subject has just been issued and may be obtained by writing to Congressman W.
H. Carter, Room 334, House Office
Bldg., Washington, D. C.

THE TIME, THE PLACE, AND THE CROP

Food Administrator Hoover has urged again and again that every possible crop should be saved so that we may send to our allies abroad what we do not consume ourselves.
Dr. Luther H. Gulick, president of the Camp Fire Girls, has evolved a plan for saving the occasional crops which go to waste because men and women with regular jobs cannot divert their energies to such temporary employment.

"There are many local crops," said Dr. Gulick, "such as strawberries, nuts, red raspberries, blackberries, cherries—they vary with the localities—which are near enough the homes of boys and girls to be gathered. Camp Fire Girls and Boy Scouts can have a great time gathering them and putting them up for their families. There are tons of fruits which won't be picked because they are not good enough for commercial purposes, but which could be saved in this way.

"The boys and girls can organize a trip for the morning or afternoon, and gather and can these fruits for their families. The owner of the crop should be given a percentage. Seven Camp Fire girls gathered 400 quarts of fruit in one morning, receiving 2c a quart for it, and devoted the afternoon to play.

"These jobs cannot be done by steady workers because they are not steady jobs. But they fit the lives of boys and girls. Apples will be an enormous waste this year. They are delicious dried or converted into apple butter or sauce. A Camp Fire can easily furnish all that its community can use.

"Any town that will get itself a good Scoutmaster and Camp Fire Guardian can do itself a wonderful amount of good. O. H. Benson, head of the Food Administration canning department has urged that this be done. In New England, where the orchards were planted to produce small successive crops, this work is particularly feasible."

ONE CHILD, THREE DOLLARS

To the Editor:
Children are the world's most precious possession. There are no brighter or more beautiful children anywhere than the Little Armenians, the victims of Turkish cruelty, many thousands of whom are now on the very brink of starvation. The Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief tell us that three dollars will feed one child for a month. Will not everyone whose means permit it, sacrifice some small luxury, and buy the life of a child?
The whole need is too vast to be met. Many of the children will perish. But every gift means that some child will live who would otherwise die. Contributions should be sent to the Treasurer of the Armenian Relief Fund, Henry D. Forbes, National Shawmut Bank, Boston, Mass.
Alice Stone Blackwell, Chilmark, Mass.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

Nova Scotia, the International Alliance points out, will be the sixth province of Canada to enfranchise its women. Canada is not waiting until after the war is over to learn and apply the lesson inculcated into England's body politic by women's war service.
That lesson was that England's women are too valuable factors of war work to be crippled by disfranchisement.
Canada, while the war is on, is passing woman suffrage as a pertinent war measure.

The Association of Collegiate Alumnae which was in session in Washington last week, adopted a resolution endorsing and asking the President's support of the federal woman suffrage amendment "urged by the National American Woman Suffrage Association as a war measure and as the best preparation for a lasting democratic peace."
The Association of Collegiate Alumnae represents many thousands of women graduates of fifty-three leading colleges in the United States. The resolution was offered by Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton, president of Wellesley College.

The Authors' League of America, at its Annual Meeting recently adopted a resolution urging that the United States immediately enfranchise women.
A rising vote left only two men seated of the 75 authors present.

The New York Senate has passed the resolution by a vote of 39 to 7 to provide for a referendum on woman suffrage at the State Election next November. As this measure is concerned with amending the State Constitution it does not have to receive the approval of the Governor.

The South Carolina federation of labor has recently adopted a declaration in favor of woman suffrage and a call for a popular election on the question. The phrase "the solid South" can no longer be used since Arkansas has broken through and sentiment favoring woman suffrage is making such consistent gains in that section of the country. During the last few weeks suffrage schools have been established in many cities through the South for the purpose of increasing efficiency in suffrage work and to stimulate interest in the nation-wide movement.

Soldier Songs

Some five or six years ago, says the current issue of the New York Times Book Review, there intruded into the world of books an odd collection of verse and prose, bearing the title,
"Cleanthes from a Navy's" "Soldier Songs." The collection was published in pamphlet form, and its author, an Irish youth of 19 years, helped along its sale by hawking it up and down the railroad trains during such brief hours as he could spare from the manual labor out of which he managed to make his livelihood. By such means the sale of this little pamphlet reached 8,000 copies and over, a circulation that was not only of pecuniary profit to the "navy," but brought him as well the kind of recognition that placed him definitely in the literary career for which he had only cherished a secret longing.

Then came the war. Patrick Mac-Gill was among the first to enlist—and he has been on the fighting line ever since, with one brief interim due to a serious wound that he received and another gala period in celebration of his marriage to a young elocution-ist who had been attracted to him by his poems.

As might have been predicted, the war has proved a great stimulus to the art of Patrick MacGill. His two books, "The red horizon" (F079.M17) and "The great push" (F079.M179) describe the life of the trenches, the daily experiences, the hopes, the victories, and the tragedies of the soldier, with the vividness, a dramatic power scarcely equalled in the scores of really remarkable "war books," covering the same field, that have been published during the last two years. And now, harking back to his early talent for verse, we have a volume of MacGill's "Soldier Songs," published by the Duttons, in which is recognizable a music that, we dare believe, will preserve its melody, its strength, long after the war is over.
There is a sort of folklore quality about much of it, alternating with an uncompromising realism, that belongs purely to the author of "Children of the Dead End," the peasant-boy of Donegal. For instance, there is this little fancy:

Before I joined the army
I lived in Donegal,
Where every night the Fairies
Would hold their carnival.
But now I'm out in Flanders,
Where men like wheat-ears fall,
And it's Death and not the Fairies
Who is holding carnival.

Or this picture of a night-patrol

I oft go out at night-time
When all the sky's aflare
And little lights of battle
Are dancing in the air.

I use my pick and shovel
To dig a little hole,
And there I sit till morning—
A listening-patrol.

THE BY-AND-BY LAND

Winifred Virginia Jordan

Oh, there is a wonderful By-and-By Land
Where ever the rose is a bloom;
It surely is just the most beautiful
land
Without faintest shadow of gloom!
Mistakes and the heartaches that worry and grieve
The pathway from Was to the Now,
Are never let in to the By-and-By Land—
No room for them there anyhow!

The Gardener, Time, has the days and the years
All dressed in the magic of Youth;
And never a word of the trickster, Deceit,
Can sprout 'neath the sunbeams of Truth.

The Graylings that feed on the days of the world,
And Shadows that peek at the years,
Can never get in to the By-and-By Land To plant there their sorrows and tears!

The By-and-By Land is a bountiful
land,
And hope is the bright, shining sun;
There hearts only wish for the jewels
of Good—
And wishes come true—every one!
There sympathy dwells, but her soul is a-sing
To music with tunes but of Joy;
And hearts are so full of the sweetness
of Good,
That no troubles their way can annoy.

The By-and-By Land has a song for each heart
A-search in the starshine of dreams,
And Pilot to guide in Love's own golden boat, Embark'd on immortal Joy's streams!
The By-and-By Land is the Kingdom of Love,
And, oh, it is bloomful and fair;
The pathway is one we can walk, if we will——Love welcomes all travellers there!

THE GREAT OPPORTUNITY

By Ralph Barton Perry, Professor of Philosophy at Harvard University and author of "The Free Man and the Soldier."

The ideal things we live for are constantly losing their meaning thru familiarity and tedious repetition. The very practice of reading the Declaration of Independence on the Fourth of July tends to convert it into mere words; so that it requires an effort to feel any conviction about it. Indeed, it is now regarded in some quarters as evidence of intellectual advancement to smile condescendingly at those who declaim about patriotism, or liberty, fraternity and equality. But never before have these things possessed so much substance and so much truth as today. Liberty, as self-government, as willing submission to self-imposed law and to beneficent institutions, is more clearly than ever the only escape from the opposite calamities of license and tyranny. Fraternity, or the sense of fellowship and mutual dependence, is the only thing which can save our human relations from the meanness of obsequiousness and from the hatefulness of arrogance. Equality, the recognition of the common lot and the common humanity, the wide-open door of opportunity, remains the only gospel by which men may be saved from the bitterness of undeserved failure or the false pride of undeserved success. These are more than ever the precious things, the things worth living and dying for, the things we love and call American; and patriotism is more accurately than ever the most powerful force by which they may be kept alive and safe in the world.

But the thrilling thing about the present is the possibility of getting something done. Today it is possible to move mountains. The old world, which we have mistaken for eternity, is in flux. It is molten lava; we can dig channels and direct its flow, we can pour it into moulds. Now is the time for your ideals. What you stamp into the world now will be its character in the time to come. If you believe in democracy, act now. Whether there shall be more or less of it in the succeeding age, whether it shall be crowded out or spread wide among the nations, depends on what you do now. The men of this time will never have their chance again.

Today there is not only an opportunity for you, the rare opportunity to do the highest, the noblest, the bravest, the most heroic thing in your life, in a certain sense life is always the same thing over and over again. We collect a little energy, and then give it out; we earn a little money, and spend it; we acquire appetite, and indulge it; we grow tired, and then we rest. All life follows these cycles, on whatever plane we live it. What we need is a sense that it is all worth while; otherwise we are likely to feel that there is something fatuous and ridiculous about this everlasting see-saw, in which we merely go up and down, or to and fro. What we want is to feel that we are going forward; that the efforts we make sum up to something in the long run. We want to make a difference. Here, then, is the opportunity to leave our imprint on civilization. This is a crucial time, when the world's in the making, and when your effort may prove decisive.

With the exception of science and art, to which only a few attain, all the great achievements are collective achievements. If you are the average man your only chance of the big thing is to associate yourself with your fellows. This means playing your part, whether it be in the lead or in the ranks. It means what is commonly called sacrifice. One must be prepared to give and to suffer what the cause requires, even though one has to give up private advantages and satisfactions. In this country we are just getting to the point of making sacrifices. Hitherto we have given from our surplus. We have enjoyed the gratitude of an illiterate world, and the approbation of our own indulgent consciences, without really suffering for it. We have not even yet quite come to realize that sacrifice means giving up something that we really want. We have all been willing like Artemus Ward to sacrifice our wife's relation to the rest of our country. But now we are facing the dislocation of our private plans, the abandonment of our pet ambitions, the abridgments of our comforts and conveniences, the loss of our lives, and the unspeakable bitterness of bereavement. At such a time it is well to remember that the cardinal virtue in time of action is loyalty. Like other virtues it is best at home. The man who is not loyal to his wife will not be loyal to woman-kind. The man who is not loyal to his country will not be loyal to humanity. For it depends on the same motive in every case; that, namely, of keeping a trust. From the moment when two or more undertake a thing together, each places his honor and his safety in the other's keeping. He who falls in his part, betrays his fellows. National life is a partnership in which men invest their treasures and lives in a common fund. He who accepts citizenship in a democratic state pledges himself to play the game when the game is on. He has his chance to shape the rules, and to determine the stake. But when the preliminaries are over, and the action begins, his fellows have a right to depend upon him. If he holds back now, he is false to those who have gone forward in good faith; he lacks that honorable fidelity by which alone men may be united in bold action and grave peril.

But this is not the word which I set out to speak. I wished to speak not of the duty which compels, but of the opportunity which invites. The man who deserves our sympathy today is the man who cannot give everything; the man whom physical disability or age or a dependent family, compels to go about the ordinary things when all the world is doing extraordinary things. Now that war has become a collective social effort and not a mere shock of arms, he may get something of the feeling of a participant. But he cannot wholly rid himself of the notion that he is a spectator. He must tread the old familiar round of livelihood with little heart. For such a time as this is belongs to the young and the free; to those who are entering the scene just

DEATH OF MRS. FRANCIS MARTIN SMITH

Francis Martin Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Smith of Wellesley Hills, formerly of 50 Greenough street, West Newton, passed away early Sunday morning after a long illness.

The funeral which was largely attended, took place Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, of which he was a former choir member, possessing a voice of rare quality. The Rev. John L. Matteson, of All Saints, Whitman, Mass., officiating.

The music was beautifully rendered by the vested choir under the direction of Mr. Frederick A. Randall, choir master, with Mr. Raymond Sykes, presiding at the organ.

The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Interment was made in Newton Cemetery.

WHAT'S THE USE?

What's the use of crying?
The sun will shine again.
What's the use of sighing?
Life isn't wholly rain.
You will not always have to stand
The cold, old world's abuse;
Some day you'll get the upper hand—
So what's the use?

What's the use of moaning?
It will not alter things.
What's the use of groaning?
Beneath misfortune's stings?
Perhaps you'll be an ace some day,
Which you are a sure bet;
But no one makes complaining pay,
So what's the use.

as the adventure begins and can make that adventure their vocation.

Youth of America, awaken to your great good fortune! To you it is given to be young when all the world is young. You and the new age are going to grow up together. You have the chance to make the world you are going to live in. Two years before this war began, Paul Sabatier wrote these words of the Frenchman's feeling towards Alsace: "For what are we making these sacrifices? For a very simple matter: to prevent the prescription being established—to be faithful, undoubtedly, to Alsace; but fundamentally, what we desire above all is to be faithful to an idea, to the knights of this idea, that it may make its definitive entry into the world thru us and thru our suffering." When you who are now young shall have grown old in service, you will be able to say of triumphant democracy: "We were its faithful knights. Thru us and thru our suffering it has made its definitive entry into the world."

What is a War Garden?

A lot of people ask me what the difference is between a war garden and an ordinary garden. I tell them to read and follow its regular weekly departments on gardening.

The new "War Garden" department, like others in The Country Gentleman, is instructive and profitable. It is up-to-the-minute. It tells you in the simplest terms what you've got to do each week to get the best results. It gives all the new methods that are being discovered by experts in every part of America.

The Country Gentleman is the national farm weekly, and the only farm publication that covers the whole of farm life. Live-stock, field methods, power on the farm, dairying, fruit growing—every vital need of the farmer.

There's something for each member of the family—fascinating fiction, exclusive articles, wonderful world pictures printed by a new process.

Just think. For one dollar—52 issues a year—I can send you The Country Gentleman. It will be worth twice that much to you. Let me prove it.

BIG DAY AT BEACH

Board of Trade's Third Annual Outing Complete Success in Every Way

The members of the Newton Board of Trade composed of prominent business men of the city, held their third annual outing on Thursday at Nantasket Beach.

The outing was arranged under the direction of the Entertainment Committee and was a most enjoyable occasion.

About 50 of the men met at Rowe's Wharf and after a delightful sail down the harbor, arrived at Boston's popular seashore resort, where a diversified program was arranged for their entertainment. It included outdoor sports, sight-seeing, and a dip in the frigid surf, which was only 56 degrees.

The members availed themselves of the many attractions at the beach and had an "all round good time."

A banquet was served at the Villa Napoli at 6 o'clock, after which the members visited Paragon Park and took advantage of its many interesting features.

The good time lasted until late in the evening, the jolly party returning to Boston on the 10:47 boat.

The entertainment committee under the chairmanship of Mr. John W. Byers, included Messrs. C. G. Carley, H. W. Crowell, M. H. Haase, B. W. Polley, Burt M. Rich, Herbert S. Rogers, and A. G. Seavey.

Among those present were President Horace W. Orr, Representative J. Weston Allen, Representative Henry W. Jarvis, W. L. Sampson, George E. Nichols, Fred A. Cahill, W. H. Brayton, H. B. Reed, C. C. Prescott, Edwin P. Ripley, P. A. Murray, J. H. Kenslea, Charles A. Barrows, John W. Byers, Jacob Margoli, T. Frank Willey, Walter Winn, Clarence Fogwill, Maurice E. Beardsley, Frank O. Avantaggio, Gordon H. Rhodes, S. R. Porter, George A. Schade, J. H. Doeringer, G. Howard Frost, J. H. Bombard, E. H. Delesdernier, Herbert Scannell, George E. Miller, R. C. Metcalf, Harold Moore, Arthur W. Hollis, W. B. McMullin, Walter Murphy, A. F. Carver, Dr. W. E. Young, William Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Burns, Harry Ellis, James Clifford.

THE NEWTON CIRCLE

The Newton Circle of the Florence Crittenton League began its work in 1914, as a branch of the Boston organization. The splendid work done in that city and our interest in it, led us to investigate conditions in our own city.

With great gratitude we found after a few months of earnest looking about, that Newton had comparatively little need of the rescue branch of the work, but a great and growing demand for work which would prove to be preventive and consequently, protective.

With a view to informing ourselves as to the best ways and means to go about this, we heard addresses from Mrs. A. S. Everett, Matron of the Lancaster Industrial School; Miss Elizabeth Vanston, Head worker of the North Bennett Street School; Mr. Hermann, Superintendent of Play Grounds in the City of Newton; and Miss Ida Parker, Police matron of the Brookline. From these able workers we received help and inspiration. Each and all dealt with the need of better supervision and more wholesome recreations for our young people, a watchfulness over all attractions offered to the young, and the preventing of such entertainments as lead to undesirable conditions. We found a field of work at once in following these suggestions. Mayor Childs, Judge Kennedy, and many existing organizations welcomed our efforts to assist or supplement them.

A Committee from the Circle visited the Moving Picture shows and other entertainments during the last summer, with the result that the advice of the Mayor, a permanent Board of Visitors has been formed, its members being drawn from the Newton Federation of Clubs, the Newton Social Science Club, the Newton Improvement Association, the Welfare Bureau, the Stearns School Centre, and the Newton Circle.

We have seconded the efforts of existing organizations to secure better street lighting, to close objectionable and isolated buildings, and to have available and suitable boarding places for young girls awaiting Court decisions.

There are many other ways in which we hope to be of use during the summer—such as better supervising of our river banks, parks and woodlands, near the picnic grounds. But above all we hope to aid materially in providing more of the better sort of recreation, doing this always with the advice of the settlement workers and our superintendents of Play Grounds.

Last summer we gave some open-air Concerts, which met with appreciation. We learned much from our experience which will be of use to us this coming summer. This winter we plan to give some Community Dances, open to all above sixteen years of age; a small admission fee is charged, as we feel that this is desirable in many ways.

We now employ a paid worker who gives her time to investigating every need brought to us. She is at the Juvenile Court every Saturday, in close touch with the Judge, and is thus able to render any immediate assistance considered necessary, at the same time using care that she does not attend to any particular need which may belong to other organizations. Our Probation Officer, having much more work than is possible for one person to accomplish, we find glad our co-operation. Also, we feel that the investigating of the homes, in connection with cases involving young girls, intemperance or otherwise incapacitated women, is the work of a woman even if she must be accompanied by an officer of the law.

The old adage of "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" as all social workers agree in this, we desire to make this prevention work our particular aim. It is deemed wise, after two years of work, to be known in the future as the Newton Circle, altho we still retain our interest in the Boston Florence Crittenton League and contribute annually to its support. Will not all citizens of Newton interested in this work and in our city, aid us in keeping clean and wholesome our places of amusement and encourage our efforts to provide all the good entertainments and recreation possible for our young people.

They are the coming citizens and therefore the makers of our community.

Following is a list of officers of the Newton Circle: Mrs. John T. Lodge, president; Mrs. C. Peter Clark, vice-president; Mrs. J. C. S. Taber, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. G. R. Bostwick, recording secretary; Mrs. Marcus Morton, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William J. Champion, treasurer. The directors are, Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Herbert G. Pratt, Mrs. Harry N. Milliken, Miss Helen F. Hull, and Miss Mildred L. Clark. Mrs. Arthur G. Wellman is the Social Worker.

Mrs. Swan B. Hartwell is chairman of the Finance Committee. The Membership Committee is under the chairmanship of Mrs. George B. King and includes Mrs. Farwell Bemis, Mrs. F. L. Miller, Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, Mrs. Herbert G. Pratt, and Miss Helen Hull.

STATE ASSESSORS OUTING

Guests of Newton Board at Norumbega Park Where Splendid Program is Enjoyed

The Massachusetts Association of Assessors were guests of the Newton Board of Assessors, at their annual mid-summer outing, which was held on Wednesday afternoon at Norumbega Park, Auburndale.

The visitors were met by Mayor Childs and the members of the Newton Board, and the Mayor made some very happy remarks welcoming the Association to Newton, and incidentally showed that he had quite a clear idea of the duties of Assessors.

The dinner which was served in the Park restaurant, was a great success and the service and menu were very highly complimented by the visitors. The Mayor, president, and Mr. Malcolm E. Nichols, Senate chairman of the Committee on Taxation, delivered an address on "Taxation, Legislation, Past and Prospective." After the former exercises the guests were given all the privileges of the Park and river.

A most enjoyable feature of the outing was an extensive motor ride about the city; automobiles loaned by public spirited citizens and those of the city department, made possible a delightful ride thru the most attractive parts of the Newtons.

There were about 80 present, and the success of the pleasant occasion was largely due to the efforts of the committee in charge which included President Joseph H. Handford, of the Association, assisted by Mr. Thomas G. Nye, Mr. Edward Carpenter and Mr. James Bennett.

—The marriage of Miss Mabel Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Webster of Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, to Richard Harte of Philadelphia, will take place on Thursday Aug. 16, at twelve o'clock. Mr. Harte is now training with the Heavy Artillery at Fortress Monroe. The engagement of Miss Webster to Mr. Harte, who is of the Harvard Class of '17, was announced the middle of June. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard H. Harte of Philadelphia.

—Dean Arnold of Simmons College to speak on Food Conservation

Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, Dean of Simmons College and Chairman of Conservation of Food, appointed by the State Committee on Public Safety, will give an address in the Newton Technical High School, Newtonville, on Wednesday, July 25, at 4 P. M.

Her subject is "Every Woman's Relation to the Food Thrift Campaign." Dean Arnold will interpret the aims and methods of Mr. Hoover's Campaign and will explain various practical ways in which the housewives of Newton can contribute to its success.

The meeting is under the auspices of the Newton Food Conservation Committee in co-operation with the women's patriotic associations of the city.

Every patriotic woman of Newton should plan to be present if possible.

CO. C. MOBILIZED

Now in Camp on Clafin Field Awaiting Orders

In response to the call of President Wilson, Company C of the Fifth Regiment, National Guard was mobilized Wednesday morning at the State Armory in West Newton, the entire roster of three officers, 150 men, and 5 reserves reporting for duty, one man being on the sick list.

Captain Cormier had a little difficulty in obtaining a place for the men to camp and for about 24 hours the men remained in the Armory or in tents which were pitched around it. This morning the Company will make camp on Clafin Field, Newtonville, where they expect to stay for the next two weeks. It is thought that the Regiment will be sent to Camp Green at Charlotte, N. C., about August 15th, unless Senators Weeks and Lodge succeed in their efforts to have the New England troops quartered in this part of the country.

The Members of Battery F of the First Field Artillery which was largely recruited in Newton and Brookline and of which Mr. C. Sinclair Weeks of West Newton is a Lieutenant, were mobilized at the Commonwealth Armory at Allston. Major Fred P. Barnes of West Newton has been designated by Governor McCall to act as custodian of the West Newton State Armory.

DEATH OF JAMES BARRETT.

Mr. James Barrett passed away last week on Wednesday at his home in the Melrose, after a long period of failing health. He is survived by a widow, two daughters, Alice and Mary Barrett and one son, Vincent Barrett.

The funeral was held Saturday morning at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton. A high Mass of requiem was celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Cronin. A delegation of conductors, friends of the deceased were in attendance and six of them served as pall bearers.

There were many beautiful flowers and the burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

SACRED CONCERT

A Sacred Concert in aid of the Knights of Columbus War Camp Fund is to be given at the Newton Opera House on Sunday evening, July 29th, at 8 o'clock. This fund is to be used to provide comforts and recreation for the youth of the country, who have enlisted in the army and navy, regardless of creed or color. Manager Fisher has generously donated the use of the Opera House for the performance and the public are urged to co-operate in this worthy cause.

DEATH OF MRS. REDDING

Mrs. Ella Nancy Redding, widow of the late Charles Theodore Redding passed away Sunday July 23rd, in her 79th year. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Alfred H. Brodick of Newton Highlands, with whom she had made her home for the past 25 years. She was a most lovable character and had endeared herself to a large circle of friends.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at her late home on Bowdoin street. The service which was very impressive was conducted by Rev. George G. Phipps of Newton Highlands. The Apollon Quartet was in attendance and sang "Nearer My God to Thee" which was a favorite hymn of the deceased. "Abide With Me" and other sacred selections.

There was a wealth of beautiful floral tributes and the burial was in the Redding family lot in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

CALL FROM THE WOUNDED

Hospitals at the Front have not Surgical Dressings Enough

"We have not surgical dressings enough. The wounded suffer because of the lack of them."

This is little is the message that comes from the hospitals at the front to the Red Cross. In spite of the thousands of women who are working hard and faithfully, the message comes that more dressings must be made and sent, that more women must join in the work if the soldiers who are already at the front fighting, and the thousands yet to go, are to be cared for as they should be cared for.

It is a heart reaching appeal which must be answered and answered at once. It is a call for help, not only to the Red Cross but to every other organization, big and little, for redoubled efforts, for increased enlistment of helpers. The Newton Red Cross hopes to do its part, and, along with the other organizations in the city which are engaged in this work of mercy and necessity, to place Newton well at the front in the ranks of the cities that make answer to the appeal. The Red Cross work room is in the Mason Building in Newtonville Square. It can be easily reached by street cars or trains from every village of the city. The work goes on every day, except Saturdays and Sundays, from ten until one, and volunteers are always welcome and there can not be too many of them.

And in addition to this call from across the ocean to the Red Cross and other organizations there come calls from nearer home which go to show the need of more and more helpers, and of more and more money, to enable the helpers to have material with which to work. The choice by lot of thousands of young men to go forth to the defense of their country, the mobilization of the National Guard, the making ready for the departure to the training camps, all bring the war nearer home to every one of us and make the fact of our participation in it more real. And along with the realization that we are at war, and that our boys are to take part in it, comes a greater awakening to the work of the Red Cross and its need of members, helpers and money in order that its work may go on without halt.

Here is one instance right here at home. He was young enough to be a "Red Cross" boy. His number was drawn one of the earliest so that he soon will be busy learning to be a soldier, and making ready to become one of the army which the United States is going to send across the ocean. Never mind his name because if you know him you know who he is and if you don't know him the name will make no difference in the story.

Before he was drawn, even before he was registered, his mother and father took an interest in the winning of the war. The father subscribed for Liberty bonds and did a bit of canvassing to get others to subscribe and his mother was a member of the Red Cross and had made pajamas for sailor boys and knit a sweater or two.

But last Saturday when they knew that the boy was to be one of those to go to the front the mother and the father and the boy all took a keener interest in the work of the Red Cross. They all rejoiced that the Red Cross War Fund had been oversubscribed. They took comfort in the knowledge that the Red Cross flag flew from the headquarters of a local branch at the Newton Club and that Newton people.

THE DRAFT

Names of Newton Residents Who are Liable for Military Service

So much interest is being taken in the effect the draft will have in this city that we venture, in the absence of the official list, to print the names and numbers of persons liable to be drafted as reported by the newspapers from Washington. These newspaper lists have been carefully examined and compared and wherever any doubt exists as to the correct number, the names will be indicated in lighter faced type than the others. The greatest number of errors comes thru the transposition of figures viz., 2563 being listed as 2653. This city is given a census standing of 46275 and on this basis we are called upon to furnish 506 men for military service. Against this number we are credited with persons who have volunteered for service and already enlisted, amounting to 359, leaving but 147 persons to be drafted for service. These credits also complicate the following list, for the names of persons already enlisted are included and as such names will be omitted when the draft is finally determined, it is too complicated a proceeding to say just what position any one person will have in the final drawing.

We print 400 names this week and hope to be able to give the entire official list in our next issue.

IN THE MARINES

July 22, 1917.

Newton Graphic, Newton, Mass., Gentlemen,

A word from League Island Navy Yard, Phila., Pa.

A Newton recruit in U. S. M. C. passes one of highest commissioned officers in Yard, some short time ago, in his 3-hour old uniform, and did not attempt to salute as he should, Maj. Blank, a kind man called this lad up to him to give him a lesson in military etiquette; and said, "Lad how long have you been here?" Newton's own.

"Bout a week." How long you bin here? The result was an ask out by Maj. Blank, and a report to me, acting sergeant of Recruit Camp Guard, on that date.

This makes a good yarn but is an actual fact, happening numerous times on this post, in similar ways.

I have met a number of Newton boys here since last April, and all are happy, well taken care of, and very enthusiastic over their work. Some are already turned over for active duty in the States, Haiti, San Domingo, France and aboard ships.

The work attached to their training has had no other effects other than better health and increased appetite, which is well taken care of by the excellent food they are being served on this post.

Many of our boys have been to the following places in line of duty. Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Indian Head and Winthrop, Maryland, Quantico, Va., Valley Forge, Pa., Wilmington, Del., and parades in many other places.

Two are on vice-patrol in Philadelphia tonight, a crusade against vice, under directions of Secretary Daniels, whose son is also on this Post, as a private in one of the Reserve Companies.

The 5th Co. of 1st Reg., to which I have been attached for some time is a Company of Engineers, of long standing bearing most excellent record, both at home and in foreign ports, and in other points such as Panama.

Respectfully yours,

Pvt. F. C. TOOLE,

5th Co., U. S. M. C.

Philadelphia, Pa., 1st Regt.

NOTES AND ACTIVITIES OF THE NEWTON COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC SAFETY

The following letter has been sent to every man in the city liable for draft duty by Mayor Childs and Chairman William F. Garcelon of the Public Safety Committee:

To the men who have been called to the colors:

Representing the City of Newton and the Committee on Public Safety, we offer to you the cordial co-operation and the assistance of the people of the City of Newton in the serious, difficult, yet inspiring duty to which you have been called. Great sacrifices will be required from many, and it is our hope that we may be able to lighten the burden and to co-operate with the men who go into the service of our country in such a way as to make them realize that they represent a grateful and appreciative people.

There are, of course, cases where men should rightfully claim exemption. To those men we desire to give such assistance as is possible so that their friends and fellow citizens will clearly understand that the basis of their claim is a just one.

To those who enter the service, the people of Newton desire to give all necessary aid.

Many men will have troublesome personal and business questions upon which they may desire advice and assistance. This will be cordially rendered and for such purposes the Chairman of the Public Safety Committee or some other member of that Committee will be at the office of the Committee, 893 Washington Street, Newtonville, every morning at 8.15 for a brief period, to meet and advise those who call. Appointments for other times may be made through the acting secretary of the Committee, J. Dwight Howard, who is always on duty at the office, the telephone number being Newton North 2380.

Medical Service for Co. C While in Newton

The Committee on Hygiene and Sanitation of which Dr. Francis G. Curtis is Chairman is preparing for Company C a medicine chest which will include remedies for all simple ailments and first aid equipment.

Arrangements are also being made for regular visits of a physician to the Camp while the Company remains in Newton.

A corps of physicians will be on call for the Company in case of an emergency.

Free Legal Advice for Men in Service and their Families

The Chairman and A. T. Beatey, Esq., are organizing a Bureau to give free legal advice to men in service and to advise the families of men at the front in case it is needed. Many soldiers desire to arrange business affairs and require legal advice. Lack of time and the general tendency to delay on such matters often causes later embarrassment.

The Duties and Rights of the Constabulary have been described in a booklet prepared by City Solicitor Elias B. Bishop and issued by the Public Safety Committee.

The Chestnut Hill company of about 100 men which has been drilling for some time has applied for admission to the Newton Constabulary. This will bring the total number enlisted to nearly 1000.

Office Hours

The office of the Newton Committee on Public Safety at 893 Washington Street, Newtonville, is open between the hours of 8.15 A. M. and 5.45 P. M. every working day in the week except Saturday when the hours are from 8.15 A. M. to 3.30 P. M.

Any information which people of Newton may wish will be cheerfully given upon request.

Legal and General Advice to Drafted Men

Many men called to the colors by the recent draft may need advice or assistance which they may not be able to readily obtain.

The Public Safety Committee proposes to aid in such cases and to provide legal and other advice for men who are to go into the service.

Beginning Thursday, July 26th, Mr. Garcelon, the chairman of the Committee, or some other member of the Committee, will be at the office of the Committee, 893 Washington Street, Newtonville, at 8.15 each morning and will be glad to confer upon any subject. If men find it impossible to come at this time, special appointments may be made by calling the Acting Secretary, J. D. Howard at the office. Telephone Newton North 2380.

Glass Jars

The Committee has purchased a quantity of glass preserving jars which are on sale at the office and which may be purchased by the citizens of Newton at 89 cents per dozen.

These jars are all quarts and are of the large neck, spring top. Lightning type. The jars are recommended as being a very convenient size for canning vegetables.

Constabulary Notes

The Newton Constabulary, consisting of seven units, has in its ranks men from all ranks of life and living in all sections of the City.

There are, at the present time, 864 men registered, including the staff.

The various units are all uniformed and have been drilling for the last three months on the average of twice a week. Each Unit is officered by men living in the section in which the Unit was formed and each unit derives its name from the village to which it belongs.

Several of the Units have made trips to the Wakefield Range where they received instruction in the use of rifles on the range and also instruction in the manual of arms.

The Newtonville Unit has made a trip to Boone Lake where they camped for two nights and received some very important training during their tour of duty.

MR. WHITE DEAD

Mr. James E. White of 14 Edinboro place, Newtonville, died Saturday, July at the home of his son, Dr. William T. White, after an illness of seven weeks. Mr. White was in his 74th year. He moved to Newtonville from Allston about 12 years ago and until a year ago lived on Walnut street.

Mr. White was in the commission business handling a fine white goods account and sewing silks, a business in which he had made a success since entering upon the work in 1902 after having been in the wholesale clothing business for over 39 years.

He came to Boston from Plymouth where his father, the Honorable Tisdale S. White for some years represented that district in the State Senate, in 1863 and entered the employ of the old firm of Isaac Fenno and Co. He remained in their employ and with their successors until as stated above he sought a larger field for his abilities and from the start met with marked success.

He was the son of Tisdale S. and Hannah (Bartlett) White. He married Medora A. Wallace in 1870 and had four children, one dying at an early age. Mrs. White died in 1905.

He leaves a brother, Maj. Isaac B. White of Philadelphia, two sons, Albert White of Allston and Dr. William T. White of Newtonville, and a daughter, Madam Carolina White Lougoue of the Chicago Opera Company, and who was heard a few years ago in several leading roles in Opera.

Mr. White was a life member of Lafayette Lodge, A. F. & A. M. of Roxbury, and for many years a member of the Deschappelles Club of Boston.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the home of his son, Dr. White on Edinboro place. Rev. A. J. Muste, pastor of Central Congregational Church, of which Mr. White was a member, conducted an impressive service at half-past two. There was a large attendance and many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Ashmont.

Frost

Jack Frost cuts deep into the poorly painted house. Each cold snap freezes the moisture in the boards and cracks the wood just as freezing bursts bottles of water.

Keep out the moisture with weather-proof paint made of Dutch Boy White-Lead thinned with pure linseed oil. That will defeat Jack Frost. It will add fresh beauty, long remain smooth, non-cracking and weather-proof.

We have all paint materials for big or little jobs. And friendly advice, too. Call, phone, or write us.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Safford and daughter Nancy of Sewall street left on Thursday for a sojourn at Franconia, N. H.

—Mr. Howard R. Clapp of this village, now at Plattsburg, has been ordered to take the aviation course at the M. I. T.

—A customer entered a local store last week and asked for half a pound of anything that is cheaper than it was last year. The order was not filled.

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. William Jenks, for over fifty years a resident of Newtonville, died on Wednesday at his home on Nevada street after an illness of several months. Mr. Jenks was about 75 years of age and the son of Joseph William and Ann M. Goldsborough Jenks and grandson of the late Rev. Dr. William Jenks of Boston and was a descendant of a well known New England family. He has taken a deep interest in public affairs during his residence in this city and was prominent in the organization of the Nantamens Club some years ago. He was finely educated and a man of the highest character and integrity. He never married but is survived by an adopted daughter, Miss Lienemann-Jenks who lived with him. Funeral services will be held from his late residence 238 Nevada street on Sunday at 3 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns and Sons, Inc. report the sale of the new stucco residence, private garage and 8000 feet of land on Woodward street and Carver road, Newton Highlands. The purchaser was S. W. Berger who bought for immediate occupancy. Gordon C. McMullin was the builder and grantor. The property is not yet assessed but is valued at $9500.

Edward E. Hoxie has sold through John T. Burns and Sons, Inc., his Dutch bungalow cottage and 7000 feet of land situated at 367 Upland road, Newtonville. Mr. A. C. Brown is the purchaser, the house and land being valued at $7500.

Mrs. A. G. Glassett has purchased through John T. Burns and Sons, Inc., the stucco duplex house at 699-701
Washington street, Hunnewell Hill, Brighton. Kennedy Crane was the grantor. The house and 6000 feet of land are assessed for $8600.

John T. Burns and Sons, Inc., have sold the artist's two-story bungalow—garage and 8000 feet of land at 54 Oakwood road, Newtonville to Francis J.
Flagg of New York—Mr. F. E. Daniels was the grantor. The property was sold for immediate occupancy and is valued at $8500.

Mrs. Ethel Baker has sold a parcel of land containing 12,000 square feet situated at the corner of Neholide and Wilde roads, Waban to Nils S. Eng who will build a single house. The lot is assessed for $1250. John T. Burns and Sons, Inc., were brokers in all of the above transactions.

WILBUR THEATRE—"Oh, Boy," the smartest and brightest musical comedy hit known since the days of "Florodora" begins an engagement at the Wilbur Theatre next Monday night, July 30th. F. Ray Comstock and William Elliott will present "Oh, Boy" at the Wilbur Theatre and beside the performances each evening there will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The Boston production has been superbly staged under the direction of Edward Royce. "Oh, Boy" is of the intimate type musical comedy in which there is such close association and a friendly spirit of appreciation between the players on the stage and the audience in the theatre. The story was written by Guy Bolton and P. G. Wodehouse with music by Jerome Kern and deals with the adventures of an entertaining group of people in a little country town. In the special Boston organization which the Comstock-Elliott Company will send to Boston will be Ellen Wilson, George Howell, Helen Shipman, Stella St. Audrie, Raymond Van Sickle,
Mrs. Geo. A. Hibbard, Lillian Baker, Joseph Allen, Ann Austin, Harry Quealy, Jack Raffael, Billy Gould, Marion Davis, Frank Bryan, Trixie
Bush, Ethel Ford and others.

NORUMBEGA PARK

The presentation this week in the Norumbega Park open air theatre is "Driftwood" written by Owen Davis with the idea of giving the theatregoer a story of absorbing interest. In this the author has succeeded, and aside from "Driftwood" being capital entertainment for night audiences, the play should appeal strongly to matinee throngs. Excellent work is being done this week by Olga Worth, Gene Lewis, Walter Beckman, and David Chase.
Miss Mary White, mezzo soprano, as an added attraction, was favorably received.

Sea and Shore

In these summer days of almost unbearable heat, one's mind turns naturally to the sea. Its cooling breezes and its life are most attractive. Possibly at this season some study of the sea and shore, pursued in a leisurely fash-

NEWTON SAVINGS BANK RESOLUTIONS

Charles T. Pulsifer, our President, died on June 23, 1917. Mr. Pulsifer became a corporate officer of this institution in 1890, a trustee in 1892, and its President in 1898. For nearly twenty years he was not only the nominal head of the Bank but also its chief executive officer. The trustees and other officers have constantly depended on him for advice and guidance and his clear-sighted judgment has always been helpful. Broad minded, sincere, efficient, he enjoyed the utmost confidence of officers and public alike, and this is reflected in the large and steady growth of the Bank.

Resolved, that in the death of Charles T. Pulsifer we have lost a President whose sterling qualities and whole hearted devotion have been largely instrumental in the success attained by the Bank, and that we have lost a personal friend whose sympathetic interest will be missed by each one of us.

Resolved, that these resolutions be placed upon the records of the Board of Trustees and that a copy be sent to the family of Mr. Pulsifer.

COPLEY THEATRE

An eighth big week of thrills and laughter is assured at the Copley, where the Henry Jewett Players continue in the hit of the season, "The Man Who Stayed at Home."
It is founded on the activities of a band of German spies in England at the outbreak of the war and the efforts on the part of Christopher Brent, "The Man Who Stayed at Home," to circumvent their plots. Secret wireless, carrier pigeons, dictaphones, infernal machines and submarine plots play important parts in carrying on the interest.

There are no "lifts" in the House of Success.
But the stairs are long and steep,
And the man who would climb
To the top, in his time,
Before he dare walk, must creep.

Of carpets, there're none in the House of Success.
But the floors are hard and bare,
And you're likely to trip
And slide and slip,
In the pitfalls here and there.

There are no lounges or easy chairs,
Nor places to rest your spine,
But after you've won
To the roof—there's the sun,
And, ah! but the view it is fine.
—The Optimist.

At the Show Rooms of McKenney &
Waterbury Co., Franklin street corner Congress, Boston, are on exhibition the grandest display of Electric and Gas Fixtures, all lighted to show desired effect, to meet any requirements for homes and public buildings.
The new Eventide Fixtures are shown in over one hundred styles.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE NOTES

The National American Woman Suffrage Association, comprising the great body of organized suffragists, the country over, deplores as absurd, ill-timed, and susceptible of grave and demoralizing suspicion, the tactics of the isolated handful of suffragists at the national capital who think to advance the cause of suffrage by demonstrations like the recent banner episodes at the White House.

Women's activities in the present governmental affairs are like the stars on Old Glory—five-pointed in direction.
They are cooperation with all organizations in the increase or food-supply; conservation of food by elimination of waste; Americanization of immigrants; aid to Red Cross relief work; supplying women to the work of men called to the colors and protecting the work of such women. Women not yet awakened to the necessity for the ballot and the duty of women in government may profitably adopt the star-pointed recommendations of the suf-fragists. Workers not shirkers are needed now. Woman's slogan everywhere should be "Duty, Responsibility and Participation in the Nation."
There will be equality of sacrifice to fall alike on men and women during this present war.

The Grand Army of the Republic at its Saratoga encampment endorsed a resolution favoring woman suffrage.
This sounds like beginning at home,
the application of "making the world safe for democracy." The G. A. R. has had its baptism for freedom and an unfranchised womanhood is at variance with liberty.

Chicago is again having trouble with its mayor. The times there is even talk of impeaching him.
Whenever Mayor Thompson breaks out in a new place, opponents of equal rights living at a distance from Illinois blame his misconduct on the women. They say: "This is what happens where women vote!" But in Chicago many people are now remembering with contrition that Thompson is the Mayor whom the women did not want and whom the men insisted on having.

Stoneham furnished a practical suffrage argument when the principal of the eighth grade school, Mr. Whittemore, called for volunteers to arrange a program for Memorial Day. Not a boy responded, but the girls patriotically offered their services. This lack of interest among the boys prompted the principal to express a cogent reason for votes for women.

"Boys, said he, 'do any of you know why women want suffrage? Well, I'll tell you. Not one of you came forward to help, while many of the girls did;
and boys, that's why women want suffrage—because they are sick and tired of waiting for the men to do the things they are supposed to do! Women are behind every good cause, every reform and everything worth while in the world, and they don't talk about it—they stay with it till they get something accomplished. And that, boys, is the way women do things and the reason why they want a chance to do them!'"

Connecticut suffragists are out in a press item which is an arraignment of the legislature for its failure to pass the Mother's Pension Bill. The measure carried in the House, but met its doom in the Senate. The press item sarcastically says: "Connecticut will have to wait two years more before it can adopt the only civilized way of treating its orphan wards. Anti-Suf-fragists are fond of telling us that the place of women is in the home, but the anti-suffragists of the Senate—and we know that they form the majority, for their vote on the suffrage measures proved this—have decided that the home is no place for the widow with two or three small children. If she has had the misfortune to lose her husband she must get out and work for a living, and either put her children in some institution, or leave them neglected."

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM NOTES

Early in vacation a new boy's club came into being at the Museum—the Ophala Club, whose emblem is the bee.
Like this insect, the members mean to keep busy outdoors and indoors, and have something to show for their industry when the summer is over. A prize has been offered for the boy who shall have made the most progress by Labor Day, either in insect or bird study, or in the stocking of a fresh water aquarium and the study of its inhabitants large and small.

The object, as stated by the members in forming the Club, is twofold—first, to learn about all sorts of outdoor things; second, to be of service to the Children's Museum. At present, the Club numbers seven, the officers being: President, Henry Benson of Roxbury, Secretary-Treasurer, George Oettinger of Jamaica Plain.

For the two weeks beginning July 22, the Sons of Nature Club has arranged to supply the wild flower table with the blossoms of the season. Two members of the Club are competing for a prize in the Tree Contest.

During the past month, twelve talks on insects have been given to a group of young people from the Tyler Street Vacation School. These boys and girls are cultivating gardens at Olmsted Park and spend two days a week at the work, their activities with the hoe being varied by the Museum talks.
"Birds" will be the general subject of the talks for the next two weeks, and identification of the species to be seen from the children's gardens will be made. The talks are given at 11 and 2:30 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

FOOLISH QUESTIONS

"Other," asked the small boy, of an editor, "is Jupiter inhabited?"
"I don't know, my son," was the truthful answer.
"I don't know, my son."
"Father, are there any sea serpents?"
"Father, what does the North Pole look like?" But alas! again the answer: "I don't know, my son."
At last, in desperation, he inquired with withering emphasis:
"Father, how ever did you get to be an editor?"

"OVER THERE"

The Thrill and the Hell of the Trenches, Described by an American Boy.

Sergeant Alexander McClintock of Lexington, Ky., and the Canadian Army Has Greeting Tale That Every American Will Read, For He Tells the Facts—Unadorned. Wounded, a Distinguished Conduct Medal Man, He Was Invalided Home, but Is Going "Out There" Again to Fight For Uncle Sam and His Allies. An Inspiring, Interesting, Personal Narrative, Full of the Spirit and Atmosphere of the Trenches.

SERGEANT MCCLINTOCK.

No. 2. The Bomb Raid

By Sergeant Alexander McClintock, D. C. M., 87th Overseas Batt., Canadian Gren. Guards.

Copyright, 1917, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.

Sergeant McClintock is an American boy of Lexington, Ky., who has seen service in France, was decorated for bravery, wounded, invalided home and now is returning to accept a commission. This is the second article in the series. In the first article he described his training up to the point where he reached the front line trenches.

WHEN we took our position in the front line trenches in Belgium we relieved the Twenty-sixth Canadian battalion. Scouts from that organization came back to the villages of Dinkiebusch and Renningelst to tell us how glad they were to see us and to show us the way in. As we proceeded overland, before reaching the communication trenches at the front, these scouts paid us the hospitable attention due strangers—that is, one of them, leading a platoon, would say:

"Next 200 yards in machine gun range. Keep quiet, don't run and be ready to drop quick if you are warned." There was one scout to each platoon, and we followed him single file, most of the time along roads or well worn paths, but sometimes through thickets and ragged fields. Every now and then the scout would yell at us to drop, and down we'd go on our stomachs, while away off in the distance we could hear the "put-put" of machine guns, the first sound of hostile firing that had ever reached our ears.

Nevertheless, when our various platoons had all got into the front reserve trenches, at about two hours after midnight, we learned that the first blood of our battalion had been spilled. Two men had been wounded, though neither fatally. Our own stretcher bearers took our wounded back to the field hospital at Dinkiebusch. The men of the Twenty-sixth battalion spent the rest of the night instructing us and then left us to hold the position. We were as nervous as a lot of cats, and it seemed to me that the Germans must certainly know that they could come over and walk right through us, but outside of a few casualties from sniping, such as the one that befell the Fourteenth platoon man, which I have told about, nothing very alarming happened the first day and night, and by that time we had got steady on our job. We held the position for twenty-six days, which is the longest period that any Canadian or British organization has ever remained in a front line trench.

In none of the stories I've read have I ever seen trench fighting as it was carried on in Belgium adequately described. You see, you can't get much of an idea about a thing like that making a quick tour of the trenches under official direction and escort as the newspaper and magazine writers do. I couldn't undertake to tell anything worth while about the big issues of the war, but I can describe how soldiers have to learn to fight in the trenches, and I think a good many of our young fellows have that to learn now. "Over there" they don't talk of peace or even of tomorrow. They sit back and take it.

We always held the fire trench as lightly as possible, because it is a demonstrated fact that the front ditch cannot be successfully defended in a determined attack. The thing we did and the thing to do is to be ready to jump on to the enemy as soon as he has got into your front trench and is fighting on ground that you know and he doesn't and knock so many kinds of tar out of him that he'll have to pull his load for a spot that isn't so warm. That system worked first rate with us.

During the day we had only a very few men in the fire trench. If an attack is coming in daylight there's always plenty of time to get ready for it. At night we kept prepared for trouble all the time. We had a night sentry on each firing step and a man sitting on his feet to watch him to see he wasn't secretly sniped. Then we had a sentry in each "bay" of the trench to take messages.

Orders didn't permit the man on the firing step or the man watching him to leave post on any excuse whatever during their two hour "spell" of duty. Hanging on a string, at the elbow of each sentry, on the fire step was a siren whistle or an empty shell case and a bit of iron with which to hammer on it. This, whichever it might be, was for the purpose of spreading the alarm in case of a gas attack. Also we had sentries in "listening posts," at various points from twenty to fifty yards out in "No Man's Land." These men blackened their faces before they went "over the top" and then lay in shell holes or natural hollows. There was always two of them, a bayonet man and a bomber. From the listening post a wire ran back to the fire trench to be used in signaling. In the trench a man sat with this wire wrapped around his hand. One pull meant "All O. K.," two pulls, "I'm coming in," three pulls, "Enemy in sight," and four pulls, "Sound gas alarm." The fire step in a trench is a shelf on which soldiers stand to look out and shoot between the sand bags on top.

In addition to these men, we had patrols and scouts out in "No Man's Land" the greater part of the night, with orders to gain any information possible which might be of value to battalion, brigade, division or general headquarters. They reported on the condition of the Germans' barbed wire, the location of machine guns and other little things like that which might be of interest to some commanding officer twenty miles back. Also they were ordered to make every effort to capture any of the enemy's scouts or patrols, so that we could get information from them. One of the interesting moments in this work came when a star shell caught you out in an open spot. If you moved you were gone. I've seen men stand on one foot for the thirty seconds during which a star shell will burn. Then when scouts or patrols met in "No Man's Land" they always had to fight it out with bayonets. One single shot would be the signal for artillery fire and would mean the almost instant annihilation of the men on both sides of the fight. Under the necessities of this war many of our men have been killed by our own shell fire.

The Daylight Hour.

At a little before daybreak came "stand-to," when everybody got buttoned up and ready for business because at that hour most attacks begin, and also that was the regular time for a dose of "morning and evening hate," otherwise a good, lively fifteen minutes of shell fire. We had some casualties every morning and evening, and the stretcher bearers used to get ready for them as a regular matter of course. For fifteen minutes at dawn and dusk the Germans used to send over "whizz-bangs," "coal boxes" and "mine-throwers" (shells from trench mortars) in such a generous way that it looked as if they liked to shoot 'em off, whether they hit anything or not. You could always hear the "heavy stuff" coming, and we paid little attention to it, as it was used in efforts to reach the batteries back of our lines. The poor old town of Dinkiebusch got the full benefit of it. When a shell would shriek its way over, some one would say, "There goes the express for Dinkiebusch," and a couple of seconds later, when some prominent landmark of Dinkiebusch would disintegrate with a loud detonation, some one else would remark:

"Train's arrived!"

About the only amusement we had during our long stay in the front trenches was to sit with our backs against the rear wall and shoot at the rats running along the parapet. Poor Macfarlane, with a flash of the old humor which he had before the war, told me once that the trench rats were so big that he saw one of them trying on his greatcoat. They used to run over our faces when we were sleeping in our dugouts, and I've seen them in ravenous swarms burrowing into the shallow graves of the dead. Most of the soldiers' legs are scarred to the knees with bites.

The one thing of which we constantly lived in fear was a gas attack. I used to wake in the middle of the night in a cold sweat dreaming that I heard the clatter and whistle blowing all along the line which meant that the gas was coming. And finally I really did hear the terrifying sound, just at a moment when it couldn't have sounded worse. I was in charge of the daily ration detail, sent back about ten miles to the point of nearest approach of the transport lorries to carry in rations, ammunition and sand bags to the front trenches. We had a lot of trouble returning with our loads. Passing a point which was called Shrapnel Corner, because the Germans had precise range of it, we were caught in machine gun fire and had to lie on our stomachs for twenty minutes, during which we lost one man, wounded. I sent him back and went on with my party, only to run into another machine gun shower a half mile farther on. While we were lying down to escape this a concealed British battery of five inch guns, about which we knew nothing, opened up right over our heads. It shook us up and scared us so that some of our party were now worse off than the man who had been hit and carried to the rear. We finally got together and went on. When we were about a mile behind the reserve trench, stumbling in the dark through the last aid most dangerous path overland, we heard a lone siren whistle, followed by a wave of metallic hammering and wild tooting which seemed to spread over all of Belgium a mile ahead of us. All any of us could say was:

"Gas!"

All you could see in the dark was a collection of white and frightened faces. Every trembling finger seemed awkward as a thumb as we got out our gas masks and helmets and put them on, following directions as nearly as we could. I ordered the men to sit still and sent two forward to notify me from headquarters when the gas alarm was over. They lost their way and were not found for two days. We sat there for an hour, and then I ventured to take my mask off. As nothing happened, I ordered the men to do the same. When we got into the trenches with our packs we found that the gas alarm had been one of Fritz's jokes. The first sirens had been sounded in the German lines, and there hadn't been any gas.

Our men evened things up with the Germans, however, the next night. Some of our scouts crawled clear up to the German barbed wire, ten yards in front of the enemy fire trench, tied empty jam tins to the barricade and then, after attaching small telephone wires to the barbed strands, crawled back to our trenches. When they started pulling the telephone wires the empty tins made a clatter right under Fritz's nose. Immediately the Germans opened up with all their machine gun and rifle fire, began bombing the spot from which the noise came and sent up "S O S" signals for artillery fire along a mile of their line. They fired a $10,000 salute and lost a night's sleep over the noise made by the discarded containers of 5 shillings' worth of jam. It was a good tonic for the Tommies.

The Prince of Wales.

A few days after this a very young officer passed me in a trench while I was sitting on a fire step writing a letter. I noticed that he had the red tabs of a staff officer on his uniform, but I paid no more attention to him than that. No compliments, such as salutes to officers, are paid in the trenches. After he had passed one of the men asked me if I didn't know who he was. I said I didn't.

"Why, you d— fool," he said, "that's the Prince of Wales!"

When the little prince came back I stood to salute him. He returned the salute with a grave smile and passed on. He was quite alone, and I was told afterward that he made these trips through the trenches just to show the men that he did not consider himself better than any other soldier. The heir of England was certainly taking nearly the same chance of losing his inheritance that we were.

After we had been on the front line fifteen days we received orders to make a bombing raid. Sixty volunteers were asked for, and the whole battalion offered. I was lucky—or unlucky—enough to be among the sixty who were chosen. I want to tell you in detail about this bombing raid, so that you can understand what a thing may really amount to that gets only three lines or perhaps nothing at all in the official dispatches, and, besides that, it may help some of the young men who read this to know something a little later about bombing.

The sixty of us chosen to execute the raid were taken twenty miles to the rear for a week's instruction practice. Having only a slight idea of what we were going to try to do, we felt very jolly about the whole enterprise starting off. We were camped in an old barn, with several special instruction officers in charge. We had oral instruction the first day, while sappers dug and built an exact duplicate of the section of the German trenches which we were to raid—that is, it was exact except for a few details. Certain "skeleton trenches" in the practice section were dug simply to fool the German aviators. If a photograph taken back to German headquarters had shown an exact duplicate of a German trench section suspicion might have been aroused and our plans revealed. We were constantly warned about the skeleton trenches and told to remember that they did not exist in the German section where we were to operate. Meanwhile our practice section was changed a little several times, because aerial photographs showed that the Germans had been renovating and making some additions to the trenches in which we were to have our frolic with them.

We had oral instruction, mostly during the day, because we didn't dare let the German aviators see us practicing a bombing raid. All night long, sometimes until 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, we rehearsed that raid, just as carefully as a company of star actors would rehearse a play. At first there was a disposition to have sport out of it.

"Well," some chap would say, rolling into the hay all tired out, "I got killed six times tonight. S'pose it'll be eight times tomorrow night."

One man insisted that he had discovered in one of our aerial photographs a German burying money, and he carefully examined each new picture, so that he could be sure of finding the dough and digging it up. The grave and serious manner of our officers, however, the exhaustive care with which we were drilled and, more than all, the approach of the time when we were to "go over the top" drove all sport out of our minds, and I can say for myself that the very thought of the undertaking as the fatal night drew near sent shivers up and down my spine.

A bombing raid, something originated in warfare by the Canadians, is not intended for the purpose of holding ground, but to gain information, to do as much damage as possible and to keep the enemy in a state of nervousness. In this particular raid the chief object was to gain information. Our high command wanted to know what troops were opposite us and what troops had been there. We were expected to get this information from prisoners and from buttons and papers off of the Germans we might kill. It was believed that troops were being relieved from the big tent show up at the Somme and sent to our side show in Belgium for rest. Also it was suspected that artillery was being withdrawn for the Somme. Especially we were anxious to bring back prisoners.

In civilized war a prisoner can be compelled to tell only his name, rank and religion. But this is not a civilized war, and there are ways of making prisoners talk. One of the most effective ways—quite humane—is to tie a prisoner fast, head and foot, and then tickle his bare feet with a feather. More severe measures have frequently been used—the water cure, for instance—but I'm bound to say that nearly all the German prisoners I saw were quite loquacious and willing to talk, and the accuracy of their information, when later confirmed by raids, was surprising. The iron discipline which turns them into mere children in the presence of their officers seemed to make them subservient and obedient to the officers who commanded us. I mean, of course, the privates. In this way the system worked against the fatherland. Captured German officers, especially Prussians, were a nasty lot. We never tried to get information from them, for we knew they would lie, happily and very intelligently—well constructed in the art.

At last came the night when we were to go "over the top," across No Man's Land, and have a frolic with Fritz in his own happy home. I am endeavoring to be as accurate and truthful as possible in these stories of my soldiering, and I am therefore compelled to say that there wasn't a man in the sixty who didn't show the strain in his pallor and nervousness. Under orders, we discarded our trench helmets and substituted knitted skullcaps or empty mess tins. Then we blackened our hands and faces with ashes from a camp fire so as to avoid being seen as long as possible. After this they loaded us into motor trucks and took us up to "Shrapnel Corner," from which point we went in on foot. Just before we left a staff captain came along and gave us a little talk.

"This is the first time you men have been tested," he said. "You're Canadians. I needn't say anything more to you. They're going to be popping them off at a great rate while you're on your way across. Remember that you'd better not stand up straight, because our shells will be going over just six and a half feet from the ground where it's level. If you stand up straight you're likely to be hit in the head, but don't let that worry you, because if you do get hit in the head you won't know it. So why in hell worry about it?" That was his farewell. He jumped on his horse and rode off.

The Bomb Raid.

The point we were to attack had been selected long before by our scouts. It was not, as you might suppose, the weakest point in the German line. It was, on the contrary, the strongest. It was considered that the moral effect of cleaning up a weak point would be comparatively small, whereas to break in at the strongest point would be something really worth while. And if we were to take a chance it really wouldn't pay to hesitate about degrees. The section we were to raid had a frontage of 150 yards and a depth of 200 yards. It had been explained to us that we were to be supported by a "box barrage," or curtain fire, from our artillery to last exactly twenty-six minutes—that is, for twenty-six minutes from the time when we started "over the top" our artillery, several miles back, would drop a "curtain" of shells all around the edges of that 150 yard by 200 yard section. We were to have fifteen minutes in which to do our work. Any man not out at the end of the fifteen minutes would necessarily be caught in our own fire, as our artillery would then change from a "box" to pour a straight curtain fire covering all of the spot of our operations.

Our officers set their watches very carefully with those of the artillery officers before we went forward to the front trenches. We reached the front at 11 p. m., and not until our arrival there were we informed of the "zero hour"—the time when the attack was to be made. The hour of 12:10 had been selected. The waiting from 11 o'clock until that time was simply an agony. Some of our men sat stupid and inert. Others kept talking constantly about the most inconsequential matters. One man undertook to tell a funny story. No one listened to it, and the laugh at the end was enunciated and ghastly. The inaction was driving us all into a state of funk. I could actually feel my nerve oozing out at my finger tips, and if we had had to wait fifteen minutes longer I wouldn't have been able to climb out of the trench.

About half an hour before we were to go over every man had his eye up to the trench, for we knew "the rummies" were coming that way. The rummies served out a stiff shot of Jamaica just before an attack, and it would be a real test of temperance to see a man refuse. There were no prohibitionists in our set. Whether or not we got our full ration depended on whether the sergeant in charge was drunk or sober. After the shot began to work one man next me pounded my leg and hollered in my ear:

That noggin of rum is a life saver.

When the hour approached for us to start the artillery fire was so heavy that orders had to be shouted into ears from man to man. The bombardment was, of course, along a couple of miles of front so that the Germans would not know where to expect us. At 12 o'clock exactly they began pulling down a section of the parapet so that we wouldn't have to climb over it and we were off.

There are six articles in this remarkable series by Sergeant McClintock. Two have already been printed, and the third will appear soon. It is the most interesting one of the series thus far and is entitled:

"Over the Top and Give 'Em Hell!"

The English Tommy's battle cry as he breaks from his trench. The bomb raid and what happened. Of sixty that started forty-six failed to return because the Germans had prepared a surprise for them. Graphic description of Sergeant McClintock's terrible experience.

HENRY MURRAY COMPANY

Established 1870

DESIGNERS AND MAKERS OF

Monuments and Memorial Tablets

WESTERLY GRANITE, MARBLE and SLATE

In the production of memorial work, its very permanence is a virtue or an evil, depending upon its design and interpretation being in the beginning worthy or otherwise.

The Henry Murray Company takes pride in monuments now standing many years, significant of meritorious work in the past, which has been a stepping-stone to even greater work today.

THE GARDEN CITY FAIR

Those second-hand books please don't forget

To have them ready to go

To help the cause you will never regret.

The time and place you know.

All kinds of books are wanted there

Stories a summer old,

Histories, picture-books, treatises rare,

At the Autumn Fair to be sold.
